Omega Communications Portal Transmissions

I open my heart to greet you for this final session for 2018 - not that the date matters, because we step out of time and place and Earth physical dimension in any one of these sessions. This is how I begin today, by gathering you in with me, in your Light Body, out of time and place and already do you feel you are being drawn with me into the receiving area of the Station of Light? The Beings, that space, that dimensional space is always available. It is a state in which we can easily assemble and to identify ourselves as a body of light. I know, because I experience it myself, even though my body of light is in the Station of Light, in the receiving area or elsewhere, where we are taken, I am still aware sometimes of the energy flowing back into my physical body and at other times I am completely immersed in the higher energy dimension. So, there is rising and falling always in between levels, until we become accustomed to the full immersion into that higher energy state. Where do you feel you are, as I open the session with you? I am sure each one of us will be taken into the appropriate place.

For now, I withdraw my conscious mind and allow the Beings here in the Station to bring us together more deeply and closer.

“Greetings to you, every one of you. We are addressing you as an individual, we are also addressing you as a collective in the situation where you are all clearly linking in to this energy field and the energy field itself can be identified as the Station of Light and in this, already you are receiving a higher resonating frequency. You may be experiencing this in you as we bring this to you.

I am Orem addressing you and I am the lead focus of those of us present in this Station at this present moment in the presentation to you, and the presentation of you into this energy state and position.

There is a sorting out continuing for you. You have clearly identified some aspects which you are experiencing which you are needing to and you are wanting to leave behind you, a conscious choice. Without focusing on what that is, your conscious choice is to be fully immersed into the ongoing flow, the energy patterns coming through the solar portal to you. When we say it is coming through the solar portal to you from Source Creation, it is coming into you as the aspect of your highest evolved energy light body present here in the Station. There are multi layers to you, of course, even in the sense of your body of light and you will be drawing into you the information patterns appropriate for the multi layers of you.

You are focusing here as one particular focused dimensional being, or dimensional aspect of your true beingness - your consciousness - which envelopes vastness beyond the scope of definition during this transmission. We are focusing on you, who has presented yourself into the Station here. Already, you are receiving many different elements for you.

You would understand elements to be inclusive of factors that your humanoid unit would draw into it, the elements of course include energy in the form of nutritionals, they include energy in the form of sensations you might experience, identifying them as an emotion, you might be receiving thought patterns which will be flowing around your body of light presently here. The purpose and intention is to validate who you are and to respect who you are as coming forward because you represent a large body of collective aspect of consciousness with whom you are involved in your current life pattern.

In focusing on that to be clear and for you to be resonating with these highest elements that you are receiving allows all of that to be dispersed into the unified consciousness field of your current life pattern and also moving into other aspects of you living concurrently but in a different way, a parallel type way which differs in many of its constructs. Again as was mentioned previously, the Beings who come forward to be with you as you evolve and move more into your highest functioning aspects are also benefitting from the way that you are choosing to be at one with the purpose and to identify yourself in a greater way - an expanded aspect of creation - of your oneness.

That is allowing you to experience the greater aspect of what consciousness is for you. There is also the more individual attention given to you at this time.

We are drawing you into a deeper pattern within the Station and you will be experiencing stepping into a specific energy field. This will be helping you because we have already identified aspects in your energy field that have been deeply imprinted because they are appearing now with you and in the identification process we have established this energy field for you to absorb deeply into you. Your memory which you bring into you in this light body situation contains many of the thoughts that you have which you would be expecting to change, wanting to change, and anything which you feel needs to change to allow you to absorb the higher energy pattern.

In the few moments as I am speaking to you in this way, you are already changing and in many cases for you, you will have stepped beyond the Station and beyond the Earth station and you have already been drawn into a principle of manifestation which connects you into a different vector of creation. Some of this is similar to this Earth Light Station where you were assembled first. Absorb what this means for you. It contains further elements for you to experience in a different way to how you experience the elements in the Earth environment as it is currently. Whatever you are absorbing, is preparing you to be able to adapt to the change and the shift in awareness and consciousness which is unfolding on the Earth Station. It is not a matter of defining what this is. You would be needing to be open to the realisation that you are accepting energy and the higher aspect of yourself understands what that energy pattern is and all of the elements of it.

Much of what we have you experience is preparation and this helps you to unfold your codes that are contained in your energy consciousness field and to thereby accept different concepts. You have already established yourself in a different way. The difference may be apparent to yourself, or it may be apparent to other people co-existing with you. All of this you observe and you understand why it is necessary for you to have become apparently different, simply through the steps you have taken to accept the energy fields which are known to you, which are familiar to you, and so you change yourself, process by process.

We bring you in your awareness back to the field of energy in the Station of light. Do you feel you have gathered together the context in which you were accepting and experiencing diverse energy fields. There may have been modes of transport. There may have been an exchange of information. You will remember the appropriateness for you in your own experience in this session.

We give you here also the experience again of moving through the portal into the dimension of the higher light civilisations.

You become more familiar with this in every entry point you make, every memory which is retained from every entry into this dimensional space of the civilisation of the Light, the next phase for you. What you are being immersed in and receiving is another level again and this is working through different codes which resonate with the energy within your present body of light and therefore that is part of your physicality present on Earth currently. You must allow this to unlock specific sequences in your energy DNA and that allows you to be more immersed in the energy change. The recent flows of light coming through the solar portal have been helping you to do this.

You would realise that any stresses or discomfort or feelings of being out of place in your physicality arise from the comparison you have of being within this next process of light existence and when there is discomfort it is for you to draw upon the energy patterns that you are familiar with in the highest aspect of Self to release the stresses that have been experienced.

Now, you have received all of this and you are being drawn back out of that light structure into the receiving area of this Station of Light - the transition space - and you are held within this transition space because you experience adjustment and it becomes easier for your light energy system to process all of that which you have been experiencing in this session and in such a way that it will be active within your physicality. We support you in all of your change. We understand the systems and the energy mechanisms required as you change and these you experience in the sessions.

You may feel all this around you and you may also be experiencing it as similar to a transportation vehicle. This is present around you and more will be presented to you about that. I withdraw at this time

Orem out “

Thank you Orem. This is Lani addressing you again. Interesting comment he made about feeling a transportation vehicle around you. What does that bring up in your mind? An image of a vehicle of some sort? Perhaps it is simply a specific energy field through which you can travel through time and dimension.

Indeed it is now time to come back through this Earth time portal to reconnect and be comfortable within your physicality. You are bringing into it the particular frequency pattern for every discomfort or out of order sensation you may have been experiencing in your physical unit, or emotional or mental aspects. It is so wonderful to have this support.

So, now come back into your body, take in a breath, open your eyes and as you release your breath you are fully grounded back in your body. That is all it takes - your intention to be fully present in the current time moment as we measure it on Earth - and you are making the appropriate adjustments for you.

It has been wonderful sharing these transmissions during 2018 in such an ongoing way.

I end this transmission through the Omega Communications Portal. Enjoy the experience of this session.

Thank you for being Present

Lani
