Issue 884

Date: September 28, 2017

Time: 4.30 pm

Hello again. It is time to gather and be together in the inner dimensions of life, in the level of consciousness that you connect in with, with a vast number of Beings who have already established this state of consciousness and in which you can renew yourself.

Begin as usual through this Omega Portal by allowing yourself to be comfortable, giving yourself the time to be free of disturbances and interruptions and enjoy time out from the normal physical life that you are leading. Even if that life is filled with joy and filled with activities that uplift you, this is a different period when we tune in together.

Come with me in that energy system that we labelled the light body and assemble in the receiving area of the Station of Light. Here you have well established your space and you have become familiar with being able to identify yourself in such a way that you exist in an ongoing way in this space, in this Station of Light. Sometimes it is used as a stepping stone, or transition space, to some other realm, physicality, dimension - whatever we would label it as.

My initial words are to help you adjust to the different energy, the vibration that comes around you and many of you feel that in your physical self, as well as feeling you change the sense of who you are in this receiving space. This is the way we begin.

“Ulea coming forward to you at this stage dear one and I am given the opportunity to welcome you here and to greet you and to assemble you into the specific energy sequences for you,

You already understand that you resonate with different groups, different concepts and different order of creation, which includes the way that you have agreed to manifest as a Being of Light in the world around you.

In my greeting and gathering you here into this space, you are being drawn into particular groupings which will facilitate the way you receive the message in this transmission. There are many layers and levels. You may be sensing different colours and different Beings around you. It is all part of gathering into this space and gathering information around you that you can assimilate and then integrate back into the specific reality on Earth that you are within. We also allow you the space to move with us into different chambers in this Station, many of which you are familiar with and some may be a new experience.

What I am facilitating here is an area that you would describe in your language as a lecture space, where you come to observe patterns presented to you. Initially we do this on living screens, living walls surrounding you, where you feel you are immersed in a different timeline and description of what is unfolding around you and you may sense that you are held in a space of early creation to do with this planetary system you are within, at this time. There are some of you receiving this message who strongly feel you have come to Earth from a different planet in this particular solar system you are familiar with.

Therefore, you will be able to interpret the visions where you will see the unfoldment of the patterning that is involved to provide a space for creatures and beings to exist in, to establish a timeline that is relevant to the expression of a higher civilisation and order. Adjustments occur in an ongoing way because of the changes that are facilitated as consciousness expands.

As part of the expanding consciousness, you are already familiar with the light city structures and in particular I draw your attention to the way that they are beginning to be visible in some areas on the planet. The areas where they are most visible are areas beyond populated centres on the planet, simply because the denseness of the population and level of consciousness can interfere with the manifestation of the purer level of consciousness in making it visible. The ones who are most likely to visibly see the structures of the light cities will be in quiet areas around the planet, on the water, on ice, on bare land or in dense forested areas and the appearance will be different, dependent upon who is viewing - what becomes apparent to them as a different city or population. It also comes with sound which will be heard by some people. This is giving you an insight as to what is unfolding now and you may be shown this on screens around you in this space.

You will be identifying with specific areas that you feel are familiar and that you would want to be present within. Just for some moments in this state of consciousness you will experience many of the presentations which have been presented to you. You may fill yourself with the experience of it, therefore it will be retained in your memory and cellular memory as being present in such areas.

Along with this, you will be experiencing a shift in how you feel. It is a particular linkage and connection with the timeline that is needed for you to recognise as being available for you when you do move into those light city structures.

Without actually moving into those at the present time, you will still be aware of being aligned, of being structurally taller than you are, with the essence of you reaching beyond current knowledge, reaching into an area that is still being adjusted around you. In that way, in the gradual adjustment, you can interpret the change, the shift, and the appearance of aspects of the creation which are not known in the present civilisation on Earth. You may find that interesting, you may find that this is confirming matters of information you have already received in some other form. Recognising it is also part of your adjustment to the different consciousness state.

Now I am drawing you away from this pattern in this particular chamber and I am drawing you back into a viewing area, where you may physically be observing planet Earth through the viewing portal here.

This is being presented to you here so that you will embrace with love this particular land mass that you are on. In an energy sense you would see that there are different vibrations and the different vibrations are coming from beyond Earth itself, coming through the dimensional unfoldments and the state of consciousness of the Beings and the vibration is also created by the present mass consciousness state and that state we refer to as one where people are very busy in the physical amassing of goods in some fashion, whatever they would be. There is a mixture occurring. There is also vibration from within Earth from the different Beings who are working to unify the pattern that Earth is held within.

In viewing Earth from this Station, you may perceive the energy grid surrounding it and that energy grid is also vibrating with the frequency of the structures of the light cities. It is all around the planet. It is just that in some areas it is able to be discerned more clearly and more readily and indeed if you were in quiet spaces on the planet, your senses would be clearer, your energy field would engage into the pure light that is available in such places, whereas if you are existing in a densely populated area, you need to consciously connect to the higher Source

Energy Essence of your particular self, through the higher self consciousness state to even begin to see clearly and receive clearly.

Being with us in this Station enables you to feel that clearness. Take this into you.

Each session that we share in, in this way, is as it were, a beginning phase of that particular expansion of you. It is already there, but it is as if you begin again each time, you begin a new step, a new phase, and you are enveloped in that in such a way that it does support you and you can be assured of that support.

From this viewing area I am now assembling you back in the initial receiving space of this Station. It has been my particular role to be with you in this transmission at this time and it is now that I withdraw

Ulea out

Thank you Ulea.

This is Lani again speaking to everybody. This was a Lightful transmission - Light - Ulea's energy is light and joyful. She enjoys sharing the space and the information and she did organise you into different groups. Perhaps that may manifest in your life physically, perhaps you will meet people who are filled with joy also, because they recognise the construction of new patterns for existence.

Viewing the Earth from that space also, shifts the perspective. I perceived energy beams going down into the Earth and I also perceived the sense of the energy structure surrounding us and it wasn't solid - it was moving and flexible and it was responding to different rays of light - impulses and impressions from beyond Earth and I also felt that those impressions were being received and sensed by individuals around the planet.

Perhaps they are the ones tuning in at this time, connecting into Source Energy. It seems to balance, and it also seems to be part of an adjustment and alignment, so this occurs for you and for the planet. It is a lovely simple way to raise your energy structure when you are immersed in the transmissions.

Now it is time for me to close the Omega Portal on this transmission and to call you back to your physical body. Surround it, be within it, fill it with all this frequency pattern that is universal creation that you bring in and that also contains the energy and the information of the new structures and I find that interesting because there are a lot of new structures occurring in our cities, but it is more than that. There is this higher patterning for us.

Let this be infused in you, through your higher states of consciousness and that higher level of you.

Thanks again for being with me in this transmission. Now be fully conscious of your locality and the day and time. Be fully present.

Lani
