“Indeed. Orem coming forward to you and embracing you again in the field of energy here which is above your definition of your common words. It is a different dimension of existence and you will interpret that in your own way. It is not labelled. It is simply a different dimension to that which you normally function in.

From this state you may observe the current situation around your particular locality. What are you seeing happening in that locality, from the higher perspective? From this higher perspective as you engage the energy system that you connect with through your point of origin - what energy are you able to bring through? Are you able to connect in with the ultralight spectrum, which is so necessary in many levels and many ways for you each? This spectrum of light energy referred to has the level of upgrade of energy systems, and you could interpret that as strengthening for you. It enables you to be aligned very clearly with the deeper, intuitive patterns because that allows the intuition to enter within you, the impulses, the inner knowing, the inner sensing, which arises from the inner light and the inner dimensions.

It is beneficial to realise that you can draw upon that ultralight spectrum throughout your day as a way of cleansing you and energising you with the energy that is changing you, so that you can exist much more strongly, purposefully and with full awareness into the greater dimensions that exist around you. This helps you realise that you are in that transition stage of moving into the next dimension reality and you may feel you are moving backwards and forwards through different levels until such time as your light energy system has integrated all of this upgraded and activation energy firmly within your physical body, which in turn changes that into the next dimension of your body, as your light body. It is simple, so this is what we present to you in this area of the Station at this presentation for you, engaging you fully in it.

Have you completely stepped into this particular field of energy described to you? It is intensified in this space. It is the same energy that you are receiving through the light coming through the solar portal which is around you here in the Station of Light. In this dimensional state, the focus of that particular solar field energy is more intense, it is stronger for you. So, this again, is helping you.

You may be wondering why there has not been a greater intervention that perhaps you are seeking to purify the planet and people. Remember, free choice. Remember that people have chosen to experience what you are experiencing. Many chose to use it as a means to step into a greater dimensional pattern. By this we do not refer to the body dying, ceasing to live. We are referring to that transition stage of upgrading the current physical body when it is ready, when you are able to absorb all of the shifts required within the energy field throughout you to allow the process to be fully activated.

There are many groups, many Beings, overseeing the process and the progress of you all on Earth and because the greater mass of people have gone into smaller groups, it is easier to address you all and for the energy rays to help each one of you in the group where you may be existing. You could visualise that as you being the receiver of the greater light and it flows out through you. This is the process. You may be aware that the energy in the upper part of your chest, the heart energy centre, has been more active recently. You may have been aware of the light coming in and flowing out from it, and of course, it is working throughout your own energy field. We are working directly with individuals in this way of assistance.

There are groups that have been focusing attention on the planet that have withdrawn as being commanded to withdraw because they were viewed as interfering with the upliftment process. Some of them were purposefully distracting this process, delivering actions that would activate the level of fear and promote fear in people.

Hello, Lani connecting with you again, wherever you are around the world and at whatever stage of livingness you are in - whether you are at home, or an essential worker, or simply you are free to go about your daily routines again - welcome!

Begin again by identifying yourself as greater than your physical form and that is when you acknowledge that you are an Energy Being - a Being of Energy, of Light, and this is required for you to be able to identify yourself as assembling in the receiving area of the Station of Light. Light being the over-riding word and space. In this space, you are able to let go of everything that has been around you and concerning you in your daily life pattern because while you are in this focused state of being your Light self, that light goes back to your Physical self and the light is higher, it's purer, it has much more that is needed for you to take into you in your physical form. It is a way of you helping you basically and truly.

I step back now and allow the Beings in this Command station to address us all.

You are going to find a more positive outcome, positive field of energy and stimulation of many new elements that are coming into creation to support people in a new way. This is engaging the field of existence of the cities of light all around you and this is what is happening arising from the current situation you have been experiencing around the world. Already we are speaking of this as if it has already been completed, it has run its course and you have all arisen into a more purposeful energy activation state.

Many of you will be aware that you are encountering different Galactic Beings helping you, giving you advice, showing you different images, showing you different practices, so be discerning as to the ones that are appropriate for you to engage yourself within and the ones who are closely around you will be attuned and resonating with your energy field and will bring in the inspiration for you at this time.

New creations are needed to manifest the higher level of functioning and this includes the support systems that you can put in place for other Beings and also the manifestation of different types of energy structures. You may already be working to enhance the energy structure of where you are located in your dwelling space, in the vehicles that you use in the structure. The presence of the higher spectrum crystalline light energy is here for this purpose - to imbue all of creation with that higher field of energy and this is part of the transformation that you will see. Use your vision, use your perception to understand this, to manifest it, to see it.

We have been delivering to you specific messages in the last few sessions that we have brought forward to you and this is a continuation of all of those. You have accumulated the information on an energy level and that was necessary, so many of you are still integrating that, analysing it if you need to analyse it with your mental faculties and others of you have absorbed the energy so your vibration is clear and light-filled.

We wish to assure you that the engagement of the Galactic Command of support is very active around you. It always has been and in particular we work with the energy spheres that were implanted for this particular event, to release more information and assistance to clear this pattern. You see, it needed to be understood as to why this occurred, and therefore, the practice of the human race will change following this. It brings a pattern of order back into the state of consciousness, just as you have brought yourself into the correct order and connection with your point of origin. This is happening for all ones on the planet and the planet-being itself.

There is great infusion of light occurring through the energy field matrix surrounding the planet and within the Earth system itself and you are connected with all of that. Remembering this layer of the energy matrix field will also assist you, because that also contains the ultralight, the crystalline energy field. All of your cells receive this and use it.

Having engaged you in the overall sense of all of the Beings who have awakened to themselves as Light Energy forms, you make a very strong layer of dimensional communication. And So It Is.

Beloved, be aware that you are now in the receiving area of the Station. I withdraw now

Orem out “

“Ulea here again, acknowledging that information provided to you that you were experiencing, and it is all about you experiencing it, allowing yourself to integrate it for improvement, upliftment, and the change in civilisation.

This is happening very fast, whereas in previous years as you measure it in the life span of the planet, civilisation changes may have taken many years and many different phases, so this is a rapid change for you.

It is time for you now to return to your physical form, again realising you have absorbed a greater level of energy. You are more vibrant now. There have been layers cleared from you that may have related to the lower emotional field attachments and connection and so you renew yourself and strengthen confidence and vitality.

I leave this with you also

Ulea out “

Thanks Ulea. Lani again speaking with you. Well, this was filled with light and upliftment - wonderful energy refreshment again. I do trust you have listened to the completion of this and now you are fully engaging all of that greater light into you, as I end this session through the Omega Communications Portal today.

Thanks for participating in this and for sharing it, and there will be ongoing energy sessions for you

Love and light to you all. Thank you

Lani
