Issue 920

Date: June 21, 2018

Time 4 pm

Issue 920 coming through the Omega Portal.

I begin as usual, by identifying myself as my body of light, and calling on you to identify your body of light, so that we can use that as a vehicle to assemble in the receiving area of the Station of Light.

It seems to be all about Light in its many variations and interpretations.

So, as you gather in this space with me, again align yourself with your higher self and open to receive the energy and information and light in this dimensional space, which is a different dimension from the physical environment around you.

You are already identified and welcomed into this space. It does mean that you need to open your awareness, open your senses and put aside all of your thoughts so that you deeply experience what is available to you here in this space.

“This is Orem coming forward and acknowledging you here in this space.

We identify you by the energy signature you have and by the respect and by the release you have had that has enabled you to move into this area. If you were intently holding onto various lower state emotions, you would not be fully integrated into this area. This occurs in all of the stages and phases that you go through when you enter into a higher state of consciousness. It necessitates you changing your thought patterns and the thought patterns have an impact on the emotional responses and if you are emotionally engaged in some particular scenario, then you may not receive what is available to you here. It gets filtered out from you. If it is your intention to proceed in the highest way that you can and to identify yourself as consciousness, then you receive everything which is available to you here in this Station.

This Station is identified as a meeting place, as a confluence of many different dimensions and the dimensions include many different aspects of You and of the various Beings who come forward to experience life through your experiences and to come forward to help you adapt to the higher frequency and also, they come forward to assist you to continue moving forward as you expand into the consciousness states that are here.

This is only one such space where all of this is available to you and if you are drawn here, this means that you can readily resonate with the energy frequencies, through the patterns of information brought to you here. We give you some moments to adjust to all that which is surrounding you here,

Perhaps you might visualise this as coming into this space and stowing your baggage into different areas, and then you might feel you are drawn to a particular area in this sphere of light where you feel you are lighter and where you already are receiving information patterns - concepts - spheres of light - that are around you.

In particular, even in your vehicle of light here, you will be identifying a vibration which will be touching you. Normally the receptors in this state come through the higher aspects around your body of light - such as you would think, “oh I am receiving it, I am perceiving it, I am feeling it through the energy centres located in my head”. So this is a very good start for you to identify how you are receiving this, because your senses are receiving the word patterning and the flow of energy through the word patterning, and in your physicality you would be hearing this through your physical ears and you would be seeing with your vision or your inner vision. So, this is just identifying yourself here receiving the flow of energy.

Already this flow of energy is drawing you into deeper aspects of creation. In a sense this is you travelling through time and time is representative of flows of information and this you will be experiencing until you come to a certain phase where you pause, you settle, and you are able to identify what is around you.

We are presenting to you various spatial coordinates and if you could sense this, you would sense around you a representation of mapping in some form, of areas of connection in some form. You may go so far as to feel and identify that you are perceiving star fields, constellations, galaxies, all representing patterns of energy and locations. The locations we refer to are inter spatial locations and they are available to you in the sense that when you are sufficiently enlightened and you have the sufficient energy perspective to identify and resonate with the areas, then you find you are communicating with different Beings and you will be interpreting what is being represented to you.

Generally speaking, it is about a relocation system occurring throughout all of the energetic creation systems and spaces and spheres of habitation and it is all indicating movement to you. The movement will come to you each in ways that are appropriate for you as you are living your life experience on Earth and when you take in the information, it increases your reality and your identification as fulfilling certain aspects that have been held within your consciousness field. These are what you bring in with you, into that particular life aspect. This is an unfoldment that we are taking you through, so that you can identify more of a base source element for you.

It is also time for you to receive specific information threads that are available to you. When you receive these threads and flows of energy, they are working throughout your energy field, identifying weakened spots, identifying places that can be strengthened so that you can facilitate change for others occurring - other people who come into your livingness, or into the reality all around you. You have many people you identify with. Even if you are living alone in your cave, in a hut in an isolated space, you are still receiving communication levels. This would occur in dream time, in that level of consciousness you go into in and out of dream states, in and out of altered states of consciousness, because you are all connected. You are all helping and assisting in some way. There are times when you do remove yourself from the populations. This could be just withdrawing into a room in your dwelling space, but when you do withdraw from the busy states of interaction with other people and life, you come back to a state of balance to refresh yourself, to renew yourself, aligning yourself with, in particular, firstly, the highest aspect of you.

You are being adjusted in this time in accordance with the highest reference frame for you in relationship to that which you identify as your higher self. Yes, there are higher and different aspects to that and it is through that, that you can receive specific information for you - patterns to help you identify what is appropriate for you to work on in your daily life pattern.

In the field of information that you draw into you, there will be various experiences available for you to choose from and your choices will relate to your readiness at the specific time when you connect in with all of the pattern of energy.

This is the way that you sense the correct pattern and choices for you. One of the significant pathways and choices that you have will always identify for you the clear pattern. Our intention always is to facilitate you connecting with the clear pattern. By this we mean you will be able to let go of the multitude of thoughts which can overlay the pure aspects of your intention in consciousness and as we bring this to you also, it is a way to help you identify what is the actual thought form and pattern which you would identify as your true self. This creates an elimination process from you of what has been stopping you from experiencing feeling the infinite creative pattern for you. We are helping you to feel the clearness all throughout all of the many systems which are functioning as your physical body form and the layer of thoughts and emotions and when all of those are balanced, this is when a further expansion can occur of your consciousness.

You have the sense that you are feeling excited and awakened, filled with clarity and energy in those receptive areas all throughout your body, but mostly you identify this in the upper mind aspect, in that area perhaps we could all it the control room.

You have adapted to everything that we have been sharing with you in this part of the session, so we bring you back into the greater meeting space within the Station. In this space again there are various screens available for you to see what is happening around the planet and so that you can also receive the individual pattern for you, so allow yourself to briefly be drawn into a space where you are completely surrounded by an energy matrix, an energy field. It does not necessarily show you images. You may simply be sensing adjustments of energy as you open to receive all of this that you are surrounded in. It is a personal adjustment for your energy matrix field. That is sufficient for you to draw that in around you. You have been immersed in everything that is appropriate for you. In this way we help you and as we identify the level that you are receiving this on, we will seek out communication with you individually. You will feel it. You will feel the touch of the energy.

Come now back from this space, drawing all of that energy and information into you and assemble in the receiving area again of this Station. We will address you again at times, but I withdraw now to leave you to integrate this, as you will

Orem out “

Thank you Orem, Lani again with you all here in this space. Do you feel you have been altered energetically, even perhaps mechanically in some sense. I know it is not manipulation, it is assistance because in living this life on Earth we have been clouded by the mass consciousness. Every time you step into this space you go beyond that again and that is why the intention is on having you come into this space to allow you to experience freedom from that and to regather into you, higher aspects and understanding. When you do that and you bring that back into your body, you are assisting balancing and attunement to higher frequencies everywhere around you. Perhaps you notice there is better growth in plants around you, perhaps you notice the animals and creatures around you behaving differently. Perhaps they recognise your energy field and want to acknowledge that by coming around you. It can be confirmed to you in many ways that you have changed and you are more in harmony with the natural kingdom and it is from the natural kingdom that you draw energy in, as well. Now come back into your physical body, be fully aware, filling the body with health and vitality and clarity, fully ground it into your environment and again be aware of the present moment.

I end this transmission through the Omega Portal. Do make sure you are fully present, grounded again on Earth. I thank you - wonderful Beings of Light
