Session 1073

Date: June 3, 2021, Thursday

Time 9.00 am

Omega Communications Portal Transmissions

Lani presenting this to you, stationed in New Zealand, and yet, as I connect with you, we exist out of country, out of even Earth structure. Even though your body is of the Earth structure energy, you can be clear of that body by identifying with your essential light body - the eternal consciousness that has entered into this body for this life journey you are experiencing.

Already you have identified with this and I connect with you all to be present in the initial receiving area of the Station of Light which is associated with Earth planet. This is where we begin, as usual.

"I come forward to greet you and welcome you into this space, Beloved. Orem coming forward to you and in the greeting, I draw you deeper into realization and perception of your presence here.

Have you already been taking the steps to manifest the dimensional existence previously referred to - the dimensional existence including a higher vibration, frequency. Each time you reconnect with your point of origin and the energy presented through this Station, which is the energy presented through your solar portal, your energy systems vibrate to the higher frequency pattern coming through to you. In this way you are manifesting the greater dimensional field of existence.

Remember, it is about you realizing there are spheres of civilization created all around you through mass consciousness and through dictatorship and yet, you must become more fully conscious that you emerged into a series of events or experiences or phases of existence to bring the higher dimensional frequency pattern into your manifested lifeform and your manifested creations supporting that lifeform. Always, our emphasis is to bring you into that state of consciousness where you realise you are bringing in this greater civilization sphere of reality and all of the concepts within that sphere of reality. If you visualize this in comparison with Earth, it is in a distant placement beyond the Earth's surface and the Earth's atmosphere in its bio sphere and you are bringing in the resonating frequency through the solar portal and beyond that.

It is a mass of energy potential and we have been assisting you to return to your original point of potential which you are expressing and unfolding and as you continue to do that, it increases exponentially and this is the patterning of the extra dimensional existence we often refer to and many other Beings refer to this in their own way. Perhaps it is always presented in an individual pattern which you can identify with and whether you resonate with that or not, you will always, by your intention, resonate with the true pattern for you. It is all there.

Now that you have integrated this into you, we are bringing you into the energy pattern here within the Station where we have a collection, or a gathering of Beings, who are working with some individual patterns of creation that were, and have been, and are presented into various areas of planet Earth.

These encapsulated many seeds of plant life, many seeds of intelligent resonating frequency patterns which bring forth the creations which are appropriate for the expanding field of consciousness. There are other spheres that were introduced into the planetary matrix relating to areas where people would go to for repair. All of this has already been presented into the Earth Station and has already been activated. Because we are talking beyond the limits of time and measurement, all of this has already been activated and is already part of your consciousness field. Do you relate to any of this? Do you feel the resonating response within you as you recognize some individual aspects that are presented to you?

While we have referred to a few individual spheres of energy information and patterns and seeds, all of those encapsulate the configuration necessary for the unfoldment of them all and the expansion of them all and the connection of them all into the extra-dimensional existence. Again, words. Words can limit, words can free, words by their definition can limit. Therefore, we always reiterate to you that the words are concepts, just as the spheres of energy are potential and concepts, containing everything that is needed.

You only need to connect with these dynamic energy spheres, and you will be receiving the information necessary for you as you participate in the ongoing expansion, the ongoing upliftment, the ongoing reformation for many of you of the proper patterns within your physicality units. We refer again to the blueprint pattern and the areas within that, that were activated in the current phase you experience also interact with these energy spheres within the Earth structure.

As you become more attuned to perceiving in the expanded dimensions, you become more aware of the energy spheres and patterns and the Beings who are connected with them in support of you as an individual.

We recognize even though you have willingly come into the Station for more energy and information patterns and explanations, there is and can be aspects of your conscious mind that resist, or that counteract the energy information coming in. When you do consciously connect with your original point of origin, you integrate all aspects of your consciousness with that greater purpose and intention and it synchronizes all of the aspects of you. The conscious mind referred to is also to do with patterns of individual awareness of self, of protection, of denial and the aspects that relate to physical teachings that have been implanted into your mind, into your living patterns. Therefore, when you continue to explore your full potential, you come into full agreement and the participation of all aspects of your consciousness helps the unfolding expansion for you.

We refer in this moment to those of you interested in traveling to other planets. Remember, your traveling inter-dimensionally in journeys such as this and your individual inner journeys is all preparation for further physical exploration, as your scientific body are working on. By your intention and traveling into other galactic dimensions and their existences, you are supporting the inner life you have and you are supporting yourself who will be present in those other galactic fields of consciousness that you travel to.

In such cases when you are aware you are in other galactic dimensional areas, you are responding to and you are receiving, you are communicating with the existence in those dimensions. These inner connections are vital to your essential essence of your well-being, of your inner being, of your true beingness as a Conscious Being.

All of this that is presented to you helps you to understand who you are and it helps to open up the communication channels within you. These are not just verbal communications. The communication channels also facilitate the transference of the energy codes of information throughout your energy form, throughout your consciousness field as it relates to your life pattern, the life pattern of the body you have and the life pattern of other life bodies existing in other realities. Remember, you are a multi-dimensional being. Remember that your focus is within the physical form that is part of this presentation and immersion into this presentation to you in this.

As I now return you to the receiving area, you will be aware that you are being evaluated. You are valued. You are one of the necessary components of the extra-dimensional civilization, because you are conscious of it and this is all part of your purpose for your existence in whatever reality.

You are valued.

This is my presentation to you at this time.

Orem out “

Lani again speaking, gathering you consciously into this space and absorbing and allowing the energy and information to continue to reveal to you more of what was presented as each day goes by. It compounds everything else that has been presented and Commander Orem encapsulates everything that is presented to you now, in the future, what has been - it is all present now with you.

So, bring all of this back to anchor it into your physical presence. Your physical presence is much more than physical - it is your energy presence. Again, it is words that define in a small way, so we are consciously stepping outside of the definition to experience the energy, in the way that is appropriate for you.

Take in a breath, a conscious breath, allowing the integration of all of the energy into you, allowing it to help you in every way that is needed. Allowing it to expand your consciousness field to bring in creations and even just to appreciate and love who you are and what is around you. Love everything that may be changing. Love the concepts that were presented that you heard, that you received in this session.

Again, it is necessary to remind you, as you take in another breath, locate yourself back with your physical body and your location and into time measured as a point, a moment, on Earth, realising that it is a connection to a greater dimensional field of experience and you are bringing it right back into the present moment with every breath you take.

Thanks again for being here, and I end this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
