Issue 877

Date: August 10, 2017

Time: 6.15 pm

This Omega Communications Portal is open and I take a moment to identify myself in my light body and I ask you to do the same, to identify yourself as a Being of light - of consciousness - and as such you can choose to tune out the noises that might be surrounding you at present and tune in to your inner self, into this great level of consciousness.

As you do that, you will be aware that you are being gathered together with other Beings with the same intention, to travel with me into the Station of Light and to receive more energy and information which might be appropriate personally to you and it might be appropriate for what is happening around our planet today. It might be appropriate to receive information to do with other matters and other levels of existence. We just gather together in this state, in a receptive state in this transition area labelled as the receiving area within the Station of Light. Give yourself this time that we are journeying together to have no interruptions and enjoy the way that feels to be uplifted into this group network - a great group gathering together - and I acknowledge you here individually with me.

“Immediately you have risen, you have raised your vibration and we come forward and greet you dear ones at this time. Orem addressing you and I move amongst you with the Beings also present in the Station who wish to communicate with you and who wish to assist you and it is our intention as being part of this greater network within the Station, within this aspect of creation, to assist you. We know that as we assist you to be clear and more conscious, this in turn is assisting the vibration upon the Earth planet and so the Earth planet will resonate with higher dimensions of higher energy frequency. That cannot happen until there is the shift in consciousness, which is a shift in energy, as a great collective around the Earth planet, around many people. Therefore, you will understand why there is the emphasis with each gathering together to help you adjust to higher energy frequencies, to help you clear the resistance and the interference that might be visible in your energy field and in your physicality.

Again, this is not to be judging you. It is an allowance that we embrace you with and as we embrace you, we identify the discordant patterns around you and it is our intention to help shift those for you, in the most appropriate way. The most appropriate way identifies the limits that you are prepared to go to and it also identifies the smoothest ways to facilitate the clearing and cleansing.

We surround you in this supportive energy network and spheres of energy around you to facilitate this clearance. Be aware therefore that you may have been drawn forward into an individual sphere of light. Some of you might see it as a geometric design, which of course incorporates a sphere, but it also incorporates many of the geometry patterns in dimensions which include, or are included within the sphere. It is personal to you, how you observe the introduction to you and the change in pattern and what this will mean for you.

There is always the identification process needed and this is the element of your consciousness which observes and which interprets the energy systems around you, and when you identify such systems and you interpret it in a way that is easy for you to understand, then you feel that it is easy for you to progress and to change the appearance of what is around you. The appearance could well include attitude, thought patterns, relationships in different ways that you are active in your life pattern.

Already, there are those of you present who are feeling a shift in your life pattern in different stages and phases. That is necessary for us to help you recognise this, as the energy works to assist you.

Now we identify you more as the Being of light that you often are presented as in this Station and not just in these individual journeys. We recognise the state of consciousness which can be interpreted as a body of light that you are beneath everything that you hold around you as a human personality and being, so when we are able to draw you into the depth of your core energy self, you feel relieved, you feel supported, you feel uplifted, and now, having realised this, we are shifting you into the portal which allows you to move again into the realisation of the city of light structure around you and the planet.

This is a continuation of this energy structure being strengthened and there are more Beings identifying this structural energy system as being present in their thought pattern and sometimes being visible around them. There are places which would be close to every one of you, when you sense those places, which are dimensional junctions or intersections and when you identify those, you are able to also visibly see some of these energy structures around you. There are times when the shifts in dimensions happen when you can pass into those higher existences, sometimes for just a short moment of time, as you move out of time into that energy structure, and that is sufficient for you to absorb the sensations which you recognise in that different state of existence. There is activity and every time you pass into those structures, you are actively engaged in some productive way that is appropriate for you as an individual being.

We necessarily speak in a wide framework, because you all have identities and you all have individual ways of working within the overall plan and the existence of it all in that station.

You may be experiencing the sense that there is a limit to that crystalline city energy structure and this is correct because it depends on the evolvment of your consciousness and energy field and that defines a certain limit. It expands and moves as you expand and allow the higher purpose of your individualisation to come through into you. Perhaps in this moment you might be saying - "I am here, I am present." Indeed, you are present within that existence and you are recognised by the energy in that plane of being. Sense it. Feel it. It is a reality.

Also, you will now feel that you are withdrawing from that state, from that energy level, back within the Station here. There has been adjustment within this Station of Light and so you may be sensing that it has moved. You are being drawn up with it into an altered frequency. All around you on the planet there are different frequencies that have been measured and labelled. What is happening here is that the energy shift is aligning you in your light body and the higher aspects of your consciousness into this pattern and when you return to integrate it into your body, your body will be adjusting to a different time and to the different energy. It has an overall effect throughout your body form and so your body form needs to be prepared for that energy. Part of that is also enabled through the clearance which we assist you with each time you are presented here into the Station and each time you consciously connect with us, as an individual at different times. There is a space and an energy space within the Station for you.

Within this Station here also we are sending forth energy pulses throughout the atmosphere around the planet and throughout the energy grid, as it is also receiving the flows of energy which have been described previously.

It is intended to support the areas that are undergoing changes and movement and cleansing, to support the Beings involved in all of that. Keep yourself clear and fresh and attune always into this higher level and state to ensure that you can bring in a pattern that is helping the entire space around you and yourself. Throughout all disturbance there is the inner core essence of balance and connection to Creative Source energy to assist stabilisation. During these moments in this session, some stabilisation influence has gone out through your consciousness field around the planet. Some of you are busily engaged in channelling energy to different areas and different people as you hold your connection to the Source Energy field. This enables a clear, pure, flow of energy. We observe that you are feeling that you are in this flow of energy - and you are - it is confirmed to you.

These intervals that we draw you into the Station together may be brief in your measurement of time, but each time the energy field increases, intensifies, because you are able to receive a higher frequency and all that you resonate with, as you raise your vibration, draws you into the next phase, the next layer and depth. Before great shifts occur there has to be a great number of people resonating to a higher field of manifestation of Creation.

Now Beloved, I am bringing you back to the receiving area of the Station. Draw in the energy field deep within your core essence. This strengthens and stabilises you here, and thus I will withdraw from this transmission.

Orem out "

Lani speaking again here. Thank you, Orem, for this experience and support. I feel it deeply in me. I felt the energy when you withdrew and now everybody - feel that you are balanced again.

It was powerful energy. You may have lost sense of time and you may have not heard all the words, you may have received greater visions. It is all part of the existence and awareness of existing in a different dimensional state.

Now you Beings of light, begin your reconnection to your physical form and life. Feel the lightness that you are and feel that you just merge completely again with the physicality and it happens just as quickly as that when you choose to fully reconnect and bringing in that energy that you were immersed in, right into you, into all aspects of you and all aspects of your life.

We will continue our journeys together. I close the Omega Portal as this energy transmission is complete and I trust that you feel the difference in you and you will maintain the higher energy.

Thank you
Lani
