Issue 939

Date: November 1, 2018

Time 2 pm

Today I am opening the Omega Communications Portal again for a new experience, ongoing perhaps, but certainly to connect with you, identifying you as a Being of Light and calling on you, and everyone who is ready, to come into the receiving area of the Station of Light.

So, feel that you are coming in with me and we are moving into specific areas which have been allocated to you. Areas that you are familiar with. Perhaps you see colours around you which welcome you into this space, or perhaps you have Beings here who are waiting for you. It may be different for everyone of us who comes into this space, but in the greeting, there are a series of unfolding energy frequencies which will be specifically attuning you to what is required for you to receive today, through the words, or just by being here in the energy.

“ Welcome through this channel of light. Greeting you today, I have come through the Portal through this receiving station. Be’Lu is my title, or a name that you can identify me as and I have come specifically to uplift and deliver you into the next phase of unfolding energy frequency for you.

You will understand by now through everything you have received, the unfoldments are preparing you in various ways to identify the pattern of light which contains information specifically for you. This is because in the evolutionary process that the planet is experiencing, there are interdimensional gateways presented and so it is through these that there are different groups - masters of energy systems - who are able to identify the gaps and the resistances in the energy frameworks that relate to individual Beings such as you are and to the overall energy system of the planet being. It is important to understand that resistance can create growth but it can also restrict what is received, so the precise intersections through the dimensional gateways allow the energy systems to soften and weaken and reduce the resistance. If you have resistance due to lack of trust, that is easily dissolved when you come into experience the supporting energy framework in this Station.

It helps you to identify again the central core essential aspect of yourself which remains all through your different life patterns and it is evident strongly when you come into this Station of Light, because you have already laid down the resistance which relates to the personality you took on in the lifetime. This leaves you present here more complete with your energy system and it is your energy system which receives the appropriate codes and frequencies and thus you are helped to be more relaxed in this state.

You will also be observing through what I am bringing to you, many of the inner areas within the Station and some of those areas relate to explaining to you more of the energy systems through which the Earth is passing.

It also can help you to explain some of the differences in your individual energy system compared with what is necessary to establish a stronger flow of energy through you into the current circumstances on the Earth planet. This does of course depend on your personal realisation of your energy field structure and the specific higher purpose for you awakening in your present body organism to reconnect in this way.

We are showing you the interface you have between your body of light present here and the dimensional sphere identified as the Station of Light and the connections there are through that into a great number of other dimensional fields, universes of existence, paralleling the existence of Earth in some cases. In other cases giving access to the concepts of higher civilisations who are more evolved, who are more consciously connected in oneness and it also will be depicting to you the different types of Beings coming forward to enhance you, to assist you, to envelop you in the concept of support.

Many of you who have come from distant evolutionary states and you have retained some of the energy systems bringing them into your humanoid form present on Earth, you will realise that you have specific sensitivities to what you experience on Earth. When you are presented into this field of energy in the Station of Light, you are given the opportunity to reorganise some of those energy systems, identifying what you need in the present and also what you do not need, what are inappropriate for you now as you engage in the life stream pattern of Earth. Many of your existences become entangled in what you experience and this causes some resistance. It causes the distortion of the energy processes. We understand, and we do realise that every time you come into the Station, there is a process to disentangle all of the distortions. Following that process, you are enabled to be motivated to identify the specific patterns for you in higher civilisations already established in the Earth’s energy field.

Here you will begin again to experience that. We realise you have been given various names for these energy structures. Crystalline city of light, light civilisations, and more than that, the essential existing palaces and placements. All of those names have an energy frequency pattern and various ones of you identify with specific names. Experience the energy sensations through you in this presentation and you may also visually experience the presentation of you.

You are acknowledged for who you are. You may consider this to be a recharge station and in here and in the areas that you associate with the crystalline light cities, you are also assimilating what is necessary for you. This does need your trust and acceptance. It is also a pattern that may be new to you, to identify yourself in such a way as simply an energy aspect of Creation.

You are important because the specific energy that you are is designed to intersect and relate to and connect into the vast order of unfoldment.

There is also the movement within this Station as a strategy to help you maintain your core strength to present to you the best possible ways to connect with the energy systems. It removes you from identifying with patterns that would want to retain the present way of civilisation on Earth. When you step into the associations given to you in the Station, you are identifying with the aspect of Creation which works in a much more powerful way and you will be experiencing this through you. Consequently, when you move back to restore all of this energy around your physicality you will still be functioning in that other level of energy connections. Everything that you might consider you have to do step by step as a physical function has a higher counterpart and a higher level of activation of the processes necessary. Presently you may be identifying with both levels of creation.

Be aware of everything physically, materially, that you identify with has the higher level of functioning of energy connection.

Be conscious of that and be conscious that this is what you work with initially. You will find it helps you activate and carry out all of the other functions that you may deem necessary, physically.

Also in this Station you step into the energy pattern that does not rely on nor determine lineal time sequence. You may already be receiving what you have established in a different sense, so be open to everything that you are resonating with in this space.

I now bring you back, assembling into a central communication chamber in the Station and I withdraw now from this space

Be'Lu out “

“Acknowledged. This is Ulea with you here and I am stabilising you here. Amongst you there are many groups of Beings who have come through the open portals into this Station of Light. Many of them want to renew connections with you and they also will be identifying your energy essence as it is here, observing the changes, observing the experiences you have on the planet. They also observe possibilities and they are also able to determine through your presence here, the viability of some of the patterns that are put in place already to do with using the new energy spheres.,

You are moving into great unfoldment in the new creations and we observe many of you are ready for that.

With this sense of renewal and new experiences, I regather you in the receiving area of the Station, preparatory to re-establishing your full connection back in your body structure on the planet.

There are many energy patterns you have received through Be'Lu. Be aware of this in your energy pattern, for they will continue to unfold to you, keeping you aligned and strengthened.

I am now accompanying you back into your physicality. It is necessary to assist you sometimes to do this, to ensure the full integration again, for you have received some new conceptual aspects of your existence here.

As the integration process occurs, I leave you also

Ulea out “

This is Lani again, back to me again, and I am with you as you now fully integrate this energy session.

Take a breath in, breathing in what you have experienced, what you have heard, what you saw with your inner vision. Just feel you soak it in as if you are a sponge, soaking it all in, and as you focus on your breathing again, you can open your eyes and fully orient yourself back in your body and your surroundings in the absolute present moment. Are you present, consciously? Perhaps like me, you feel a different light shining through your eyes, a different light within your mind and body. Maybe you feel it differently to that. In whatever way you do experience it, I now leave it with you and the transmission this week is complete and I close the Omega Portal at this time and I appreciate the presence of the many Beings who addressed you and who came around you in this session. I am very grateful to them for this assistance, although I am aware that we are assisting the overall process too.

So, let's gather again next week for another session.

Lani
