Date: June 29, 2017

Time: 6.00 pm

Hello again. This is Lani welcoming you again to the Omega Communications and through this portal that has been established since 1988 when the Light Beings first came to me and told me to record the messages. So, here we are again, connecting together for the purpose of evolving each one of us, for the purpose of the planetary purpose and just to become more involved with and more aware of your higher self and you as an instrument for the higher energy to come into Earth.

As a necessity, I always ask you to settle your body comfortably and to allow your awareness to be within your body of light. Even whilst you are reading this, you can separate yourself, feel yourself rise above your body and perhaps observe it and then let go of all of that and come with all of us Beings of light who are moving to assemble in the receiving area of the Station of Light. It does feel sometimes that gigantic steps are taken, huge realisations happen and big energy shifts you experience and at other times you may feel nothing has changed - you are still doing everything the same. It depends on what level you are judging it on. Perhaps you are judging it purely on the physical, material world and actions and relationships you have with people, whereas you are constantly changing as you align with your higher self consciousness and all of that which is connected into that higher self consciousness and that comes back through you as the instrument of that higher energy in the pattern around you on Earth. Perhaps this transmission will give you more insight of what you are doing, and I am aware that Orem has drawn around us, and I step back and allow the different energy and information to come through to you.

“We acknowledge you here Beloved. Orem addressing you. It is indeed an interesting pattern that you are recognising in you and around you. Have you been called on to do something different, or extra, or beyond that which you thought you were capable of doing? Remember of course that the higher energy will support you in everything you do when you call upon it and perhaps you can call upon it for explanation as to what is occurring and why you are involved in certain aspects of creation and higher levels of creation.

Whilst you are assembled with us here, we always assess the level of your attention and the level of your energy field you have brought with you and accordingly we can draw you into different fields of existence and experience. Through this connection in this space, we are drawing many of you into a different level of awareness, so open your perception to identify the shift. You will identify a different energy and that energy may be represented to you as a colour, or denseness - a change that you will perceive in the energy field around you.

There is much unfolding in the dimensions that you are aware of already and beyond those dimensions, which will be recognised as you are able to receive the incoming flows of energy to facilitate your participation in those other dimensional fields. Layers exist and each layer has around it a level.

You might feel it is as if you would enter a different sphere and the sphere has an outer layer around it and as you evolve, you must recognise that layer for what it is and proceed through it.

What we present to you in this part of the transmission is the information that some of that layer relates to your concepts and to the idealistic concepts that you hold onto which materialise in a different way for you and they may represent layers you have to move through. They may represent something quite solid to you.

As you realise that everything in existence is energy and holding that energy together is the informational field that you can respond to, then this allows you to move through many of those outer layers of the sphere, and the sphere that we refer to is a different dimension. It is only when you are responding to the energy within the sphere that you are able to approach it and to feel yourself respond to what you are being drawn to and that changes your concepts because you need to be open to identify the different levels.

Pause for a moment to absorb what is presented around you as an energy sphere.

In earlier transmissions we referred to this as the edge of your consciousness field and there you are exposed to other dimensions.

In accordance with your resonating field, there will be openings appear for you. The openings may appear as new realisations and ideas occurring within your mind or visions. This is how easy it is to evolve and to experience different spheres of existence. You allow yourself to progress and experience those.

Having come to this point, indicates that you also have realised many of the confining ideas, thoughts, concepts, that you have held to. Again, we are perceiving you in your energy form here and identifying areas which are calling, or indicating to us, to release some of the pressures, to undo some of the entanglements which may arise from connections to other people and places and experiences you have had. Individually. You will be experiencing your own understanding of what that is and all of that which you are releasing to allow you to move into greater harmony with many of the groups here working in a greater construction of the energy matrix around planet Earth station. For you to be working with that also, the energy matrix around you, even in your light body present here is being modified - cleared. You will notice the difference when you progress back into your physicality at the conclusion of this transmission.

You will be aware during this of a change happening around you and there are Beings helping you with this. These ones of course, understand what you are experiencing and it is the intention, always, within the Station to assist your return to reconnect with the higher state of your evolution, the higher aspect of self, so that then a greater opening occurs and you have access to the higher energy spheres.

More energy is needed. More individuals such as you are needed to allow this to happen and to enter within the group of Beings here in the Station, and beyond the Station, who are involved in the intention of clearing and adjusting all of the energy matrix around the planet. This is progressing the upliftment and transition of the planet into another sphere of reality.

The sense this will be giving you is one of being drawn forward and entering into a state where you feel you have come up onto a platform. Here is where you are receiving informational energy and this energy is encoding you and in another sense, is instructing you, in the proper care of everything you are involved in and to remind you that you do not function or operate in an isolated way, because you are part of a collective consciousness field, individualised for certain purposes, but your core energy is collective in its presence, simply because you resonate with a great number of individuals coming forward in the same intentional purpose.

You may find that this is stripping away some old layers of you to allow you to comprehend the fulness of what is present here, in accordance with what you are capable of absorbing.

In these states in this Station, there are many different layers that are presented to you. When you continue to align yourself to that higher aspect of your individuated energy form, then you are progressing your connection into the deeper states. The result of each transmission will be giving you a sense of being clear, but if you cannot interpret this into definition, you must then allow the process to occur and to trust all that you are experiencing.

We have presented different elements to you, different energy structures to you in this transmission and we would now draw you back together in the group gathering into the receiving area of the Station.

I withdraw here, Beloved

Orem out “

“This is Ulea with you now and I experience the joy that this vessel experiences as my presence was felt and I come forward here again serving the purpose of reminding you that every time you experience the depth of these energy presentations, you become more aware of your existence in these other dimensions, well beyond Earth, and you realise that everything you have achieved on Earth - all the physical manifestations and all of the higher energy manifestations - are all in accordance with what you resonate with and what you construct and create with your intention, with your words, thoughts and actions.

You have been shown another level of that in this transmission, encouraging you to go beyond everything that you thought you had sorted out and that you could achieve. In this sense, there is another gateway open for you.

Now, I am instructed to bring you back, to take you back to connect with your physical unit. Keep it well maintained with the energy that you acknowledge is part of you and draw it in to keep everything refreshed in you.

We will communicate at other transmissions

Ulea out “

Thank you Ulea. This is Lani thanking you and thanking Orem and for everything we have experienced in this session. My impression was that there were like connecting rods going out to a whole different number of spheres and experiencing the clearing of the energy matrix individually and around the planet was very interesting. It was another layer being cleared and drawn away. There is much clutter accumulated by us in our daily life and just by entering the life pattern and so we continue to declutter, leaving the energy field clear - even the thoughts clear and the senses very clear and strong.

Become aware now that the energy in the transmission is complete and so I close the Omega Portal at this time. Do make sure that you come back fully connected into your body, into your locality, into the day and time, enjoying clarity in you and around you, noticing the changes that are happening.

Thank you

Lani
