“Welcome and greetings to you all, each of you individually and you as a group assembly here of people attuned into the same frequency pattern. I am known to you as Orem and I am surrounded. As you are surrounded, by Galactic Beings.

As you come forth today, we are speaking to you as a particular frequency pattern. You know that you respond and you resonate with various frequencies and the frequencies can be likened to colors or musical tones, a vibration that many of you know and this is what you resonate with. So in this space the particular purpose for bringing you here today is for you to experience a particular frequency. The frequency we refer to is part of the established energy matrix field around you and throughout you and within every aspect of your physical body and especially here as you are in this responsive energy field as you are here as this Being as light.

This is important for you to realize. The frequency you have the ability from your original point of existence to draw upon for various needs within your individual energy field. You could analyze this or you could sense that this would help to clear and cleanse aspects of you. It could help to regenerate aspects of you. Remember, intention relies on your focus and your connection to the original purpose and the overall pattern known as the blueprint and it is in many ways a transitional state because the blueprint adapts to the frequency patterns coming through your solar portal. So, indeed many of you feel this energy coming into you either from above your head or in through your heart center or through your solar plexus center. There are many ways that you absorb the energy field.

In another respect we could say your entire energy field is a receptor and so you receive and you would receive it in the particular areas that are relative to the needs that you have for balancing, for purification, for regeneration.

Having said this to you now and having you experience the energy, the frequency, patterns throughout you we now draw you deeper into a further established meeting communication space within this area of the Station. Here you have that group of Beings identified as the Council of Light Beings. This is not one fixed group of Beings.

We come forward in many different stages, depending on what is appropriate for the particular synchronization patterns in the unified consciousness field around your planetoid. So, as we come forward to you and you come forward into this area, you may be aware that you are being given specific instructions again. This is the appropriate dimensional field that you have aligned with which will open up certain areas within your consciousness so you would be aware of being shown particular information. There is a great movement occurring in many of the landmasses above the water level on your planet and this relates to certain areas actively receiving information through the solar portal and through the Galactic Beings who are channeling energy and information into you and into the planetoid. This relates also to what you might call interstellar communication centers. There are communication centers within the plasmic field throughout all of creation and all of the systems that have been established as waystations or planetoid stations and in particular, for the Earth planetoid, you will be aware that there is energy entering into the inner aspects of the planet and into areas that are under the masses of water. In this way, be aware that the energy patterns or the frequency patterns are receiving, just as you are receiving and there is a synchronization happening. There is a balancing happening.

You are well aware that there has been an out of balance situation occurring.

Remember that out of balance situations bring into a pattern of alignment and balance those aspects of creation which are needing it and the Beings who are aware that they need balance.

Omega Communications Portal Transmissions

Lani speaking to you again, gathering you up from the physical plane reality and everything that we relate to externally and with the conscious mind. In the gathering up I'm calling you forth and I'm recognizing you as a Being of light.

It is this Being of light essence of you that comes with me and the many other people who assemble in the receiving area of the Station of Light. Feel it. Know it. Sense that you are in a greater gathering and assembly point, a stepping off point, a transition space as it has been called at other times. and here we begin today.

In this respect there is a coordinated overlaying energetic frequency impulse and pattern presented to the consciousness levels of people on the planet. Already you would understand that many people have sought subterranean energy systems and pathways in an attempt to protect themselves and to separate themselves. In effect there is no particular necessity for that. The necessity is for the upraising of the energy vibration of every individual. It is those ones who are not aware of this and who have no conscious awareness that they are able to reconnect to a very higher dimensional point of creation, which in effect creates a field of strength throughout the body and around the energy field. You will realize how this relates to current circumstances.

In your presentation into this communication area of course you are viewing the planetoid from a different dimension and you may see patterns of people overlaid with a particular color or a particular energy field and you would see that vibrating and connecting from one to another. Well, from your viewpoint in this dimension, you will also observe the clearer frequency pattern that exists above everything around the planet. Part of this overlaying energy field and the matrix of it, the natural kingdoms and natural elements of earth already receive it. They are of that higher dimensional frequency. There are many aspects of creation that continue to exist around and within the plant life, the forests, around the waters, around the earth structure of the minerals and so you would realize that because all of that natural Kingdom already receives a higher energy frequency pattern this is another way for you to enhance your particular energy field. Even as you are receiving this as an individual and your physical energy systems related to the reality of the denseness on Earth and physicality is also receiving it, there are other ones who are linked with you who will become aware in some way. It may just be they are aware of the beauty of the waters, the beauty of the forests, the beauty of the creatures who are filled with the care of others. This is a reminder to you. In the same way, those of us present with you are surrounding you in this pattern, the frequency pattern, and again in this space you will be receiving the appropriate frequency pattern for you.

From this area you may be aware that you are encircling the planetoid and you are encased in a vehicle. This is for observation purposes and you are accompanied by a group of Beings as part of this particular experience who observe any spots, places in the energy matrix field that need strengthening and in that way the energy is available to more of the lower group consciousness around the planet.

We have gone into detail with you about this and you will be aware that the information is being fed back through the observation of you as a humanoid vehicle with the consciousness that is able to convey what you observe as a humanoid, bringing that back into those within this Council of communicators so that the data is analyzed. In effect, there is an aspect of you that is feeding back the energy needed into the different levels of reality being experienced by people.

There is also this opportunity for you to feel the enhancement throughout your beingness as you are present here and so as all of this unfolds naturally through all the levels of your consciousness, you again are manifesting and creating this greater field that you resonate with in these sessions.

We bring your attention back now to this communication area and you will see through the observational images that there has already been a change. There has already been a clearance in some of the land bases around people. This may not be reported to you, therefore you will need to maintain the knowledge of this. This is what we would ask you to retain as we bring you back to the initial receiving area here. All of this is relevant to you wherever your body form is existing and the body form has many elements to it and there are many dimensional elements to it coexisting in energy patterns that you may relate to as different life experiences.

Therefore, there is a balancing occurring throughout all of your aspects of existence. Feel this. Know it. It is. We withdraw now.

Orem out “

Lani again with you here and I am aware that the Being known as Ulea is also here with us. So, welcome Ulea and the group of Beings you bring forward with you.

“There is a combination we would express to you here as I come forward just to briefly communicate with you. Ulea speaking to clarify that for you. You will have realized there is a shift in the energy field around you and the purpose of this particular aspect of creation to you is to assess your energy field. Are you comfortable with what you have been experiencing in this session? Are you able to allow yourself to relax that conscious mind aspect that you have, to realize the quantum aspect of you existing in a multi dimensional fashion? There are some minor adjustments that you may be aware of taking place to help you and so I leave you with this now.

Ulea out.”

Again, Lani speaking. thank you Ulea and the ones around you and us.

Now feel that you take a giant step and you come back into your physical body. This is you, the dimensional Being as a Light Being stepping back down into the physical body and as you do that, as you take in a breath of all this amazing frequency, you will be anchoring it within every energy aspect of your physical body. Celebrate this. Feel it. Know it and remember it often during your days, when you wake up and before you go to sleep. More of this will continue to be working, I know and remember you observed a pattern of clearance around the world.

Again, just take in a gentle breath, filling yourself with the higher pattern of light and bring yourself back as you open your eyes into your locality and the present moment.

Again thank you for being here and I thank the creators of the images that I use in these sessions. I don't know who created them but I appreciate and I'm grateful for them. This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal
