“Now, you have come together into this space we come forward and surround you in support and in that support there is the ongoing introduction to you of different passages that you have made through time and through different realities and many of you acknowledge that this is the time when you are able to collect more information and the information may be referred to as coming through your media into the public knowledge. Alongside that of course is still a filtration of the information to come forward.

It is true that the information to come forward would not be readily acceptable to many people present in the body on Earth currently, so in these gatherings that we have drawn you into, we are celebrating you and holding you in the space where you have the opportunity to recognize that many of the circumstances that are being outworked and considered to be disaster regimes or de-population regimes are all a sequence of events that have been called in by many of you and you would see the purpose for that has many facets to it.

One of those is that the population must realize they need to care for the planet and care for themselves and that includes acknowledging the energy field and the vitality that is provided within the biosphere of the planet that you are existing within.

You are existing within the perfect biosphere for all of the natural elements to be absorbed. While we talk about one biosphere, it is not a unique or a solitary biosphere in the overall planetary system of many other galaxies and even in the current Galaxy that you identify as your Milky Way Galaxy, there are many aspects of other planets and they all have their particular biosphere. To some that might be called the atmosphere, but we are including the vital elements necessary to maintain the physicality that you exist in that houses your body of light and it's necessary to acknowledge that. Through the solar portals of the galaxies as a collective Galactic formation and consciousness state, all are receiving flows through each of the solar portals and this is an overall updating, upgrading and in many cases you would be feeling a regeneration of vitality within you, when you allow yourself to connect into the flow of energy.

So, our purpose in gathering you together is to hold you in the open space and state where you are significantly adapting to these flows of energy. They have come forward as it were through the portal due to different dimensional alignments and activities and there was the necessity within the Earth energy construct for the higher vital essence to come in. So, remember this.

You are able to draw on the energy that is coming through the solar portal at any time of your day and night by your clear intention.

This will be revealing to you more of the groups who come forward as messengers to you and they will be communicating short messages to you. If you hear only two or three words, that is sufficient for you to receive an inflow, a packet of information and energy and you are.

Gathering of Light Beings - #9

June 26, 2021

Lani speaking to you. You are invited to come with me into a special space, a dimension of light, where we are being called together - a gathering of light beings - and you are a being of light which is why you are able to come into the space, because you consider yourself, you have accepted and you know yourself, to be a being of light within the Galactic creation.

So we begin.

In these words that we deliver to you there is the presence of you receiving within the solar portal for you,

There are similar gatherings occurring in other solar systems, so it is not unique to you.

You will be noticing that there are aspects of your energy systems adjusting to the flows of light. You may be experiencing twinges of nerve pains, you may be experiencing muscle twitches or tension, you may be experiencing different rhythms as your physical heart responds to the upgraded energy system. It is similar to switching to a new energy system and your body is adjusting to that already.

You will be sensing you are receiving this above the energy field of planet Earth and indeed we drew you beyond the biosphere of the planet to be in this gathering and to more clearly receive energy through the solar portal. This is done.

Now you will return to your physical positions.

Lani speaking again and those Beings withdraw.

There's a sense of kindness and joy from them as they look at you as they depart - several of them that I observe and there may be more in particular focused on you.

So, feel that energy field you have received and bring this back down into your body. I am personally feeling it as if a golden beam of light is beaming onto my heart energy center-chakra if you call them that name. My energy system that is activated through that heart energy centre will respond to this higher energy.

So, all of you just breathe in the patterns of light energy and information, filling you from the top of your head right down to your toes and filling and surrounding your energy field.

This ends this gathering.

Thank you

Lani
