Date: October 12, 2017
Time: 6.30 pm

As I open the Omega Portal for this transmission, I am aware that I am called forth to do this - to connect with you - to call you forth in your light body consciousness, to gather with me into the receiving space of the Station of Light. Therefore, you are needed to be in this short space of Earth time to allow yourself to be at peace, to allow your body and conscious mind to have no interruptions and to allow yourself to enjoy the experience of being in this different state of awareness. Your perceptions may seem to be heightened as you move into this receiving area. The number of beings assembled here helps that process, because you become enveloped in the group energy that is created by the numbers who gather together, and in this respect in this Station of Light, the Beings who come to assist us all are of a higher vibration, so you, and we, are caught up in that higher vibration. It is that resonating field of energy that is spoken about and what you resonate with, you are drawn into, and in turn, that will help you gain greater energy and information and resolution for some of the concerns or experiences you are going through. That is part of the human experience.

So, here we are gathered together and I open and withdraw my conscious self to allow the higher Beings to communicate with us all.

“Welcome and greetings into this space, Beloved, Orem addressing you and you may be aware of much movement happening around you. The movement relates to the integration of different fields of energy, dimensional frequency, dimensional layers and these relate to the different aspects of each of you assembled here.

We are continuing the flow of energy that you received in the previous transmission to you and we are observing the amount of integration that took place individually in you, as you worked with that energy you were receiving through the portal presented by the Star Elder Beings. When you are sufficiently adjusted to the flow of energy here, we will proceed.

Continuing, we are observing that you are all adapting to and perhaps interpreting the energy you are receiving in the present momentary experience here and the result of this is that you will be experiencing upliftment in some form for you.

There are areas in some people receiving this transmission, that you feel are deteriorating within your energy field or your physical body in some way. This is temporary when you realise that it is a necessity to allow yourself to receive the adjusting energy from Source Energy. Source Energy identifies the areas that are deficient in you, or in some way that need clearance or adjustment. All of this is occurring for you in this initial space of assembly here.

At this time we also identify the research that many of you are doing into different types of energy devices and ways to help clear patterns around you individually, or around groups, or around land.

All of these are based in the true base situation on the level of energy that enhances and that is appropriate to continue the life pattern and pathway you are on. Individually you all will be addressing aspects of your life that have come to your attention in some form, where you may be feeling the need to either relinquish what is around you and your hold on this physical lifetime, or, as is appropriate, the need to draw in energy to restore it in some way. We speak about the vast differences in between those two different examples presented to you here. This is because there is a very wide variance amongst you all assembled here, of what is necessary for your individual journey and for what you are wanting to achieve in this present lifetime and commitment.

In speaking of this, you will find that you are being drawn into different areas deep within the Station and these different areas will be connecting you into different timelines and different areas of existence. These areas of existence and timelines could be relating you to lifetimes on different planetary systems, planetary evolutions - we just needed you to be aware of that, because you need to apply a greater wisdom of enfolding more of a wider plan and pattern than perhaps what you are observing being enacted around you locally or globally, and when you become aware that there is a connection to vast areas of different types of civilisations, it makes you more aware of your presence that is needed on the Earth plane at the present time. You are able to bring into your present time information and patterns that will be helpful in the overall grid pattern. Already, you may be observing this, or sensing it in some way, knowing that you are participating in this expansion of the energy matrix around this planet as a single energy Being.

It is necessary to continue to be aware of this and linking in with it and bringing light energy into it from Source Creation. Deep within many of you, this is something that you knew you would be doing.

Refreshing you in that will maintain a sense of worthiness, a sense of actively participating, while you are engrossed in physical matter and the body life that has been created, which you have created around you. There will be times when you will change that creation and when you do that in accordance with Source Energy and your Point of Origin and Purpose, then you will be exploring in greater depth new methods and new existences. Some of you are already aware and have glimpses of and sensed your presence in the cities of light civilisation. This will be continuing for you. When there are enough of the Beings present bringing that energy in around you, and you moving into that energy, then it helps to exist that state of beingness within your conscious mind and the conscious mind of many others. The pathway is being cleared for many of you and you can take this opportunity to remind yourself of that and to accept the confirmation of glimpses you have been having already.

There are pockets around the planet of civilisations, or groups of beings who have established themselves separate from the overall, greater, population and some of those who are working in the enlightened state will continue to exist in that state. If there are other areas as you know there are, who are seeking to establish diverse areas of existence and ultimately to build up a separate power, then already they are shielded and will not be permitted to interact and disturb what is being created in the overall establishment of light. In this sense there is some assistance given. Generally, the impressions are given to individuals to help them align to the higher intention, the base intention of life on this planet.

Now we are surrounding you all in the sphere of creation for you, so just as this session began with energy changes and movement around you, we are now continuing to envelop you in this spherical pattern that does indicate change for you, but it also continues the clearance away from you of thought patterns and emotional patterns that can be interlocked and deeply controlling groups and areas and people in the current lifestyle. In making you aware of this and that you are able to be detached from that, gives you the opportunity to progress into the existence of you as Light Beings. We are giving this information forth to many of you who individually assist others in various techniques and presentations. This is for you to realise the existence of yourself as a Light Essence Being and in that way, you are able to pass that sense onto the other ones whom you work with. We accept that you have conscious logical mind which wants to analyse and define and sometimes that causes distortions. When you are embraced in the session in this way, you are receiving more of the concept and understanding in the essence of your Beingness. When you stand within that and you recognise that, there is no distortion. It is directly connecting you to the greater pattern and therefore the influence you have can be gently spread out to other people.

In progressing you into this state of being aware of your Light Energy Self, we have achieved the purpose of this message and indeed the message has enfolded you and unfolded to this point of realisation for you. You will be experiencing stability and expansion, support and strength and other ways that you recognise this within you.

Therefore, we now withdraw you from this space, returning you to the receiving area in the Station. Information flows out in various ways, in accordance with the state of consciousness that you are and the dimensional fields that you are in contact with. We have presented you into this different state of energy field and have shared with you what we are presenting, so in that way it is already in you and thus we have achieved the purpose of this session.

Withdrawing now, I leave you to absorb this.

Orem out

This is Lani again and I take in a deep breath to stabilise myself as this Light Body Being here and I observe you all here, and I ask you to be aware of your presence in this aspect of the Station before we depart to reconnect into the individuality of the life pattern you have.

The energy that we are in, I perceive as surrounding the land masses, the oceans, surrounding this planet and expanding out surrounding everything that is in the atmosphere and above, surrounding the moon associated with Earth, surrounding satellites and everything else that is in the general sphere of this part of this galaxy. It is a big sphere of energy that we are encompassed in.

Now, bring your awareness gently back into your body, slowly and smoothly merging with your body and your current life pattern, coming back into the present moment as you receive this transmission.

You may feel the energy of it flowing through you, from above your head to beneath your feet and all around you and all around your energy field. I have the image momentarily that we are within the starfield when we look out at the night sky, so it is difficult to come back, but you must come back and fully orient yourself into your body and the present time.

I close the Omega Portal now.
Thank you
Lani
