Issue 864

Date: May 11, 2017

Time: 5 pm

Hello everyone, I welcome you again to the Omega Portal and I identify myself in my higher light body and I call you forth to identify yourself as your light body - a Being of Light. So, it is with this intention that I call you forth, to gather with me, and we emerge, we find ourselves within, the receiving area of the Station of Light.

It is like a direct link, you are so used to being in this state of energy, and consciousness, so it means that the introduction can be short, because you are ready to receive and to identify greater dimensions that are around you and to be open to receive information about what is occurring at the moment around you and around the planet and to help you to be clear so that you are fully aligned with your original purpose for being here, and connected to Source Energy.

“We identify you here Beloved. Orem addressing you, and it is indeed an aspect of you that has become more powerful in recent transmissions and phases. You will be experiencing greater strength of yourself and you may also be experiencing the difference there is between how you are reacting to events and the environment around you physically and this inner essential energy positioning and existence you have in this station.

As you are identified here in your light body, you may also be experiencing the merging of different evolved aspects of self present here. It is regathering together aspects of you for the purpose of bringing in greater light and energy and information into the planet through your present physical unit. For this to happen, at this time, you are observed and the information which may be disturbing you – information being matter or energy systems that have informed you in certain ways – all of this can be checked over, analysed, assessed for its appropriateness to be with you at this time, and resolved and discarded.

This is a process that you are used to becoming involved in. You have worked in this way in this same process individually as you stationed yourself in different areas and different civilisations. All we are doing is reminding you of this action and for you to consistently do this on a daily basis of merging into the higher aspect of self so that you are cleansed and you are aligned to a higher frequency.

Because you may have been finding this difficult at times, we bring you into this practice in one way, or different methods during the transmissions. We do this initially for you in this transmission.

Come, as we proceed further within the Station.

Everywhere throughout this level that you are moving through are stations where Beings are working and you may be passing by screens which are working with different energy systems.

Some of the screens are identifying movements around the general patterns of the planets moving within the known energy field of Earth planet and there are other levels that are altering the positioning of some of the portals between dimensions and planets. There is an overview of a great working plan in practice. It is not a plan that is fixed, because it is changeable as consciousness changes and then there are identified different pathways or routes or portals appropriate for what is happening at the time.

If you were to imagine yourself in the central position of a wheel, or a sphere, and you could observe every line that went out from you, you would understand better what we are presenting to you with different portals opening at different time frames. Some of the portals are connecting you into other realities where individually you have existed as a Being of light and this position you have on Earth planet is just one such connecting nexus, where it connects different flows of lines and timelines. We are indicating this to you because at this point we want you to feel that you are stationed wholly in one position. You may be drawing upon energy for assistance from other realities and you in turn, from a very strong base position, may be sharing information to other aspects of you.

We are also presenting to you at this time an adjustment so that you may be more clearly seeing what is occurring around you and for you to observe the energy pulses and the different adjustments occurring as the result of the connections made through other dimensions. When you are clearly focussed and attuned with Source Energy and therefore your point of origin, it becomes very clear to you actions that you can put into practice in some way. You could be writing, you could be doing pictorial representations of what you know and see, you could be weaving it into music, and because of the pure connection, you will find that you are drawn forward into a stronger position.

Every movement or expansion of your consciousness field indicates that you have evolved and you have expanded into another level and this may be difficult for some of you to recognise and to adapt to in relation to your present circumstances. When you expand into this different field of energy, you are given the opportunity to incorporate the higher flow of pattern everywhere in your life. If that necessitated making a change, then you will naturally do that. It may be strengthening your position in your experiential existence and maintaining that position, but strengthened and more certain of your placement there.

Moving into a different aspect now, you will be aware that you are presenting yourself to another Being here alongside me and as you come forward to us, you are receiving a pattern particular for you. This pattern identifies you and that will come more important in your realisation as you unfold and expand and become used to being present here in the Station. At any time if you were present in the Station and it was necessary for you to assist anywhere, you would find yourself immediately in some different locality. In terms of your human viewpoint this may be a momentary vision or a momentary lapse in concentration and at such time you will have been presenting some energy or assistance in a different aspect of creation.

Even as we speak to you here, and you are out of time and space and physicality here, you may be aware that you have visited somewhere else and you have gathered information or some matter and you bring that back to us for it to be assessed and analysed. You have done this, many of you, in different life experiences and you continue to do that, if that is your purpose. It carries on, alongside whatever you may be doing in your current physical unit – there is this other action that you are doing. In your early part of your life and up to recent phases, it was not necessary for you to be aware of this, now it will be helping you to understand what is occurring. It is a natural part of existence throughout creation.

There were many activities around this during this part of the presentation, and so we bring you back into a level within this Station where you are surrounded in light which is giving you a restorative process for you. When you focus into this state, you are fully able to receive the restorative patterns. Your light body understands what is needed for the physicality and draws that in, in this process. Again this is an aspect of existence you are familiar with. You have done this. You have examined different places and times and you have learned how to use the energy to assist the cellular functions and the energetic framework of the physical unit. You did not come into the current physical aspect of life without support. Every time you come into this space and are willing to proceed, you are being enlivened and you are being activated to a greater degree to participate in what has already been presented to you and what will unfold. All of this helps you maintain the integrity of the energy field around you and the planet and assists in the process of adjusting the frequency to merge into the cities of light.

Some of this you are experiencing you may identify as training and remembering how to use the energy. Again, there are Beings with you observing you and making notes of how you respond and act and they are also seeing where you have come from on the land. The intention is to cleanse you and help you maintain your presence, because you have been receiving the energy that directs you, that prepares you, that trains you to participate in this overall commission that you have here on the planet.

Moving you back now to the receiving area of the Station, it is time to gather all of this into your energy system – you as the Light Being, and I leave this with you at this point

Orem out “

Lani speaking again. This has been a deep experiential journey. I experience it as well as allowing the words to come through me to you and so I am right with you in the experience and the journey - conscious of it all. Conscious of more occurring beyond the words, around the words, between the words.

Now I want you to be aware that you are withdrawing from the receiving area of the Station and you become conscious again of your physical unit. Love it. Embrace it. Fill it with the energy and bring the energy into everywhere that you feel you need it, anything out of order you might feel can receive this energy and your Light Body is infusing your physical mind emotions and body.

I am closing the Portal on this transmission now and I ask you to be fully grounded, fully aware of your surroundings and the time and day and feeling that you have changed, you have improved - and that would be interesting and wonderful to experience.

Take it all into you.

Thank you
Lani
