Issue 925

Date: July 26, 2018

Time 3 pm

I open the Omega Portal for this session and already I have the sense that I am gathering in many people, many from all around Earth and many who are receiving from other dimensions. As I gather you all in, I am bringing you into the receiving area of the Station of Light. Already this area is receiving you. Perhaps some of you have been here waiting, because you had the sense that you were being called in to connect consciously into this space, into this dimension, to receive and you have been waiting for me to record this session. That is an interesting realisation for me to have.

Here we are, together, and as usual I sense the organisation occurring in this space so that you are in the best possible position to identify the flow of energy that you are going to receive and to identify the group, or the Beings, who will come forward to work with you during the duration of this experience this time. You must allow that energy and experience to be the greatest that you can open to, then you draw in new information, key pieces of knowledge, key pieces you have been wanting to connect with and draw into you to help you understand something. It is always given on multi-dimensional layers. Now I am stepping back, opening my awareness, to allow the Beings in the Station to come forward.

“We continue to express our gratitude to you for presenting yourselves into this state of consciousness.

This is Orem addressing you because I am present here as the communicator in charge of this process for you. I oversee many of the functions and procedures, processes, operations, occurring within this Station and greeting you and assessing you is one of those many missions and services that are upon me to link with you in this way.

You have already, many of you, identified a special existence space whereupon you decided to come into the Earth dimension in this current time phase and to be consciously present, consciously aware. Many of you continue the process of absorbing what you perceive around you happening and when you come into the Station, this is observed throughout your energy field. We are able to identify many of the conflicts, many of the choices and opportunities which have arisen around you certainly, but also around the greater population and in this way in the assessment, we can offer assistance, just simply by presenting concepts and ideas within the energy field which you are surrounded in, when you come into this Station. It is you who integrates this energy that is flowing to you, giving you a greater understanding and energy, and it is you who then takes it back into the dimension that you are existing in where your main focus is, as you work through your days. So, it is always a process for you to identify the higher pattern of energy and for you to integrate that into your physicality and into your surroundings.

We are giving you the notice that there is a greater mobilisation of many of the Beings who are actively present alongside you and who are also connecting into the Beings who have attended and congregated around the planet. At this time the focus is on the surrounding energy field matrix of the planet. This matrix is incorporating the higher engagement and continuation of the flow which is engaged from source Creation, which does come through in many channels.

The channels are amplified and assisted by the various alignments occurring in the traditional placement and understanding of various galaxies and planets that Earth is involved with in the overall mechanism of evolvment. So, when we say information and channels are open for you to receive, it is in regard to the multi layered dimensions involved in the upliftment process and expansion of consciousness. The expansion and upliftment processes merge together. They are not entirely separate, but they are not entirely one process. Again, it is various layers which different people respond to at different times and the times are when they are open to identify their connection into their primary source of awakening and awareness and the energy systems from which they emerged into what you are experiencing now.

The reconnection to those points is part of the process of bringing in your individual essence and concepts, because it is the time that it is needed. Even though we speak of time, it is not to do with your daily measurement, or weekly, or yearly cycles. The time is the alignment of your consciousness field into the activated portals present. They are always there, but at certain times as you align with them and they are exposed to the emanations from Source Creation - and it is very organised - it is utilised by all of those ones who are witnessing this change and assisting this change - and so you are participating in a very deep way with the raising of consciousness, lifting you above the daily activities, just as you are as you are immersed in this session in this time.

We are certainly addressing you in your light body form present here in the Station, but you are still aware of your physical body and life, which is necessary for the continuation of the flow to be integrated and understood and then you are able to apply what you are receiving into your interactions with people or interactions with the overall energy matrix around the planet. There are many layers to this energy matrix field and some of the layers are moving and adjusting and it is that adjustment which also has a great influence on you being able to access some of the dimensional portals and flow of information into you.

Momentarily feel that you have been engaged in this and you are interpreting and understanding visually and in your thoughts and emotionally what this is, what is being conveyed to you here. Your level of cognition determines how you will interpret this and the different ways that you can work this into the expansion and shifting of the planet. We referred previously to the expansion of the consciousness field of the planet itself, of that organism, that aspect of life experienced, and so this is brought to your attention again. You may sense it as if it is being drawn closer into a deeper placement within the overall galaxy that you are part of and indeed this is so, because the Earth is moving. It is moving across time. It is moving out of time or through time to be synchronised in the placement of this evolutionary process and this is having a very deep effect on many of you, because you sense it, you sense the longing, the belonging, you sense the emotional connection of returning home. This is because you are actively engaged in the encompassing matrix field around the planet and this is actually above the layer of mass consciousness, so you will not be caught up into the drama presented, you will be free of that dynamic activation amongst people which overall tends to limit the expansion process.

You could be observing yourself in various spheres of supportive energy, but you are well above the planet and you are observing it. Yes, you could say you might be in one of those satellites that have been launched from Earth, but we say you are above that layer, because that is still affected by the emotions and thought power and controlling concepts and the level from which we are helping you to observe and see is more in contact with the aspect of you still existing in your point of origin whereby you chose to come in from there with your actions and with the pure energy essence.

Even though you may be missing words, and you may want to hear further words in this presentation, your acknowledgement of the senses you are experiencing in turn converted into feelings, confirms a great deal of information to you. So, our purpose is to keep you attuned and aligned into this entire process, uplifting you, uplifting many when they are ready. In your consciousness you already have the overall plan, if we would call it a plan. Again, it is an energy field matrix and it is essential to your well-being, to your focus and your intention of being here [on Earth] and as you realise this, it is the sense of belonging that you will have which will give you the sense of motivation to continue examining your life processes and employing all of the ways that you know to continue accessing and communicating in this greater level, such as you are experiencing in this moment.

In this moment you may be communicating with many other groups of Beings from other dimensions in the sharing of information and you will bring into your awareness what you are receiving and you will now bring this back with you, because I am bringing you back to be consciously present within the Station of Light and into this communication sphere. This connects you directly back into the receiving area of the Station. You may continue to enable the communication sphere around you, with intention, and it will make your communication with the Beings you are working with easier and clearer.

As I depart from this session now, I leave you with the vision that you are connecting into the overall network grid and this is conveyed to you with the means of the energy codes which connect into the matrix around the planet and the energy matrix around you as an individual and you may feel you are within some of those energetic fields which will come to your vision as geometric shapes. These are very powerful mechanisms, for they control and deliver into you and throughout all time and dimension, concepts and energy frequencies needed. You are realising this already and it is active within you. I leave this with you

Orem out “

Thank you Orem.

This is Lani again speaking to you and I am bringing my attention and focus back to be with you in this receiving area of the Station.

You are surrounded in a wonderful sphere of light, energy, information and you are energy codes. Interesting! It is very interesting! I am sure we will all feel this in the ongoing days after this session and it will be making a difference in you and how you perceive other ones around you and it will help you in every way that you intend it to, because you are aligned with your higher self and Source Energy,

Now, we are going to reconnect into our physical bodies, so bring your conscious attention back into your body and as you open your eyes, be fully conscious and fully present of where you are - present in the moment. It can take just a moment to come back from that deep state, because already your body has received the energy field and your higher self is already working throughout you, in that layer of the energy we call the light body. So there you are - you are fully back, fully present, conscious of your light body self and all of this energy and so it is time for me to close the Omega Portal for this transmission and I just appreciate you and I appreciate this opportunity to link with the Beings - multi-dimensions - all involved in this process

Thank you

Lani
