“We acknowledge you - all who have come into this receiving state.

Orem addressing you and we have amongst us many of the Beings who assist you as an individual and assist the group consciousness.

The group consciousness we refer to is the overlaying matrix of the energy field and in this you are supported and you support everyone who is aware and who links in with this overall energy field matrix of consciousness. Consciousness being energy. Consciousness being intelligence. Consciousness being an energetic zone in which you can access the information which is available to you from many different states of consciousness you have experienced. In this zone also you connect in as if it is a gravitational attraction to the galactic Beings who come forward, surrounding this Earth Station planet.

It is interesting for you to perceive that whilst you have come into the current body form into the current state of civilisation on planet Earth, you are also existing in a multi-level energy field of existence and some of those layers of existence are maintaining a higher energy field and you are part of that, and at the same time there are other existences which are still experiencing different forms of life patterns. We identify you here now as a highly evolved aspect of the greater consciousness field from your self as coming from your point of origin existence. This is also known as your starfield existence, simply because it arises from Source Energy into an energetic zone and field and this is recognised by you currently as a starfield as you perceive the atmosphere and higher and beyond the atmosphere of your planet in the times of darkness when you are able to see visibly patterns of the greater universe.

They exist. There is a connection.

There is element of movement and all of this you perceive because in your energetic perception and the encoded elements within you, you perceive change and shifts. You perceive intersecting dimensions revealing different portals into existences beyond Earth.

It would appear that you have been limited in your awareness by what has been presented to you since the moment you were born into the current body. There is a known field of data collected and this becomes superimposed over your true energy consciousness state. You have been consciously working to move through that. It is only a layer and as you move through that, you reconnect back to your original point of origin in the greater starfield of creation. In this session today, as you move through that layer that is perceived as a resistance layer, or a limitation layer, you are open to the communication with Beings from different aspects of the inter-planetary connected network.”

“As such, we address you in this time. I come forward, I am known to you already as An-Tur and as I am able to perceive you here, I surround you in a field of pattern, of frequency - perhaps you could call this a shield - purely for the purpose of transition into experiencing a different vibratory rate in the already established civilisation area - the light cities you have come to recognise. The purpose of this also is to match your current energy field into this energy field in this existence, the civilisation.

You may be aware that in the distance surrounding you are other people brought into this state in a similar fashion to you now and yet you are still experiencing it through this energetic field around you in this transportation sphere. This is to help stabilise you initially, because it can seem as if it is a jump from the reality you have been experiencing into this new reality. This is for the purpose of helping you to recognise this state and to perceive it. You may therefore be experiencing a time as if your eyes are fully open and you are perceiving through a vision, through a process of vision, into the current colours and patterns existing here.

Omega Communications Portal Transmissions

Hello. Lani speaking to you and as I begin this session, take time to relax, to turn off thoughts and activities and open your mind and awareness to receive and in this way I connect with you, with your light body consciousness field. Your body of light, and it is this energy body of yours that assembles firstly in the receiving area of the Station of Light. It signifies that as you identify with your light body, you are identifying with a different state of consciousness and it is a reality, it is an aspect that you are. In this way you receive clearly the energy in this dimensional field of the Station of Light so that at the end of the session you can integrate that into your daily life pattern, the physical.

I withdraw now to allow the Beings to come through me, with the intention that we be given helpful information, help in every way that is needed at this time.

Growth of plant life will appear different. The construction of dwelling places will appear different to what you are used to, and so in recognising different shapes, patterns, colours, this helps you to acclimatise to what you will be experiencing. Initially when the transition occurs into this state more closely and physically for you, it will appear that you have just stepped into an area surrounded in a force field, just like you are surrounded in a field to be transported, to be present here, and again there will be adjustment periods that you will be recognising are occurring.

I bring you back now into the assembly area into the Station of Light where you were initially greeted and this will allow a further incorporation into you of the pattern needed. You will be evaluating what you have been experiencing. You will be assisted in the evaluation time and you will also be aware that within the sphere of energy you have around you, you are able to draw upon different aspects of many elements of creation, some of which you experienced in that light state existence and others again you have been made aware that you have encoded in you the information and the patterns, the ways, from your point of origin existence to continue to facilitate ease and order within your physical framework currently and what surrounds that framework in the energy field. We are recognising that many of you are needing clarification of different systems of the body and enhancement as the cells exchange information from the current encoded patterns with the higher encoding patterns of this - it has been described as the energy DNA encoding for you. There has been the processing of all of these between the two systems necessary. Be aware in your rest times you are allowing this process to proceed and it is for the purpose of assisting you.

This was my purpose of presenting myself to you in this session at this time

An-Tur withdrawing now. “

“Orem back addressing you again. There are many of you relate to the way that some of the Beings present the energy to you and it is because you were needing the presentation in this way at this time, and that is why that Being was able to come forward to you. It does depend on what you allow to come to you without judgement, just observation, curious observation and allowance. This was needed for you at this time.

It does include a more precise alignment and there are rapid shifts occurring throughout your energy system, throughout the planetary system itself, the planet Being and this can be disturbing to some individuals. To other individuals it would appear to be joyful and exhilarating. Again, it is your choice of how you react to the experiences. In your daily activities you may already be finding there are sudden shifts in you, sudden change of direction, change in choice, shifts in emotions. Be sure to connect always to the point of origin existence, or perhaps directly to Source Energy through the solar portal which allows it to come through. As the energy comes through, those whose intention is to assist you also come around you with energy patterns. As you extend your awareness, you will be more open to their presence, recognising the presence of Beings. Often they come through with - you would call them devices - which are energy forms for specific purposes. You will be aware that you can use similar energy devices. You may see them in appearance in the dimensional energy form prior to being aware of any physical device and when you are aware of the energy devices and aware of connecting with them, then this is how the coding inherent in you will use the energy to restore, to uplift, to balance, in what is needed. It clears the pathways throughout you. It clears the pathways through the energetic grid around everything and this also clears the pathway for the shift, the greater shift in consciousness of all life. Enjoy this.

This has been the purpose delivered to you today. I withdraw now

Orem out “

Lani back again with you, aware still of Orem, of An-Tur and many of the other Beings I perceive as golden light beings, the shape of a humanoid form but sparkling with light, just because of the dimension and their energy frequency that they function through and as.

Now bring your attention back with me from the assembly area in the Station of Light, perceive what is there around you, and then feel that you are descending again into your physical form. When I say into your physical form, it is you become anchored within your core energy system, but your energy field is very strong around your form and even now the adjustments are taking place for you.

Bring your focus and attention now to where you are receiving this energy and information transmission, the time of the day and when you do bring your attention back to the present moment, you are also connecting into the present dimension, the alignment with pure light of Source.

Thanks again for being here. Thanks to all of the amazing creators who allow us to communicate in this fashion, world-wide and with other galactic Beings.

As I close this session through the Omega Communication Portal there will be no transmission next week, the week after we will continue and meet up again.

Thank you.

Lani
