Time: 5 pm

Hello again, as I open the Omega Portal and link with you. I link with you with joy in my heart for the continuing flow of energy that comes through to us and for the information that is given to us in this way, information that I am not aware of and information which enables us to adapt to higher energy and receive it in our own way and interpret it and integrate it in our own way, for expansion of consciousness and to help each one of us in our current life pattern. It is with all of this in my awareness that I link with my light body and I link with you in your light body.

Come together as a group, come into the great circle that I link you into and come into the receiving area of the Station of Light. You may perceive the colour in here. Today I am sensing it as blue energy filling this space. Blue energy is coming up frequently recently in the sessions that I do, so it is altering something in our energy field, and it is not even that this is being done to us - it is, instead, that we are drawing this energy in, because as higher evolved Beings we know this is what is required. What we don't know perhaps is why it is required and what it will do.

Therefore, trust is a big issue for all of us as we come into this space in this way. Relax and put your attention into this space, ready to receive, as you acknowledge yourself as a light body Being present here.

“We have brought you into this space at this time, Beloved, Orem addressing you, so that initially we will refresh your pattern of time as it relates to your present journey on Earth. We are also refreshing aspects of your energy field.

You may be aware that you have travelled out of time and space. You have been moving into other areas in the dimensional structure and field and this is defined in your language as a belt that you pass through. Earth itself is travelling through energy systems and dimensions and as it has passed through some portals, you are being affected by the energy of that journey. Therefore, we are making adjustments to help you adapt again to the current time phase and the energy that is relative to that.

The levels of your consciousness involved in the change and the journey are aware of this process. At this time many of you are still working in separate layers of consciousness, so we are helping you in this way to adapt to the energy frequency and to absorb it and allow it to flow through you.

We understand you may be sensing yourself standing in the midst of many flows of energy in a clear space in the greater universe in its pattern and this is the situation for this particular aspect of you to understand. That energy can leave behind a trail, or a presence around you, and so again, we are disengaging any disturbances from your energy field. This is initially as we do this because it will allow you then to be clear, clearly focused and present here with us again in the receiving area of the Station.

This will have helped you to understand what had been accumulated in your energy field and physicality for some time.

The effect of passing through this belt of change also can be used as a filtration layer of energy, if this is what you choose it to be.

There is an aspect in some of you who are making big adjustments to many of the processes of your body and they become out of alignment or out of attunement with your higher energy processes and the Source Energy.

Relaxing into what you are receiving here allows the alignment process again to work for you. Have in your awareness how you would want this to be helping you, emotionally, mentally, physically. Therefore, without individual session times, you are receiving your own personal adjustment at this time. We can do this readily for you.

As each of you goes through the experience of the cleansing and adjustment, you will feel yourself responding to a flow of energy which is drawing you into another space through a portal which is already open and it is already opened through the presence of the Star Elders here with you. “

“We have come forward out of the positioning we have in the outer area of the field surrounding this system that you are presently on Earth within because again, there is a necessity to ensure that you have opened to allow you to be in the cities of light again. The cities of light, although they are expanding and being more firmly established, retain their presence in the same situation. You become out of alignment with that due to different atmospheric disturbances, so here we are placing you back within the city of light structure, within areas within these cities, the sparkling energy of which is often referred to as the crystalline energy and state of consciousness. We are doing this in the present time to help the cellular functions of you, the absolute physical biology state where you respond to the environment around you, inwardly and outwardly and especially we are addressing many of you who consistently are taking in substances desiring them to fulfil a lack and to make a change.

Understand that in the natural environment you have on Earth, there are living energy systems to assist you, so those of you who are aware of this are already working with those systems, when there is still the life energy structure incorporated in what you are taking into you, along with your food intake.

Focus upon this. Focus upon the higher light crystalline energy field within the kingdom that supplies your nutrition, and you will notice the difference.

We now are able to allow you to move deeper into the crystalline energy structure, into an aspect where you are able to reconnect with your point of origin within the overall light structure energy, because of the dimensional existence that each has and at the appropriate time you can draw upon different aspects within the known dimensions to you, to assist you. You may feel the linkage between that space and where you are positioned within the light city environment and in relationship to where you are positioned in the physical unit. It is all one. It is just that your awareness is focussed at present into a specific dimension and this is already aligning you completely with all of those environmental existences you have experienced which are appropriate now for you to change and exist in.

Allow everything that has been distorting you to be dropped away from you - to be discarded - to be released.

Now you are moved again within the sparkling crystalline light city area for you to experience the layers of energy which are coming through and which you are able to freely flow from you into the overall level and presence.

You may be sensing that you are a vast storehouse of energy and information which you are now releasing. Thus it is done and so we draw you back from that space to meet again with Commander Orem.”

” Orem here again Beloved, and I at times need to allow all of this inter-linkage and inter-weaving between dimensions and Beings to flow, for it is fulfilling aspects of you, it is allowing you to feel you are working strongly in a way that is ideal, because you have no distractions, you have no antagonism to you as you work in these dimensions. You have total support.

If you are sensing you need this in your daily activities, then your focus should be on that. Acknowledge that you have total support you do and in everything that you are. This is allowing again a deeper process of acknowledgement to occur within you.

There continues to be within the Council of Light direction, movement in the areas where people have manifested existences not upon the Earth surface, but in different areas on different planets and satellites. The sorting out is taking time. It is all part of the shift in your awareness and consciousness.

Even from this space where I am addressing you, you are able to expand your awareness to the edge of your consciousness field. This links you directly to Creative Source Energy. Important for you to incorporate into your livingness, into the pattern that you work with daily.

These times when we journey together may be times for you to refresh your individuality, where there are no personal attachments or processes that you need to do with others, so you come back to your pure essence and Self.

We bring you back now to the initial receiving area. This is sufficient for you to experience at this time and I leave it with you

Orem out “

Thank you, Orem and the Star Elders.

Lani speaking again and I acknowledge the shift. I acknowledge the energy that has been around us and a different insight into what occurs in the overall city of light.

And just for a moment while we are still in this receiving area, experience the energy structure around you and within you. It seems that you are a universe itself in this time and there is a great pattern to everything. So, bring this pattern - this energy blueprint pattern - back with you to incorporate again into your physicality.

It is a practice to perfect and to use. You may be feeling different aspects within yourself shifting, coming into alignment and releasing some old patterns.

So, now I am asking you to fully integrate all of the higher energy consciousness passed through from Source Energy into you in every way, into every cell, into all the fluid, into all what you might call the densest parts of your body and into your mind and emotions. Perhaps there is a big sorting out occurring. Perhaps it is just gentle strengthening - whatever you need your light body has it and releases it into you.

I am closing the Omega Portal on this transmission now and I ask you to be fully grounded again into your life pattern, enhancing your life pattern now. Thank you.

Lani
