Time 4 pm

I open the Omega Communications Portal and settle myself for this transmission. Have you settled yourself into a quiet zone, just for you? Let's begin. Begin by sensing, feeling and knowing your Light Body aspect and it is this light body aspect that I call upon to be me with me, moving into the receiving area of the Station of Light.

We have always begun in this way and so it has created this amazing space for us to gather in, and for us to let go of everything we have been thinking about and doing, so that we are free of all attachments, also free of expectations, although the intention is to expand consciousness to receive the flow of energy and information.

Take in the energy that is already in this space, if you are feeling a little stressed and let that begin the journey. We have gathered into this space with the intention that we will be receiving something new, or perhaps something expanded upon that we have had already in this space.

"Indeed, Beloved, this is Orem coming forward and embracing you in Light.

The light serves the purpose of introducing to you some of the different pathways that are available to you from this space and the pathways may lead you into different realities, or they may lead you into meeting spaces, gathering spaces in the overall Station existing here. The pathways may also bring to you the knowledge of some of the Beings who are personally linked with you for the purpose of assisting you and the purpose of what you are doing to increase patterns of light in you and around you.

Perhaps it is only moments that you are aware of patterns of light and of opportunities given, but the moments open up dimensional gateways for you to absorb a great deal of patterns and frequency and you may also have been transported elsewhere in that moment. The moments when you lose sense of time or surroundings indicate to you that you have been existing in a different dimension.

You may be able to predict when some of these moments will happen in relationship to what you are doing, or different times of day or evening. If you feel you are predicting those, it is precognition that you have within you, that you will arrive at the particular dimension in the flow of dimensions and waves and you have already known that would be, because of your expanded state of consciousness always attuning to those intersections and bringing you into the awareness that you will be connecting or moving through one of those portals.

You have many opportunities given to you to experience this and today in this session you are already experiencing it, because you have moved out of current time that you relate to in the conditions that your body is in. The current time also expands into the present and the present is infinite, in your terms of understanding what that is. In the present you also can move through different dimensions in an instant, in a moment, in the present.

That of course has its own purpose. It facilitates in you, patterns to be examined that you have had around you, by Observers, by those of us working with you. It also facilitates the introduction to you of a further unfoldment within the patterns of energy around you and that is in particular only what is appropriate to you and what you resonate with. If you move through your day holding the awareness of a higher pattern of light, or perhaps you have been linking with your higher self aspect, then you will be resonating with something that will draw you further to understand a bit more and to experience a bit more.

Again, we would say that all of this is preparation. You have been preparing for many aspects of your lifetimes to consciously co-create and co-exist in these different dimensions, not just to be within the Station of Light, but to envelop the higher creation involving the Earth Light City to be integrated into the field of consciousness around you on the planet.

There are many people on Earth who are focusing on aspects to do with the planet, or to do with different beings who are working for opposing reasons, or in a different manner to what you would wish to create. So, that would bring to your attention motivation to be beyond all of that continuation of a pattern. This is what we would want you to be. To be motivated to draw upon the higher pattern and frequency. This gives the effect of being uplifted and enlivened and then you are working in that higher pattern of existence.

Should that pass through you to change some of the patterns, that would be a by-product - if you understand that term in relation to what we are giving you in this example. The prime motivation is for upliftment and expansion of consciousness, and when you do that individually, you are more able to examine the effect of your life's journey and what has drawn you into this present moment where you are receiving this and you may also be reflecting upon other aspects of life that you may be aware also assist you from different realities in different dimensions.

So, in this moment we draw you into a different gathering again, into a community situation within the Earth Light City. Did you feel the change in the energy as we brought you into this different reality of the Earth Light City? How does that seem to you? How does that have you feel and experience? It will be an expansion into joy, into connectedness, into a sense of belonging, because you vibrate and resonate with what is present there already. You need to take into you those sensations, because they help you direct yourself and align yourself into that pattern.

The aspect of your higher self exists within this energy network connection and calls you to be present in that state. This does not mean that you just stand around absorbing energy. There are many aspects of activity to be fulfilled as part of the existence there. As you expand your senses you will be experiencing some of that which we are referring to in activities that you are participating in.

There is also an aspect of you present within the Station in what you may think of as central positions of overseeing all of what is happening around planet Earth and of reporting, or listening, of making adjustments in the overlaying energy pattern and field. This is part of the connectedness that you have throughout the intention of this created space here within the Station and how it can affect what is evolving as the Earth Light City and also in different pockets of areas where people gravitate to around your planet where they recognise that they have an important part within the whole placement of the energy grid to allow the shifting and improvement for the planet itself and how that affects the people inhabiting it.

We are moving with you around the planet and you may be sensing some of these specific areas. We are indicating to some of you areas under water locations, deep sea areas within the oceans and, as you are aware already, there are Beings continuing to work with the patterns within the water and releasing patterns into the water also releases patterns into the atmosphere of allowing higher energy frequencies to be absorbed in the plant life which is ingested for nutrition. As the energy organisms of creatures evolves, there is a different need for different elements and this is all being incorporated into the plant life, the vegetation, and through the process of the vegetation absorbing the water, there is released into the atmosphere a higher pattern of life and energy. It is all around you. It surrounds you everywhere.

In speaking about this to you, we are also helping you to recognise that you have the ability within you - the natural processing - to eliminate what is not natural to you and what is not assisting you. Use this information and the process that you are enveloped in to help you remember, here. Use it.

Now, we bring you back into the receiving area of the Station. Be aware of the various pathways that were spoken about. Some of those pathways, or accessways, through dimensions are brought to your attention because from this central location, energy is moving along those pathways, facilitating clearance, and you are participating in that clearance which allows clearer communication and visitation of the Beings with whom you are affiliated from different aspects of Creation.

We are introducing different concepts and information to you in this session and this session has incorporated many layers that are available to you to use.

All of this is presented to you in this session and you are enveloped in that. Thus, I withdraw at this time, Beloved

Orem out “

Lani speaking to you again and I thank Orem.

This has been interesting. It has been very diverse and there seems to be many things that we can work with from this session, relating perhaps to something that is occurring in your life pattern at this present time, or something that you have been considering and this is because you drew that to you during this session. Think about that. You created this session for some specific elements!

Bring all of this back now into you. You must come back to ground it, to integrate it within your body, your mind, your emotions, your energy field as it is present on Earth in the present moment.

Again, feel as if you are firmly grounded on the planet, even though you may have experienced being on a walk-about trip to different locations, you must now come back to where you are receiving this session and the current time and day.

I am ending this transmission now through the Omega Portal. Thank you for being present with this and we will continue next week.
