Issue 882

Date: September 14, 2017

Time: 4.30 pm

Welcome to another session with the transmission of energy and information through this Omega Portal. Today it is time for the weekly transmission. Are you ready to settle your body, open your mind, and connect into your beautiful body of light - the energy body of consciousness that makes it so easy to separate from the physical body unit and the life and the environment, leaving all concerns and thoughts behind in that bodily world and moving into the area of light and energy and information where we gather in the receiving area of the Station of Light.

You have already begun expanding consciousness in this state today. You have already been expecting to continue the upliftment within the energy transmission, so focus yourself here within this space. Sense how you are here. Sense what is around you. Sense if there are other Beings around you, and so you are prepared and open to accept the energy given forth, surrounding you, today. It is present, so whatever the day is that you reconnect, you continue to receive the energy within the present, just by being present. I withdraw a little in my states of consciousness and call on the Light Beings who assist us, to come forth.

“Indeed. We greet you here Beloved, each and every one of you in this aspect of self, in this aspect of consciousness. Orem greeting you at this stage and I am assembling with me many of the Beings of Light that you address and recognise as the Star Beings, or Star Elders, also coming into this space. This space, while it is able to accept you in your body of light, is also able to be expanded so that it can accept the Beings from higher dimensions. It is bringing together and matching the energy frequencies so that you both receive and give in this space that is created here for this purpose.

You are present in multi layers always, but when we gather you up into this state, you are more receptive to the deeper states of consciousness and what is able to be brought forward through those states of consciousness.

So, as the Being known as Orem, I initiate this gathering for you. You again may be aware of the Beings named the Silver Light Beings, so you recognise them as being present with you and their purpose today is to continue to assess your energy field and adjust you within the timelines. The timeline is continuing to change and fluctuate in accordance with the progress being made with the expansion of consciousness. The more you become aware of this inner state, then you are open to be ready to adapt to the change in the energy frequency reflected in you as states of consciousness. All of this is just to say that you are expanding. You are raising your energy levels.

Now we continue to group you together within inner chambers, out of the time recognition and measurement of Earth time. This is open to a greater universal aspect of creation. In terms of spatial resonance, you will be responding to frequencies which Earth is being encompassed in at this time. Some of you present here will recognise the frequency that you can relate to as being very familiar and it supports you and it responds to that longing that you have within you of being home and wanting to experience the return to the state of existence that we have brought you into and refer to as your point of origin, which is in a sense the last known state of home that you originated from to bring in the purpose of you being present in the Earth civilisation as it is now around you.

Because you are adapting to the increased frequency, and this changes the timeline, then you also are adapting to the change in the energy around you in the life you are living at present. How many of you have realised the change and have initiated a change in your surroundings or in your creations in some form? It is all about resonating with the frequency pattern which you are connecting with and you are allowing to change you and your environment. As usual, we also refer to the environment of the planetary station of Earth and the environment of your personal aspect in life to do with your physicality unit, which incorporates physical, emotional, mental and the state of energy which you committed to bring in.

At this stage in your evolutionary process you will have released many of the attachments that had become integrated into your energy field, and some of those are referred to as environmental conditioning and people that you needed to resolve issues with or to bring about change. So, as we said, many of you have resolved many of those conditions and issues, leaving you free to be focused entirely in your higher light body frequency and the purpose of establishing the higher level of energy frequency.

This energy within these words will be having the effect of raising you up again into that state of existence out of time, out of physicality, where you exist in communion with the state of your origination energy system surrounded by the energy frequency of creation. Draw into you in this space all that you are needing. That is all that is required for you to engage the energy structure and patterns and codes for you to continue in the plan of manifestation which you have activated in your life pattern. Expand this further, with love, to greet the people you recognise as being part of this work and from this aspect of creation of you, greet and love the Beings involved in your present existence.

This facilitates the opportunity for them also to be raised in energy frequency, connecting to their purpose and point of origin.

