Issue 835

Date: September 8, 2016

Time: 4 pm

I open the Omega Portal this day and begin this session feeling that I am being drawn forward, away from my physical body, forward into a space where I can connect with you and you also may feel you are already being drawn forward to connect with me into this different space. It is a different space in our consciousness, because everything that we visualise means we are already operating at a different level of consciousness and we are able to merge and link together as one, and to travel together, being drawn into that space we recognise as the receiving area of the Station of Light.

Do you come here yourself separately? It is a beginning point to help you move into this receiving area and state of awareness and consciousness. Being receptive to the higher energy flow and the messages which come to you through it, helps you in many ways in your life. Have you noticed that? Have you noticed you have more energy when you come forward into this space and listen to previous messages? It is all part of connecting you into the higher aspect of yourself, which in turns connects into the aspect of Source Creation of you.

In this space in this Station of Light we are received by the Beings who are here to help each one of us, to help the overall pattern of humanity, and perhaps more than just humanity on this Earth station to evolve and to be clear.

We wait here for their presence and their energy and what will be presented today.

“Greetings Beloved. The light is upon you and around you. Orem addressing you. The session has already begun, because you had an awareness that this was the particular day that there would be a new energy flow in the transmission and of course you are ready for it. You are ready to receive another level or perhaps another explanation which will help you on your pathway.

We are able here to come around you with the energy appropriate for you at this time. We do not deliver you into a space that you would not comprehend, or give you information that you would not comprehend and receive. This is a steady uplifting and steady inflow of coded energy frequencies to you which you interpret and absorb in the way that you are able to as you are present here in this state, and we are talking to the many aspects of you - the individual known as you in the current time frame and the many other aspects of you who have come into this space also to receive any necessary adjustment or refinement for you as you function in different realities.

It is necessary for you to be reminded sometimes that what you are achieving and intending to achieve in the current lifetime, you have also participated in, in other realities, because your purpose remains the same underlying purpose for your emergence into manifestation.

If you are not able to clearly define that purpose, you are still maintaining your presence and with the sense and intention of aligning with all that you know, and that is sufficient for you to bring to you the streams of energy that you process and work with and then you radiate out from you in whatever way that would be.

As always in the presentations to you, we bring you into a state to help clear and leave behind, and clear away from you fully any of the attachments that are disturbing you from the reality in which you are exposed. So, we draw you deliberately into another space in this Station to achieve this result.

As you pass into this particular spatial area, some of you will experience feeling that you are being fragmented, that you are being exposed or widened to a different energy field and this will be assisting you to release what is not appropriate that has been caught up in your energy field, and your body of light here is able to clear that from you in the many different levels.

Attachments form during your manifestations into life. Attachments in the form of relationships attached to you and what you hold onto and attachments in the form of miscellaneous instrumentation and physical and psychological energy influences upon you. Many you would not be aware of. In this state these are detected around your energy presence here.

If you are willing to allow all of those to be cleared from you - they will be. If you try to define what those would be, you may in fact hold them around you, so this is an energy space in which you must trust the higher aspect of yourself and thus you do not need to experience or re-live any of those experiences or attachments which are caught up in your energy field.

We observe you here and we observe the lightness, the brightness, in your energy field.

Moving on from this, you may be aware that you are being presented into different areas of creation, of the universe, moving into different spheres which you may recognise as other planets or other stations around planets, even into different areas of this particular Earth station that we have drawn you into.

Even though you are feeling you are moving into different areas, you are still connected with us in this space, for we are upholding you, protecting you and linking you, so you do not lose your link with your current life plan and manifestation. It is just that you are moving into perceiving different realities and you may also be experiencing communication with other aspects of self and other Beings here.

There are many decisions that are made - many choices and changes in the journey of experience. Because you have particularly aligned with your greater purpose through your point of origin, then everything that is being communicated in this pattern will be to do with that purpose and you are refining yourself and you are also presenting yourself in a purposeful way into some of these other areas.

There is reorganisation taking place because of this. Reorganisation also includes clearance and alignment with the overall adjustments which occur in the dimensional geometry throughout Creation. This also is occurring around your particular light energy form present here and in this brief presentation into those areas many adjustments took place, and now you are back here with us, drawn into the central communication chamber in this Station of Light.

There is busyness here in this presentation in this facility here and it increases the energy that you are able to bring to you. Every clearance that takes place in your energy field brings you into more of the advanced concepts and communication between different settlements within Creation, different establishments indeed. This gives you the sense of upliftment and clarity, which indeed is needed around you in your space in the manifestation on Earth.

There are many layers being worked on in layers of consciousness and the layers of consciousness, or dimensions in consciousness, can include different elements. You recognise the elements of air and fire and earth and water as common within all aspects of creation around you and within your own entire energy form and many of those layers are being altered. They are receiving the energy that changes and refines the energy and this is part of the entire upliftment process in the evolution of the planet itself and the Beings upon it. So, many of those layers are being actively changed by groups of Beings whose purpose it is.

You may look upon many of the scientific experiments with interest to see how they may be involved in the upliftment process. You will also know the ones that are being manifested and adjusted that are not in accordance with the principle of evolution. With your presence and alignment with that evolutionary process and your purpose within that, then you will help modify areas. Your presence and your consciousness present will help redefine some of the patterns which have become twisted or diverted from the original intention. You would recognise that choice is used within all of manifestation and you can choose also the appropriate level that you would wish to present yourself as and the areas that you put your attention to. Remember that whatever you put your attention to, you are present in energy and you may need to disengage yourself sometimes from those areas and draw yourself back into balance and order within the original intention and within the blueprint for the human element existence.

You have been very quickly adjusted and presented into different areas in this transmission. Now bring all of this back with you and I am shepherding you back to the receiving area of the Station, for this presentation to you has been sufficient for you at this time. We will meet again and convey the messages to you with the energy

Orem out “

Thank you Orem. This is Lani speaking again and as I turn my attention to you all gathered here, I recognise that this was a very quick experience into many areas and many dimensions that you felt. You are capable of experiencing that, which is why it was presented to you in this way. Bring the sense of joy back with you, and perhaps playfulness as you experience different areas, bringing that back now to your Earth life in this time, quickly sending love and light to all the other aspects of you present in many other dimensions and realities.

Now I am preparing to close the portal on this transmission and I want you to make sure that you bring your attention back into the present - the present day and time - into the surroundings around you. Also try to sense the other existence around you that often we are told about - the crystalline light city. The great field of existence that is like the presence of another civilisation being overlaid across what we have been brought up to see as life today. The areas that I am talking about in this greater existence touch into many areas of the planet, being anchored there and having gateways there, gateways which allow the uplifting energy to come in.

There is always much to think about which comes through in these transmissions and I leave this with you now.

Thank you for being here

Lani
