Issue 847

Date: December 29, 2016

Time: 2.30 pm

Hello and welcome as I open the Omega Portal for this new message. It has been a while since I opened the portal to bring through the energy and information from this Station of Light, and so now it is that I synchronise myself with the Station and I link with you as your body of light consciousness, as the consciousness of You that exists throughout you, throughout your timeline and of course within the light body. Because we travel into a different dimension in these sessions, I do ask you to identify with a different level of your consciousness. Simply put - your body of light.

Are you ready to begin? Are you ready to come with me into the receiving area of the great Station? We move as a group - a great connected number of Beings present here on Earth and we realise and acknowledge each other and the entire network that we are part of - consciously. Become clearly focused here in this aspect and in this transition space we call the receiving area, and so we begin.

“ We begin, Beloved. Orem addressing you as I come forward. I acknowledge you here present. I acknowledge the level of information that you have been working with. I acknowledge the state of acceptance of some of the information you have taken in and I also acknowledge the aspect of you that has clearly decided to avoid some specific areas of land masses around you and of stories of events that are unfolding.

I also acknowledge the way that you focus clearly and intently into the greater areas of higher frequency and this is what we are enveloping you in, within this transmission, at this time.

Any time you revisit this transmission, you will experience being surrounded in this sphere of energy which is available for you to draw upon to enliven yourself in some way to create a clear space within you and around you and for the impulses which you will be given at the appropriate time when you are invited to remember to be within the sphere of light.

There are many areas around your planet which are being contacted by different frequencies. Some of these frequencies are disturbing you and disturbing the atmosphere within and surrounding the planet, so when we call you forth to be within this sphere of light surrounding you now, you will experience the difference. You will experience the alignment which is a natural process of being within this energy frequency,

You become aligned to a higher frequency that you resonate with. It is a process which occurs naturally in response to your core energy system responding to that frequency that you draw forward around you, but which is also offered to you. It is a little bit complex in its presentation to you, simply because the words you use do not exemplify the totality of what we are giving to you. Again, we envelop you in that overall term of concept.

Experience, and you will recognise through the experience of it, the different levels which we refer to which you are responding to.

Now you are able to move again into a different energy frequency state and you may have experienced moving as we deliver these words to you, presenting you through another portal. This portal is very necessary for you at this time and for the planet Being at this time.

Now that we have you together as a group, and there are many of you here, then the energy coming through to you each is enhanced, is increased and you will be aware that this is moving through the geometric communication pattern around your environment and around the living essence of the Station of the Earth. You are just being the vessel to allow this to happen with the intention of bringing another level of balance and upliftment to all of creation there.

There are many experiences that you can devote your daily focus onto, but do they all include the overall pattern of your presence in a purposeful way? So, the reminder is given to you to be aware of that overall linkage you have and connection into these states of consciousness which allow change. They also allow the exchange of information to occur and again you have been involved in this many times during your sessions with us. The exchange is when you allow yourself to deliver into this space all that you have experienced, all of your thought processes and then in response to that, you receive the appropriate information in energy form to allow you to continue the process, also to refresh you. Refreshment is a term and a state of being that you need at this present time so that you are very clear in your actions and in the processes involved in your thoughts and emotions and very clear in your impressions you receive in the various ways that you are practised within.

Surrounding you in the energy here also, you may experience the shift, you may experience yourself opening to a very deep level.

Sometimes in the humanoid form there are many layers of protection and in this presentation you would feel secure and supported enough to lower those restrictional fields that have been in place within you, which is a conscious mechanism and it also operates sub-consciously through many of the systems which are functional within the human form. In lowering all of those fields of inhibiting levels, you would feel yourself drawn very deeply into the supportive existence in consciousness. The reconnection to this clear space ensures that you receive very clearly all of the energy needed.

In particular, some of what you are receiving you will be experiencing that you are sorting out different lines of information and energy. Some of these may be referred to as timelines, indeed many times that you have experienced in this single presentation of you in this lifetime now. It is simply rearranging some of the patterns to be more suitable for you, so that you allow a greater level of understanding to come through to you and so that you become positioned in the right alignment for you. You may hear different words in what is being presented to you which may relate to many aspects of your life.

Individually you are capable of receiving everything that you need in this moment. Draw upon that in every way and allow yourself to release any of the patterns that have been presented to you that you have accepted, perhaps as inevitable, perhaps just as a process of normal living in the environment where you are - letting them go again now allows you to come back to the fullness of the energy system that you are.

This is sufficient for you in this time.

We draw you back from that state of consciousness, back through different chambers within the Station of Light, different levels indeed where you have manifested yourself with our assistance, and so we continue now to bring you forward into the presentation of the receiving area again.

Momentarily, feel very strongly the sphere of energy you are within as an individual, before that merges with anybody else in this state.

We have presented this to you with joy so that you will experience the shift within you of many aspects that are no longer needed in your timeline.

We celebrate this in you. Therefore, you have become That.

I leave you with this, Beloved

Orem out “

Thank you Orem. This is Lani again.

It is lovely to be refreshed in this energy again - the clearness of it - and individually each one of us here will have experienced it in some different way.

Take this into you now and I going to be bringing you back to connect fully with your physical body, to connect fully into the surroundings around you, but the difference now is that you have brought yourself back within a sphere of energy, Perhaps, as I also have experienced, you need this to filter out away from you some of the disturbances in the atmosphere so that you just breathe in clearness and take in the clear energy presented in this session, into every cell.

Take it into you, into every cell, into all of the fluid within your body, into all of the energy systems.

I thank you for being here and I thank all of the Beings present in this session. My sense was that there were many around us.

Now you can breathe deeply and freely. Again, I thank you for being here and I close this transmission through the Omega Portal
