Issue 858

Date: March 30, 2017

Time: 5.30 pm

It is today that I come forward again to greet you and welcome you into this energy transmission. Light, Energy, Information at this time for you to experience and receive and you receive it better by putting your focus into your body of light. This is an energy system which can and does exist separately from your physical body form - the physical unit as we call it.

Settle your body unit at this time and allow yourself to drift away, to first of all see yourself where you are sitting. When you can do that, you will be aware you are already in your body of light consciousness and you will feel yourself already being drawn forward with me into the receiving area of the Station of Light. It is a process to help you disengage from the physical body and to help you remember that you are not just that physical body, and indeed there is a time and place for you to separate yourself from the physical body and consciously reconnect yourself to your point of Origin and in this particular transmission, as always, it is placing yourself into this receptive space known as the receiving area of the Station of Light. So we begin with this.

You will feel yourself becoming more aware of your light body in this space, that you change shape, you change perspective and position in this space. Some of you will feel this to be a relief, some of you may feel excited, some of you may feel that you are impatient to experience more. It really is up to what you can resonate with, what you can receive, as to what will surround you in this space, in this time.

“Greetings to you, one and all, Beloved, Orem addressing you and I come forward into this space. I come forward as it were through a portal through dimensions crossing into this space with you. Even though we, and those who work with me, exist in this Station of Light, we still cross through a dimensional stage to greet you in this receiving space, just as you have to raise your energy system to be here, we also make adjustments to greet you in this space and then very quickly we are able to allow the resonance that you emit to bring into you the higher level and the structure.

We make you aware of the structure which is around you that you drawn in to be within in this space already. It is structured in the sense that it has a different geometry and the frequency creates the geometric shape and position for you. Arising from this, you will have the perception that you are aware of different planes of being, and the outline and the presentation to you of an elaborate design, you may see it as, or you may simply realise you are in a field of light frequency in which you perceive colours. Others of you are more sensitive to what it is and will recognise it to be the crystalline energy structure. Initially it is here for you to connect into, to immerse yourself within it, and following that, we draw you deeper through an open portal into the crystalline energy light city structure.

You will perceive that we enveloped you in this energy first and then were able to present you directly into this crystalline energy civilisation state of consciousness and you are surrounded by Beings here who are helping facilitate this for you and to help you adjust to the frequency which is around you.

The intensity of this space has changed. You may feel it becomes more intense, a different sensation indeed throughout your beingness. Momentarily experience the energy of this passing directly through your energy system here in your light body state. Liken this to how you would have experienced fluctuations in energy in your origination state in the last known space of existence and manifested existence where you were in a sense establishing a pattern that you knew you could use to present into an evolving planetary being and this is what Earth is. You may sense that there was a time when you would observe it to be devolving. We have passed that state and it is evolving into the presentation and the overlaying energy of the crystalline energy city structure. This will be where you will be experiencing a sense of fulfilling the structure that you created to bring into this Earth Station at present.

There is a great unfolding from this. There is a dimensional shift change arising from this and there are many people involved in this same action at this time. In various methods they have come to the same realisation. Perhaps they have been following similar experiential teachings culminating at this place of intersection of you all and it is in this light energy structure that you come together and you support each other and you support the construction and manifestation of it.

In the previous transmission gathering you were able to allow energy to flow into different spaces to where your attention was drawn and thus you will be observing those areas have changed. It is as quickly effective as that, between transmissions or at the moment where you enact the process of bringing the energy in, change occurs. You will remember that in this state you are not governed by the process of lineal time structure and the energy of matter construction on the Earth and so in this space you are achieving the transition into this elevated state of existence.

We will continue to convey the energy to you in this space during this transmission, so you remember and you retain the sense of what this is and how it will be influencing the energy pathways throughout you. It is during this time of experiencing this that you are able to feel sufficiently energised for you to make changes within your light body presence and within layers of consciousness and within the layers comprising the human unit that you have.

When the process of greatly enlivening your light body structure continues, it is necessary for the change to take place within your physical body structure and this has been assisted in the process of the information and energy being infused into the element of water and therefore into your physical element. The other elements of course all interact with the element of water. Many of the other elements also interact with other elements, but we are focusing in this present phase on the element of water and the infusion of it of the crystalline energy frequency. You are immersed in this as we deliver this to you.

Assessing and moving around you here also the Star Being system of collective consciousness Beings is present and they are focusing in particular on the energy movement throughout your light body structure here and enhancing and expanding the energy centre within your heart space. Adjustments continue to take place in that area and then the flow-on will happen throughout the other layers of your being.

The pattern which is within you is designed and created partly by you and partly by the influence and the sequencing of many of the changes in the dimensional field and those ones who come forward to assist you and in that repatterning, you receive what is necessary now for you. We have gone through phases to help you cleanse and to remove yourself from disturbing influences and to remove from you that which had been attracted into your energy field creating disturbances and limiting you in any way. Here in this positioning, you are free. You are Light. You are of this dimension.

We have this moment when we are merged together as one voice with the Star Beings and Orem and the Command. It is in the Oneness in this field of consciousness.

Also in gathering you into this space, you are separated from the lines of disturbing patterns that you may have been observing around the planet. There are many news reports, and letters and presentations to you which can draw your focus into other matters. In holding you in this central position in this field of light, it increases your focus within this state of consciousness. Then you remember what is appropriate for you to experience.

You will feel yourself withdrawing from this space now and indeed we are assembling you back directly into the receiving area, into this vast space here. You may sense that you understand the necessity for this and you understand the many different patterns that are presented to you in such detail that you feel that is all there is. When we bring you into these spaces, we are surrounding you with altered dimensions, all containing an expansion of one particular area of information. In your higher state of awareness you know this, you know how the process works and you are able to draw upon the specific lines of information which will assist you and which will enable you to provide connections or direction to other people around you. Perhaps it is support and allowing a gentle love to pass to another being.

As you acknowledge yourself as a light being, you must also acknowledge the integrity of that, because it comes from a pure state of consciousness and consciousness is energy and this is surrounding you and working through you now.

We observe the change that this creates in you and we withdraw at this time, Beloved

Orem out“

Thank you Orem, this is Lani speaking and as I sense that Being withdraw, I also sense the surrounding Beings who were with him, they made themselves known as the Star Beings, they also withdraw but also observe you and they will maintain an energy system in the receiving area for you as long as you need it.

There has been strong energy work occur for you in this transmission, because I am sensing alignment in many of you. I am sensing relief, a release of some tension and stress and I sense also around you, a clear space. The clear space is very necessary for many of us on the planet who are surrounded by environmental pollutants in one way or another, so this is another action that occurs when you link in with the transmissions, and that is that you are cleansed and purified and strengthened. Remember this and bring this back into your physical unit now. You will feel the absorption throughout you of the different energy.

The purpose for this transmission is fulfilled and I want you to make sure that you come back to be fully present again in the present moment, as we measure it on Earth, glowing with light, surrounded by clear energy.

It has been a pleasure to bring this to you today.

Thank you

Lani
