Issue 842

Date: October 27, 2016

Time: 5.30 pm

I open the Omega Portal and welcome you today, calling you forth to meet with me as we meet in our light energy body and as I say that, I draw you out of time and space connected with the Earth planet, connecting into this area of consciousness, a level of energy, and I gather you with me to move into the receiving area of the Station of Light.

This phase that has just begun which concerns many of you, in regard to the raising of consciousness, has become much more unfolded, or advanced, to us, so we will be eager at this gathering to gather as much information as we can about what is happening and how we are to respond to the energies and perhaps just to receive the help for us.

So, just be aware of your surroundings in this space. Be aware that perhaps the shape of this receiving area changes, perhaps you see the colours changing. It will all be appropriate for what is needed for you, at this time. You may observe different Beings here with you, you may observe friends or loved ones also here with you, but for now lay aside all of your thoughts and make sure your body is comfortable for this short time we are together so you will fully absorb the energy you receive.

“Beloved, I come here with you and greet you, Orem addressing you and we are aligning you in a particular formation in this space so that you will receive the fullness of what is coming in around you through the portals that are opening. These portals connect you into many areas of your unified consciousness as an individual and as the group assembled here.

Already you will be understanding there are many different layers coming to you in this particular transmission. Initially we are helping you to bring your attention into a higher level of receptivity and understanding and even though your light body is capable of adapting to this frequency pattern, it still is needing to receive it in a way that it can transmute it into ways that your physicality and your mental and emotional levels can understand and accept it.

The many layers will be revealing to you the pathways you have taken and some of the opportunities which are around you here and now. Also you will be feeling that there are groups of you, definite segments of you together, and the segments are not defining you, they are just allowing you to interpret the energy for what you need to be doing on the Earth plane at the present time. Specifically, this refers to what you term as your purpose and your presence on Earth at this present time. Of course, the purpose or the functions differ, but the overall intention remains the same. So, here we begin the deeper aspect of this transmission for you.

Come with us again through passageways within this Station. Initially we bring you all together as a large group to observe some changes occurring through the outer area of your known universe. Also, be aware that visually you may be seeing what is presented here, showing you the transit through some of the outer areas of shiploads of Beings coming forward. Some of these are encircling your present planet in existence and the purpose of this is to observe and to act as a layer of energy to buffer some of the increased frequency which is flowing around your planet, flowing around you, flowing through areas of the sun but not just necessarily through your Sun Being. It is an activation of the deeper energy light frequency and this has been described to many of you as the UV spectrum and it is also acting upon some of the deeper energy centres of your body, some of which are in your brain area, the cranium, and some are in your upper chest and some are in the lower areas of your body.

There is always a gentle attunement and adjustment to these energy frequencies which are having an impact upon you each. The purpose is to uplift your energy - to increase your vibration - and then you become much more aware of the crystalline city of light existences and some of the visitations which are happening around your globe to many different people and groups. Be prepared to have the sense of different visitors coming to you just to explain some of the mechanisms of the universe and the presentation of different advanced speciality teams coming to help you and there is always that layer of buffering energy so that what filters through, you can easily manage and absorb into you.

So, the initial activation which occurred many of your years ago through solar gateways is now increased in multi ways and you are experiencing the deeper resonance within you to the vibration.

If this is disturbing you in any way, then you are reminded to allow yourself to rest in the energy frequency but consciously aligning to your origination station. This has the effect of balancing you and harmonising you with the energy frequency and therefore some of the symptoms you have been experiencing will dissipate.

Ongoing from this, and already through what you are shown visually in this communication centre, you will be observing the uprising and manifestation of the light environment cities and places to exist in, not necessarily vast cities, but certainly different areas which will come up in your vision.

If you are drawn in this moment to focus on a particular area, then that is where you are resonating with and you can observe that from time to time.

There is a layering effect and process happening as part of this which brings you into alignment in different aspects of you. Some of those layers will be thought patterns and emotional responses as well as the physical reaction within the body of the cellular functions, the absorption and emissions. A great amount therefore is happening in you and around you, at this time, and the purpose of this message is to bring this to your attention.

You may acknowledge that you are capable of understanding this and accepting the energy. The ongoing effect of this is to promote more movement in you and through you and to improve the level of your energy and activity within the body known as health. So, this is easily accepted by you in this state of consciousness. Remember that when you move back fully into physicality you must review this information with an open mind and open heart and this will allow you to achieve maximum benefit from this that you are receiving. It is presented as an overall presentation to you - concepts - the conceptual understanding and presentation of what is occurring and you will realise from this that it will unfold in pieces and you may have to assemble some of the pieces or thought patterns which will arise in your conscious thought to help you understand and to process what you need to be present to deliver into the area around you or to create in some way. There is a lot for you to comprehend and to realise how far you have expanded into the layers of consciousness to have this presented to you.

You may also be aware that there is a wide access-way open to you through a portal here coming right in before you, where you are present. The energy links you directly to the aspect of the crystalline city area that you have resonated to. What is presented to you in this transmission then becomes much stronger, because you may relate it to a particular location on your planet, or above it, or in it. Also, inherent in this information is the aspect of the Beings working to adjust the movement and the flow throughout the planet of the water and the air in the energy systems and therefore in you, in your light body present here and in the organic living physical form that you know so well. All of this is addressing some of the areas that you have been thinking about and intending to move to in some way, even if that is just another level of consciousness, or to be visibly seeing and experiencing the higher vibration existences. This open portal is also achieving an adjustment to the planet's system, to its positioning in relation to what it is receiving through other areas of creation, other planetary stations and the organisation of creation across many different timelines. These, even in the greater manifested world, can become entangled in such a way that it disallows the ease of transference of energy and information. Therefore, there is some removal and disentangling of some of these situations that have occurred.

You will feel this in your own energy systems. This is how closely you are connected in with the overall matrix of creation, and with that being sorted out and being cleared, we now bring you back into the receiving area of the Station. You may realise you are feeling greater than at the beginning of this transmission - a feeling that you comprehend in your senses - and if you have the tools available to you, you may be able to measure the change in your energy structure, or you could just trust your knowing of change.

I leave this with you here Beloved, for you to integrate it in you

Orem out“

“A simple adjustment occurs in this time here, dear ones, Ulea addressing you, as I come around you to facilitate the increase in your energy field - to validate it, because I observe the change.

I also observe the way that many of you are feeling drawn to become greater than you are and as part of that process, to be clear in every level that you are aware of, and beyond, into other dimensional existences where you are present. Allow this to stretch your mind pattern, then your mind pattern might catch up with your consciousness field.

It is all part of receiving and taking part in the changed frequency around you. And I acknowledge this in you

Ulea out“

Thank you Ulea and Orem, Lani speaking to you again now as I am bringing my attention back into my light body. Sometimes it seems that we lose the sense of the light body as well and we are just present, but we need to acknowledge the embodiment of the energy form and to bring that back into the physicality unit. After all, the physical body form is energy as well. You have now been presented with the opportunity of consciously being aware of some of the locations of the city of light civilisations that you feel drawn to and you may feel they exist within you now, as you embrace that level.

I am getting ready to close the portal as this transmission is complete for the energy and information and you must now become aware of your physical body and your surroundings and the day and the time. Consider this to be a big change, an important change for you from this moment on, so be clear and be happy and enjoy this process and way of raising your vibration expanding your consciousness. Thank you for being here with me.
