“Welcome. I am known as Orem and I am here addressing you as a focal point for the assembly of the Galactic Beings who are supporting you, observing you, assisting you in many ways, together with the Council of Light.

There are, if you observe in this space, layers - dimensional layers and energy fields all around you. In the same way, your energy field where you exist in your physicality has these many dimensional layers and aspects to your energy field, so as you have evolved to this point of reconnection into this state of consciousness, you also have evolved to observe how your energy field has been affected by various different layers of conditioning. Have you also been observing and realising recently that many of those layers of disturbance and limited thinking and conditioning aspects have been cleared away from you.

There has been a great amount of attention given to the Earth-plane dimension and its energetic fields to enable this clearance to occur and this is continuing. There are many dimensional aspects coming into alignment around you as an individual and around the planetary sphere and around the moon and around different aspects existing in the energetic fields within the wholistic energy matrix which is known as Earth, to be clear, to be free.

There have been many adjustments made as a result of the dimensional portals that have been opening, allowing a clearer energy flow to come into the planet and also allowing the energy that has been disrupting the higher order to be released, to flow out to be returned to the energy stations that they were emitted from. That is another sense of an energy space beyond Earth Station at this present current location where it is.

What is readily available for you to comprehend is that the Light and codes included in that Light have been sufficient up until this present moment in your reality to enable this layer of clearance to occur - of the energy field. We bring this to your attention in this way in this gathering so that you fully experience this being cleared from your energy system as it is present here.

There have been many layers that you have been involved with. Some of these have been the instrumentation around you that had created this confinement - this energetic field - as part of this civilization that you have been experiencing in your current lifetime to now. You must fully realise that by your choice you have been shedding many of those layers. Many of those layers have been contradicting what your inner knowing has been revealing to you, so as you are receiving the pure element as it was in your original existence - your original point of existence as a humanoid being - as you realise the fulness of that - you are allowing that clarity to come into the civilization. In this point, while you will be seeing disturbances among people who are very busy trying to block the higher energy information to come through, there will be a cross-over point when the energy that is available to you all currently now is allowed to be understood, in an individual way. It is an individual choice. You will see that people remain in the fight or flight mode by their choice, so in this moment what is being suffused, or around, and is available in the energetic overlaying starfield matrix around you all, resides there, exists there.

You are playing your part even if you are observing what is presented to you through current media ways, by your observation from your higher point of existence, there is the opportunity given for the expansion of consciousness for the clearance of that pattern. Simply by being aware that the pattern of clearance is there, it is available for those ones who are ready. This comes in different waves and different ways to general people, but again, it is a freedom of choice which people can take that opportunity or continue to remain where they are.

Omega Communications Portal Transmissions

Hello, Lani speaking to you, as we begin today's inner journey and the inner journey expands you into an outer state of consciousness - a greater state of consciousness - and it is in this way that your energy body that I identify as your body of light is able to immediately be with the gathering of us all in the receiving area of the Station of Light. Into this great dimensional space - multi-levels, multi-dimensional area in the Station of Light.

So, here you are and here we begin today's experience.

A little reminder - make sure your body is comfortable and that you can have this time devoted to you for your well-being, upliftment and expansion of consciousness.

Now moving away from that state, come into your knowingness that there has been a conversion happening throughout your energy body and therefore throughout all layers of the energetic cellular pattern and the codes, converting what had been existing in your existence, converting it into a higher field of comprehension and that in turn lifts you up and converts your current existence pattern into a higher field of existence. As you realise that this is already happening, it gains momentum in you and the energy field will be helping you to sustain the higher existence and for the realisation to come to you for the energy on your pathway to be revealed as the clear pattern that existed already and is waiting for you to continue your involvement into that, recognizing the new services available to you, the newer connections, the clearer connections, to the ongoing expanding field of the Galactic Federation waiting for you again, to co-exist in that state.

This is a general reminder again, in a simple way, so that you recognize this.

You may be aware as you are presenting yourself here, that there is a greater activation in some of the energy field around you identified as your initial heart processing vortex that takes in all of this energy, reminding you of your pure state of existence, reminding you of more patterns of creation for you to be bringing into manifestation around you.

In this moment it is the expansion of this sensation containing the field of concept which contains the principles of manifestation and expansion into that and you will be adapting to this, you will be interpreting it, you will be allowing it to unfold in your day to day existence, filling what you do with a higher dimensional field of existence. In this way you may realise there is expansion into the different layers known as dimensional fields to you. It is a continual process of engaging this energy and allowing yourself to evolve and transform into the upgraded level of existence.

This may be different to your expectations, if your expectations are based on how you have interpreted perhaps visual media processes. It is always an individual way. Remember, you have had many visitations to the dimensional existence known as the crystalline light cities, so that is the part that you will be resonating with in your energy field here. Already in your community in your current lifestyle you may be experiencing this. Remember to deselect observations and relationships that may have come in around you, where you recognize that they do not belong into this Light City civilization where you are focusing yourself within. It will seem that your relationships and what you notice around you will be different to a neighbor's observation and relationship, so you must come back to your own personal identity as a Being of Light tuned into the greater evolved Galactic state of consciousness, a greater sense of Oneness and of recognizing that the Earth station is already evolving into that status of being a planet of Light, of expansion of consciousness.

This is given to you many times and each time you recognize a different level of what is being presented to you. This is always the underlying purpose for you being brought into this Station of Light and greater consciousness field. It may not answer questions that you have in your mind that relate to Earthly conditions, but it will answer inner knowing senses and your desire to bring yourself into a higher state of realization and manifestation. This is a natural process and so we recognize this station and your status in the life pattern.

This is what is available to you at this time and I bring your awareness back to your presence in the initial gathering receiving area of the Station.

Thus, I withdraw

Orem out "

Thank you, Orem.

This is Lani again and I acknowledge the transformation happening within this particular experience today and I acknowledge that it will continue to unfold.

As I observe all of you gathered here, I observe the state of happiness, of joy being reflected from every one of us back to everyone of us. I also acknowledge the presence of the other Beings around us and this is what I would remind you - that you bring all of this back into your current body and lifestyle, which is changing.

So, bring all of this back now, fully into your physical energy presence, manifesting in you, reminding yourself that you are an energetic lifeform that has different densities to it that are recognised as the physical body, because the body is needed to exist in the present gravitational existence on Earth.

Thank you again for receiving this and being with me and I end this session through the Omega Communications Portal.

Do make sure you focus in the current day and time, bringing yourself back into the present moment, in the presence of your Light Self and all of the Light Beings.

Thank you

Lani
