"Greetings to you. Orem addressing you.

As you bring your attention and focus into this space, you realise you are very familiar with space and you see around you a variety of aspects of Beings, but we also bring to your attention here the greater image you have your known solar system - of that matrix of energy around you which you identify as the starfield and all of the connections that this has within your own resonating field, your energetic matrix field, as you exist in your space.

We bring this to your attention foremost because it allows you to resonate completely with the greater energy formation - the structure of what Creation is - and the energy field that embraces all aspects of Creation. That does include what you know as planets, as stars, even as what you call space junk or aspects of meteorites that become dislodged and dispersed with certain disintegration processes of Creation. All of this is known to you. In bringing this to you at this time, you will feel you are being precisely aligned and repositioned into a different existence known to you as an altered dimensional field of existence. It is not labelled in terms of numbers or descriptions. Just refer to it as multi-dimensional aspects, extra dimensions to what you are familiar with, that you have been brought up in your culture to recognize and as you have evolved in and through the cultural limitations and understanding, you realise there are multi levels to your existence. You will also realise your presence here indicates this is the most important aspect of your existence for you to identify with, as the physicality that you have. That is important because it allows you to be stationed where you are in relation to planet Earth-being and you are able to bring in the resonating energy field from other civilisations which are intended to serve everything that is evolving and changing around you.

You are all recognizing there has been an expansion in your consciousness - in your realisations. You will also perceive there are others who have not responded to the incoming flows through the solar portal. You may observe those ones, those beings, those cultures, the civilisations that are very fixed in relationship to their position and how they perceive their timeline to be.

You have made the choice to go beyond that, merely by stepping into this existence where you are communicating with us and you will be feeling the resonating field through the words impacting upon your energy field structure as it is here. This is increasing the sense of your greater separation from what was and it is increasing your sense of the viability that you have to process more of the coded information that you are receiving through the solar portal and the alignment of different galactic patterns. It will seem that more of these are coming into your awareness and this is in relationship to your resonance. What we are saying is it is one. You are resonating with a different galactic image and concept and because of that resonating influence and pattern, you are drawing that into your current civilization.

This is the importance of your realization as you continue to strengthen your consciousness field connecting in with the originating principle of your existences - that point of origin existence. Always, this is your connection point and you get to that through your conscious linking with your highest evolved self. It is a layer, you see, that helps you to connect into that original point of existence for you, and that contains the blueprint, it contains the pattern of what your intention was when you came forth from that to enter within your consciousness field and awareness of your physicality in this current lifetime.

We are bringing forward to also reconnect into your consciousness many of the times you have been communicating with and when you were aware of your coexistence with other Galactic Beings. This occurred for many of you in various timeline junctures in your pattern of life.

Hello. Lani speaking to you again as the facilitator of these sessions and to help you identify yourself in an ever-increasing way as a Being of Light. Your energy field around you that fills your space where you are receiving this is your very strong connection to the energy consciousness field of Creation. So, you already are everything that is, and yet the receiving area of the Station of Light and all that it brings into this field of consciousness around Earth helps you to understand and interpret the energy signals and to communicate with the greater, what we call the Galactic Federation, the Galactic Guild of Beings, because you, and we, all of us, are galactic species. Perhaps as humanoids on Earth we are one galactic species.

Come with me and step into the energy field known as the receiving area of the Station of Light, ready to begin today, unlocking further aspects of self, connecting more deeply into aspects of self, as we begin today.

It was strongly with you in the first composition of a number of years you recognize as six or seven years in your passage of time on Earth. This related to the connection as the Earth was revolving as it came back into the juncture that aligned you with your original point of existence. Many of you may relate that to a particular planet, or galaxy, or level of existence in some other way. Then as you became more enmeshed in the coordination and the facilities and functions of the current civilization, that connection appeared to diminish. It did not become separate. You chose to become separate from it so that you could experience life as it is in the civilization and then you could experience restoring the aspects of Creation from your point of origin into all of those experiences and therefore this is the moment in the intersection of these dimensional existences for you to become more involved again in your particular function that originated as your intention from your original point of existence.

Experience this as it settles within your energetic form here as you are present with us. We observe this and we acknowledge this happening for you as you allow this to occur - this deep reconnection.

Now we move you into a deeper aspect again within the Station where you have access to various visionary portals through which you can observe through different areas of civilization upon Earth planet, and you can also observe the times where Earth and its Beings were assisted by other Galactic Beings who came forward to envelop Earth, to reinforce the potential and it is this aspect that is known as potential that we bring to your recognition at this time. As you observe through the portals through time realities, you will also be aware of this greater potential that is offered. This is something we do constantly from within this Station of Light here. We are reminding you that you are part of this. It may also be other areas, not just Earth planet as it is, but in other areas where you may feel like a gravitational pull to observe and to be within certain structures, certain elements of creation and because this is happening out of physical time reality, you could be immersed within a particular dimensional existence, or reality, for a life span. It is only occurring at the appropriate time intersection for what was required for you to experience and learn from and to bring that back, releasing it into the overall potential that is Creation. It does not mean you need to pursue those particular aspects. This is all intended at your present understanding, to release from you many concerns, and many attitudinal thought patterns and emotional responses that you may have experienced in your observation and reality experience. So, as you become aware that you are within this Station again, from an observational point of view, you understand that you are not affected by anything you have observed in that experience.

Now, as you bring your attention back to your current lifetime, it is from this same observational pattern that you may be looking at your timeline. So, from this higher aspect you will see the times that you reacted very strongly, or became enmeshed in some pattern, at the time you felt it was the appropriate action and way to be and now you realise you are more appropriately needed to be fully connected to your original intention and point of existence with its pure energy. Feel the shift within you in this moment and all that this means to you.

We bring you back to awareness of being in the receiving area of the Station. This is a vast space to gather within and it expands as a plane of existence and so you may observe many people and many creatures in this plane of existence, all gathered as a representation of consciousness in its many forms. You are in the placement that you chose to be in the current life pattern and already you have absorbed the resonance from the areas where you were working most highly, from a highly evolved aspect, and all of that is part of you.

We also advise you we have not come into your awareness and into the presence of Earth to overturn or overcome any situation or groups of beings. We offer our presence because it is the potential of creation and it is the reformation offered to reposition you back into the highest evolved state where there is ongoing connection and alignment processes through many of the intersections through dimensional connections and portals. It is all about the energy which you are receiving, which Earth is receiving, and all Beings. This is where you are in this expanded field of consciousness.

This was the energy that was needed for you at this time in this visitation.

Orem out “

Lani again now. Thank you Orem. That was a journey through time, observing different realities and constructs which you will have been aware of in your own sensory perceptions and you will have seen what was appropriate for you to see, or know, or hear about in this presentation where you were.

Now bring your focus back to this highest point of existence and this is what you are living as now in this point of existence. You are realising that highest aspect of Creation that you are.

Bring this back to your body form now, in and around your body form in that amazing energy sphere, or field, around you. I was realising this morning that it is a form of bioplasma - that was the closest word we have in our current language to identify this type of energy that we each are and is around us. I trust you will be experiencing this also, because when one receives it and realises it, everyone has that opportunity also and is in that same energy field. This is why creators all around the world are creating the same thing, even though they may not be physically in contact with each other. It is the collective consciousness - the higher field consciousness that we are connected in with that is important, above the limitations of the field we entered into in Earth, and that is becoming weaker, which is why you are able to access higher existences and your point of origin existence.

Bring this all into you now, breathe in, become aware of the current time and day. Thank you.
