Omega Communications Portal Transmissions

Here we are again, gathered together eager to journey again into the inner dimensions - or, should we call them the outer dimensions? Whatever way we perceive it as the vehicle and the entry point to move into a greater state of awareness and receptivity will get us to assemble into the receiving area of the Earth Station of Light - this magnificent energy space!

It is easy to come into this space as we link together and we expand the level of consciousness to be present in this state.

Are you ready?

“Welcome. This is Orem communicating with you here, contacting you in a very individual way - a personal way for you.

Have you experienced this way of contact previously? Have you enjoyed your particular energy journey into this space at a different time?

You are always welcomed and greeted here. You always come in through a series of intersecting portals and screens and the screens serve the purpose of eliminating from you debris, data, patterns that are not appropriate for you to bring into this space. You may feel that you become cleared as you move further into connecting with the energy frequency patterns here in this Station.

This is always correct for you. This always has the effect of balancing you, balancing you in terms of being present in the dimensional frequency and experience that you would refer to either as time or beyond time. You are beyond time as you measure it in your Earth minutes. You intersect with and enter within a different reality and this reality has no definition that relates to your time. So, while you are here with us you could be on an expanding ongoing journey to experience different dimensional existences .

Many of you would come forward to understand appearances that have come to you in recent days. Therefore, the understanding will come to you, the realisation will come to you.

In certain sectors of your civilisation there is the appearance of many portals, or gateways, opening for you and these provide opportunities for you. Those opportunities will differ for what your particular need is.

Many of you have the opportunity to travel within different transportation vehicles, or energy systems, as you present yourself into distant areas, as you were in the previous transmission.

We connect you all into that energy system again so that you remember and you strengthen the entire energy DNA pattern you were exposed to, where you returned to the point where you were gathering in the effective elements appropriate for you in your current physical formation.

There are many layers to that, you realise. You will be interpreting this as you know what your reality is, which you manage, which you create and which you are immersed within.

There are other ways that you are transported to be with various galactic Councils - groups of Beings involved in different areas of manifestation for existence. Here you become enveloped in their particular sphere of information for you.

They do not expand your history. They do not reiterate your history. They present to you a field of information which you interpret. There is an impulse within that field of information which will also inform you of the next layer, the next series, of patterns for you to integrate within you and these are to do with the ongoing expansion of civilisations.

The sense is that you are being uplifted into that state of expansion. It is, and can be, very different to what you experience currently. What you experience currently will be different from your neighbour, or someone else walking beside you in the street, perhaps someone living alongside you in your dwelling space. You may each experience a different version of that reality, and that is determined by your own recognition and identification as you analyse your thoughts and reactions, many of which are from your learned responses.

In returning you to experience the energetic DNA sequencing and the presence within various higher evolved groups or Council Beings, you are already improving upon your reality.

Expanding your receptivity beyond this again, you will be experiencing collecting the energy pattern presented through various known star systems. These are not known as you would observe in your night sky.

We are referring to systems and patterns of different vectors or light frequencies which are encoded with elements. Perceive this. Perceive that you are existing within this particular starfield matrix of energy codes. Some of these will be emitting energy beams, pulses, and already you may be sensing these and they are interacting with different elements within your own energetic form.

This is the main purpose of this deliverance to you today in this experience - to feel that you are receiving these adjusting elements for you. They can be useful to disintegrate the appearances which have been overlaying you for some time, and these of course are conditioned. They have been presented to you throughout many lifetimes. If you are prepared for the disintegration of those belief systems, then you are able more quickly to return to that state of evolution where you are overseeing much of the development and transformation happening in different layers around where you are existing on the planetoid at present.

You are engaging a different field of understanding and reality.

So, there are many thought-forms to be dissolved away from you and this is the purpose in this particular transmission experience for you - to be clear.

Then you are open to the next field of consciousness containing that already existing civilisation. Draw this into you now. This is appropriate.

It is presented to you because it is appropriate. You are presented into it, in this particular immersion.

Surrounding you also is that energy sphere - the energy device referred to many times previously, containing what you wish to present to yourself in the appropriate expansion of you, as different dimensional portals align and you become ready for this. It is, as it were, the clothing, the garment, the elements necessary for you now. And you are absorbing it all.

You may have had to go through a cleansing effect prior to receiving this, and these cleansing effects often happen in a particular cycle and each cycle clears a deeper element from you, enabling you to perceive into the expansion, into that matrix defined for you as the starfield matrix.

Gather this all into you now and I am bringing you back into the initial receiving transition space in the Station.

There is more unfoldment of this for you to realise, in your own expansion. Wherever you are, you always have the opportunity. In particular when you lay your body down to rest and you move into a different state of consciousness, you are able to access this again and access more of the particular elements that you are receiving.

We see you enveloped in this and thus it is done

I withdraw from this space at this time

Orem out “

Again this is Lani with you and again I am so grateful Orem for this experience with the different Councils and everything that exists in the states of consciousness that each one of us are.

It reminds me of when people talk about the manifestation of miracles and the miracles are just using that higher evolved state natural to each and every one of us.

Bring all of this back into you now, maintaining the memory of it, remembering it in every way appropriate for you. So, come back into realising that you are reconnecting with your own particular physical unit - your body and everything that is your life pattern and everything you realise is changing about that pattern, as you step forward into the next appropriate layer of consciousness - expansion of consciousness - for you.

Forgetting about the past, being present in the moment - consciously present.

And this is all for you through this transmission at this time. I trust you will follow and work with everything which has been presented to you today and so I end this transmission through the Omega Communications Portal.

Thank you for being here

Lani
