Date: July 13, 2017

Time: 5.45 pm

Hello and I open the Omega Communications Portal again to link with you, and I link with you first of all by going within my own heart energy centre. In that space, I go deeper within and can identify with my light body essence and higher self and this is how I would ask you to begin this journey with me today - going within your heart centre, withdrawing from the world around you, putting aside your body, everything you have been experiencing and allowing yourself to identify with that quality of the higher light body construction of all that you are - probably more than what I am speaking about of course. It may mean a lot to you when I say identify with your body of light. In whatever way that you do identify with it, allow it to disengage from your physical world, your physical body and journey with me into the receiving area of the Station of Light.

Feel that you are actually here. You are present here with all your awareness and attention and then you will perceive the shifts in the energy around you. The energy will shift as different Beings come into this space also and as you identify with what is here in this space. You may be aware of different areas that are likened to gateways or portals that are just waiting until the appropriate energy of you is ready to move through those open portals.

Evolution is dependent on what you allow to happen, what you are willing to accept and understand and put aside previous judgements and attitudes. You could always just be here and observe and in observation you also draw around you patterns of upliftment, patterns that will ease and clear things around you, just as the action has been presented many times to you and to all of us in this space. Therefore, just as you are willing to allow higher dimensional Beings to come around you, then this is what will happen.

"I greet you here Beloved, Orem coming through and addressing you and observing you all. There is a definite shift in your energy levels. There is indeed observed many parts of you that have been drawn into one single aspect of creation. This is what was presented to you in the previous transmission. This is important for you to retain a unique combination of phases of your trips, or immersion into different life planets and systems and experiences and as a result of that, you are more able to progress.

Many of what you have experienced and taken into you, strengthens your energy structure and it also strengthens your systems of realisation and the functions of different levels of consciousness. Indeed, there are levels of consciousness which function in different ways, because in the functioning they respond to different frequencies which come around you and which convey energy and information in patterns and it is the patterns that you resonate with. In your lifestyle you may be aware already that there are certain patterns and colours that you respond to. This is a similar activity occurring with the levels of energy here that you resonate with.

Coming over you as we deliver this to you are layers of energy and some of you may perceive this as if they are very fine membranes, the membranes being living light energy systems. The purpose of these is to enliven you and also to support you as you move into higher systems of civilisation.

Already you will be aware of such a layer around you and it may be giving you the sense of something quite sacred and a different powerful presence and essence from what you normally receive here.

This is allowing you to move deeper in the energy constructs that are presently around you in the cities of light. Identify in this space with that energy pattern. You will feel movement around you, a shift in the energy spheres and layers around you that represent emotional layers and mental layers. They represent layers that can be now either incorporated in your energy systems because they respond to the frequency in the cities of light, or also there are many again which you feel are not necessary in this existence. When you realise some of those patterns which are not necessary, you are drawn forward. You are released from those patterns, which allows you to experience being drawn forward. The process of this engages a pattern within your energy systems here which corresponds directly to some of the energy organs in your present human physicality. Particularly you will be aware of a sensation at the back of your head at the base of your skull. You will be aware of a sensation in the middle upper part of your chest. You may also be aware of a sensation in the lower area of your physical spine.

Feeling the sensations and accepting the energy then changes the structure of your energy form as it is presented in the physical world. It may not reveal itself in the anatomy of you as a structural change, but it is held in the energy system around you clearly defining you as a Being who can absorb and integrate and respond to the energy of the cities of light.

Now you may feel you are responding to this because it is another level of realisation you have been waiting for, searching for.

We have participated in this session with you for you to experience the engagement of all of those layers of you.

In particular, parts of your planetary system, different land masses perhaps to where you as an individual are placed, be aware that some individuals are receiving this same energy and it is changing a thought pattern. It allows them to relinquish the dogmatic training and influence upon them. These individuals have already decided that the pathway they have been on is not suiting them, is not suitable for what they would wish to exist in and these are the ones who are responding to this energy field and will be drawn into states such as this which you are experiencing and will adapt to and respond to the higher energy essence of Creation. You see there are many who come forward with a particular purpose to assist the evolution in a way of evolving without destruction but due to circumstances they were entrained with different thought patterns. These ones are observed. They are ready and willing to change and are being drawn into change. Therefore, you will understand that not everyone is set in a particular fabricated universe that has been constructed around them which differs from the original purpose.

Now we are speaking to you on these matters and you will have your own realisation and interpretation, because it does affect many aspects of life that you are aware of already.

Coming back to your present existence now in this higher field of frequency, you are passing information back and forth with groups of people. You are receiving, you are in a transition state and you are acting as an intermediary with receiving information and passing it on to others. This is a particular aspect of being present in the layer of creation we have drawn you into and it does serve the purpose - you are serving a purpose with this - so the activity continues and you will come with us in this moment observing how different aspects of an overall plan are being worked out and these are presented visually in spheres around you. You are used to seeing visions projected onto screens. This is more multi-dimensional than that and we are getting you used to experiencing this and being able to interpret what you see, because there are depths within the patterns and it is through your intuitive process and what you resonate with where you will perceive the intersection lines, the growth patterns and the influences coming into different spheres of existence. Just observe in this present moment. There is no need to participate. We are having you experience this so that you will adjust to the level of perception needed in this activity space.

Now we bring you back from that city of light state, stabilising you for a moment in the central communication chamber within the Station. This is central as we say, it is deep within the Station, it has energy frequencies here which also allow you to experience the release of all manifestation for a moment, where you exist, held supported in a consciousness field of energy - we just call it energy. This builds you up in energy. This also clears away more patterns or blockages. It helps you absorb what you have been seeing. It helps the adjustment within the areas of your awareness and therefore in the areas of the receiving circuitry within your physicality and at the appropriate time you are drawn back into the receiving area of the Station

We wait as we call you back individually and again you will feel yourself in this area still within the immersion of a film, a layer around you and also this becomes assimilated into your energy structure in your light body here, as if it dissolves until it may be called upon again to be used.

You have participated in action in this session, so as I withdraw, I call upon others to help you be stabilised.

Orem out“

“There are many around you here who come forward and we identify ourselves as a collective group within this commissioned grouping of Beings. You have been recognising us as Light Beings or Star Elders. It is just a phrase to help you identify our presence and we are able to move the energy pattern into your core energy. It is a momentary link and participation we have here - and that is done.”

Thank you. Lani speaking again now and I want you to be aware of that inner strength within your light body here and the inner strength of that flows out all around you into the energy matrix around you. As you experience that, I want you to come back to your physical body and surround your physical body in that energy matrix. I am experiencing this as I am telling you about it to assist you, so within your physical body now become aware of your central core energy. Perhaps you see it as a colour, golden white light? or something else to you? filled with sparkles? Be aware that the energy matrix around you is so powerful that it encompasses your physical body. This means there is adjustment occurring on a cellular level within all of your organs. It is strengthening you as a physical Being and yet it is energising you. It is strengthening the energy pattern of you and then you may feel that suddenly you have the sensation that you are unfolding, as if you have been curled up or curled over and you suddenly sit up or stand up very tall. That is the effect of the energy resonating throughout you and you resonating with higher dimensional constructs.

I trust you have found this session to be as interesting as I have in delivering it to you, but now because the energy in the transmission is complete at this time, I close the portal and ask you to be fully aware of your surroundings, fully aware of the energy of your body and the day and time.

I thank all of those Beings involved in this session and I thank you for being here also.

Lani