In the human field existence when you enter within the body form, you are exposed to many ideas and concepts related to the created world of the civilisation, even if those were following a false impression - something that was imposed or limited or controlled by emotions held and experienced on the planet. Even those emotions that would fill you with great joy and happiness could have been tainted to bring in false impressions of what joy is, of what love is and the expectations around that. Therefore, in uplifting everybody into this pure state where you reconnect with your point of origin, you are realigning with the pure intention of the purpose of creating life on planet Earth. In this way you are filled with that energy field and you have an influence on the current civilisation. Much of that can still be changed and altered in accordance with the higher intention of creation, and if it cannot be, then it creates the separation into the existence of the higher light energy structure of civilisation being expanded and including many Beings at this time.

We often need to put this to you in a different way, to satisfy the needs that you have and the parts of the mind that need to logically interpret and understand. Therefore, it is repeated in different modalities and in different ways to you. It is all to assist you in the process of elimination of the false concepts and conditioning and initiating and reinforcing the concept of the original intention.

Timelines amongst you are still shifting and you are still adapting to those because it is as you relate and resonate to the dimension that you connect with. Experience the adjustment in this brief pause in the transmission to you. There is an aspect of your consciousness that already knows this and is already accepting it, therefore it is very easy for you to continue the expansion and to become aware of other areas around the planet known as anchor points or portals or gateways for the information and energy to come in, establishing the greater city of light structures.

These are important and these are what you need to focus on, especially when you are given the images of what is occurring around the planet and you are given the images of the disturbances, rather than given the images of the altered states of consciousness and the cities of light. The cities of light and those states of consciousness are ready to accept all of the Beings who ask for that higher state of assistance.

Also, the Earth is responding to the movements within the dimensional trajectory of its station, of its position, to do with the effects of the evolution around the sun and how the sun also is expressing different forms of communication which influence aspects on various planetary systems and also influences aspects of your energy fields and consciousness, also related to shifts in timeline and how you adapt to it is important. We are giving you the opportunity here to consciously align yourself into the energy through your point of creation to Source Energy to the original intention and blueprint, even though that has been expanded and enhanced, just as you see technology has been expanded and enhanced, although the purpose may have been to allow communication in some form. It still has the base intention to help and uplift and expand consciousness and expand fields of communication.

Bringing you back now from this state to assemble in the receiving area, you will be experiencing connection to different groups involved in the aspects of ongoing communication and upliftment – physical upliftment – into Stations such as this for the relief of disturbing symptoms, for the introduction of the energy patterns needed to allow the human form to continue to experience life as it is affected by the changes in the environment. When you understand that assistance is given to you for your multi levels of existence on Earth planet, then you will also understand that you may feel safe and assisted, so that you do not enter into the lower vibration of fear and relate to everything around that state. That is also part of the conditioning presented around the planet.

When you realise that is not your natural state, then you begin to sense the natural state of higher order, higher thinking, higher evolutionary process, higher energy frequency which you may define as love joy peace acceptance of the higher frequency, and that is all part of expansion.

Now briefly before this transmission is concluded, allow your higher energy frequency to connect in with the various portals around the planet which are actively engaged in establishing the cities of light. This connects you directly into those areas and this will help you all adapt to what is being given. It is just that moment of awareness and connection that is needed for you. Therefore, this aspect of this transmission is concluded and I withdraw

Orem out “

Thank you Orem, this is Lani speaking again. I value everything which we experience in these states of consciousness and we do, on the multi levels that each of exist in, acknowledge and we are aware of what is given presently. I recognise as you listen to this you may not hear every word because you are experiencing, it envisioning it or in words appropriate for the way that you can absorb it. All aspects of you take it in, in the most appropriate way.

Now it is time to bring your attention back into your body of light and then reconnecting into your physical unit stationed on Earth at this time. Appreciate it. Appreciate yourself in this current lifetime. Appreciate the connection you have to the higher aspect of self which you are now bringing into you into your life. I appreciate you. I appreciate this opportunity to bring this to you.

I close the Omega portal and I want you to be fully present, aware your present circumstances and time, aware also you are filled with higher energy and clarity in many ways, thank you.
