Issue 868

Date: June 8, 2017

Time: 4.30 pm

I open the Omega Portal to greet you and I open my heart and my mind and my consciousness to link with you on that level - on a higher expanded level, where the things of the world do not interfere or get in the way, or even come into conversation, because in the higher levels of consciousness what we do on Earth is not particularly relevant unless it helps us evolve to higher levels of consciousness. So, let's do this together, as our journey together expanding consciousness. Every time you do this, you will know that you change. You can expand dimensionally. You can expand into whatever you choose to expand into, if it is in line with your higher purpose of Source Energy and your Point of Origin. I can't separate any of those aspects. I cannot separate your light body from your higher self or from Source Energy. At this point I am just acknowledging all of that as you.

Come with me now and we will progress into the awareness of being present in the receiving area of the Station of Light. Even the presence of the Station of Light indicates that you have expanded your awareness into that state of consciousness that exists here and can perceive and receive the information or the energy and the frequency of the patterns here.

You are thus prepared to be fully receptive of what is coming in around you in this space.

This space is, of course, what we call protected - a field of protection simply because of its energy and it only allows the energy that is appropriate in this space to be present. Therefore, you may find that you are releasing energy that you may have picked up in your daily life and organisation so that you are free and clear and resonating with the higher frequency here in this space.

"Thank you. Orem addressing you here everyone of you, identifying you individually, identifying the groups that some of you have come with and identifying some of the people you have brought in with you, simply because they are engaged in your energy field in some way. Therefore, all of those are receiving the energy at this time that you are receiving. Some of people may be people you have conflict with at the moment. Some of them may be people you completely love and trust and some of them may be people you are aware of who need some support in some way. Therefore, in the level in which you engage in this state of consciousness, you are helping all who are around you.

We understand you sometimes needs clarification and information about being brought into these states of consciousness and how it affects others and it is to do with your own energy field as part of your Beingness and that has an intricate shape because the energy field around you is a grid, a geometric grid, and as that vibrates, it attracts other people to it and some of those people are drawing upon your energy and others are wanting to just be with you for whatever reason, because they feel better when they are around you, and even the ones who are in some form of conflict or opposing energy to you, there is still the attraction to the energy because on a deeper level, the higher self understands what is needed to clear or resolve and assist. All of this is taking place here in this receiving energy for you.

Now, we would ask you to move forward as an individual, realising that those other attachments can remain and receive what they need to receive, while you continue in this part of your inner journey to experience and understand more.

You may feel that you have been allocated a certain timeframe in your life to evolve, or perhaps to fulfil certain aspects of your life. Well, this may be true when you measure it in terms of how time is measured on the planet and in that measurement that you refer to, time or calendar. In this state, none of that is affecting you, so if you are wanting to accomplish something, feel that it is being done now in this state of consciousness and your light body consciousness here is doing it, is receiving it, is resolving it, is activating and acting upon the impulses received. Therefore, many of you will be feeling that you are moving forward rapidly and you are doing an intricate amount of interaction and perhaps some complex activities required to fulfil what you are trying to do in the Earth plane. Then you will receive a satisfactory result as you return to the body and carry out any actions which may be needed physically, which you have already done in this dimension.

There is upon you a number of shifts and alterations in position in the complexity of the dimensional field here and the connections between many other dimensions and Beings and bodies of authority here and all of this is being integrated around you and in effect, it is creating a story, an unfolding story that you journey through. Every aspect of you in a different dimension here is enacting that story, in a different way, for each aspect, each level. The underlying energy system of it remains the same and you are going through experiencing different levels and changes relating to that base story or purpose which is driving you to evolve, to expand your consciousness on Earth.

Also, we are aware of some of the ongoing difficulties experienced in the physicality or aspects of it emotionally, because of the alteration in the frequency and the patterns changing.

The changes are like a gearing system, where on one level a certain action takes place and that then connects with a different action and together there is an enveloping of a greater field of connectivity around all of the actions and the Beings involved in those actions or realisations, for the realisations are also a powerful mechanism of change, so you are promoting change by willingly allowing yourself to receive the incoming flows of energy and by allowing yourself to be above the conditions which other people are reacting to as some form of stressful reaction or response. By disengaging you from the emotional response, then you are able to be a steadying and a powerful presence to uplift what is going on around you. The upliftment may also include some of those levels we often referred to in previous messages as energy organisms that are affecting you and have been, as long as you have existed on the Earth plane, because of the introduction of some of the energy systems. This was not foreseen, but these have created sub levels and these are what we refer to that affect your health in terms of pathogens and changing energy structures. [Viruses?]

Here, as we are communicating with you, more of these are visible in your energy body here and are being drawn away from you, leaving you clean and clear and refreshed, without the disturbance of these invasional energy systems. If you continue to experience such in the physicality, continually draw in the energy to flush them out of you, drawing them away from you completely in your energy structure and you can do this in the way of impressing clean water with the energy signature that is around you here and now. That will act in a way of drawing those energy systems out of you through the normal processes. The energy you are given here attracts those level of energy systems which then are disconnected from anything within you and drawn away.

Now, moving on past this, we are moving you through a complex structure of energy, so if you are sensing this as a framework in some form, then you are correct, because that is how it is being presented to you. This is a field of energy surrounding your level of consciousness and we are assisting you to move through this and beyond this. Again, that level is impeding your progress and it has remained around the level of consciousness field around the planet until such time as it is recognised individually as some limiting layer or interference and you are now ready to realise that and to move through it, because your presence here is powerful enough that those constructs cannot affect you.

Now you will feel you are amongst us in a grand central communication area - different to where we have drawn you into previously. This is on a different vibrational level and not able to be accessed until a level of clearance has taken place and a level of strength of your own source energy.

There is a continual flow of Beings into this aspect of the Station, reporting, receiving information, departing again for different dimensions - coming back again, reporting, receiving, departing. It is an ongoing cycle and it does have an affect upon you here. You may be experiencing the movement. It is not time for you yet to be drawn away as these ones are that you are sensing. It is right for you to be observing here and making notes of what you are seeing and experiencing. There is a lot of activity here.

Again, this is showing you that this part of the Station is very active in allowing the interchange of energy and has taken over the role that Earth was intended to be as a Station for Beings to come into and progress further throughout different planetary systems. We are permitted to allow this because of our observation and presence and participating in the overall evolution of this planet. We are indeed connected with many other sister planets to this one, because you are stationed on planet Earth we refer to it as this for Earth station.

Glimpses have been noted of us and our presence and it has been made out to be more than it is, simply because of the complex nature of the human element as it is at present wanting to experience drama and pressure, thinking that it is the way to evolve and that to evolve you need to be under pressure. We would have you understand that you can evolve by conscious intention - smoothly and easily.

We have given you a lot of information so we withdraw you from this state of consciousness back through the layers that allowed you to be here, back to the receiving area and if you observe the beings who came with you into this receiving area, then you may also observe there is a sense of joyfulness and resolution in some and you will feel fulfilled and energised, and this has been our intention for this transmission, Beloved

Orem out “

Lani speaking here - I am very grateful, Orem, for this amazing energy information today.

Now I turn my attention to you, Earth people, and I want you to draw all of the energy and information you have received during this session, draw it into you and now come back to your physical body. You have addressed many things that have been occurring for you and around you. You have cleared many things. Acknowledge that and realise that and so now become aware that you are fully reconnecting into the layers of the physicality that make up you in this present life phase and be aware of the location where you listen to this and the day and the time. I thank you for being here and I thank all the Beings and levels of consciousness involved in this session and so it is that the transmission is complete for today through the Omega Portal.
