Lani speaking to you again, linking with you in preparation for your entry into the Station of Light, part of the Earth consciousness existing in a dimension that is all around us but it takes a particular focus to enter within this space.

So, as usual, I ask you to take in a lovely natural breath and as that vital essence that you breathe in permeates everywhere in you, it helps you to transition into the receiving area of the Station of Light.

It is often all about focus and intention and allowing yourself to receive. Have you integrated the previous sessions information and energy? Did it bring you forward, or expand you into different realizations about yourself and your life? So what can we be open to receive in this session? I know the Beings are present around us so we begin the session today like this.

"Orem addressing you as you step further into the dimensional presence here, the existence, as you allow yourself to expand into it, as you realize your true essence that is your light body is fully present here and has come forward to remember and to reconnect different aspects of your original purpose and your original point of existence so that you can manifest this truly in your light body and then truly into the Earth existence into the physical plane.

The portals are all open and there are many dimensional alignments and shifts occurring within you, around you and around the planet and indeed throughout many other creative experiences of life and existences in what you would call other planets and other stations. You are immersed in this. It completely encompasses you. Again we give you the thought that you are the center of your particular universe, so it's a universal aspect of yourself which is emanating out from you what your purpose is, what your presence is, into everything that you are in contact with. That could be in your immediate facility and that can be into other timelines. That can be into your entire journeys since the first breath you took in, in this particular body you have and it can also be into other dimensions that have not been realized by you yet. That opens the gateway for your presence to be present in multi forms, multi dimensions and for you to be receiving and accessing the information needed for you. You can work with this separately from the current immersion you are experiencing and you will only receive what is appropriate for you.

Remember, your true essence is light and that light form that it exists as is also changing in accordance with the energy flows coming in through the solar portal that you naturally receive simply because it is your intention to align yourself with your pure energy source, with the vitality, with the vital essence and purpose for you. These words we understand they resonate with you and when you resonate with something or some aspect of energy, your energy form responds to it and therefore the aspects of your physical form that are also in alignment with that, will receive, will respond, will improve because the energy that you resonate with from your pure vital source is always uplifting and it assists the process that you would call freedom. Freedom is interpreted in many ways in your present circumstances and understanding level of the cultures of the civilizations.

We are speaking about allowing the true essence of you the freedom and for you to recognize that your true essence is always free and in the freedom process you are activating the higher sequencing that has been brought to your attention and in this way you are moving into the expansion of what you think about as your home planet or as planet Earth and how that connects with the energetic frequency pattern throughout creation. We again have drawn you into experiencing that overlaying energy matrix field. Do you sense it? Do you sense that you have moved further away from the location where planet Earth is stationed and we use these words so that you accept that it is moving, that there is a shift occurring and as your awareness moves into a more cohesive state with expanded consciousness you may be feeling that you are withdrawing deeper and deeper into a different state and you are receiving more than these words that we are able to bring forward through this current vessel we use. Therefore, listen in a very expanded state of awareness as you are exploring your presence in a different reality. You are creating and you are bringing what you are creating in that other reality into your systems of light and creativity and you are bringing information in that is appropriate for you now. You were able to access this.

There are other ways to assist you to access this but we are presenting this to you in this way in this session so that you are aware there is a pattern existing, a process, a pathway which allows you to access information and creation patterns that you will be able to use as you assist the expansion of your life as you move forward freely into a higher state of civilization. This is what you came into the current body form to help facilitate this expansion. It is stressed and given to you many times and in variables which you can relate to and respond to and the you that we are speaking to in that respect is the conscious mind you, the thought patterns which oftentimes like to analyze and put into a particular order and placement. When you move beyond that and you allow the simple state of knowingness which is your vital essence as your light body systems, then the natural processes are activated more readily and in an expansion, ongoing, moving through different patterns and as you move through different patterns, the conscious mind might have thought oh there's a layer, there's a barrier and that is named this or that. Do you understand what we're saying here? That it is a very limiting concept that exists in aspects of the mind patterns that have been trained and conditioned for that. Always our intention is to shift you into that pure consciousness state where you truly know and experience the expansion.

There is a process that you have engaged yourself with in simply put as shifting the gears so that there is more power, more life enjoyment coming into you and in this process of course you are stepping into the energy situations that coexist with us in this Station of Light and indeed as you become more conscious of this and your activity within the Station, this allows you to expand your experience of it and to observe the relativity of it to pockets of consciousness within and around other people on Earth, other beings who have reconnected to the true essence of themselves, the higher levels of consciousness expanded, the deeper inner greater. There again are many variables in the terminology given to you. Again of course this satisfies the curiosity of the conscious mind.

In this gathering and as you have moved into a plane of existence away from actual human physicality existence, you again are participating in sending out information packages contained in energy packets but packets is not the correct word as we deliver it to you. It is an energy formation which is filled with the potential and the actual processes needed and what we are referring to is this energy being sent out into different layers of existence. In particular we refer again to layers of existence that have been experienced on the planet Earth organism and station. This could be said that you are sending energy spheres containing this information and energy into different civilizations many of which you will be aware of in your historical documents and there are others that are not fully described in historical documents however, those existences continue to be present. The information that you are disseminating and placing into those civilizations is accepted by specific individuals who recognize that there are elements missing that are needed in that particular civilization and so progress and evolution occurs.

From your perspective here that we are presenting you this information to and you are within it, also be aware that there is this energy sphere of information that you are sending forth into what is called your current civilization and as this is received and put into different levels of creation, there is the emergence of the civilization that you are working to bring fully into manifestation. This is part of the shift that is referred to in many presentations to you and it is all part of the crystalline light city existence. Your light body, your energy field responds to that crystalline vibration. It is an energy frequency and the frequency pattern of it resonates deep within you and within the existence of the crystalline cities civilizational processes and existences. This in turn facilitates a shift which has been ongoing in the Earth's crystalline energy system. We have referred previously to the uprising and shift in the natural kingdoms on Earth, the natural waters and earth and plant and air and light and those systems those elemental systems respond in particular to the energy that you are receiving in the session.

The plasmic flow in a sense coalesces into the crystalline frequency, so there is the receptivity aspect that is part of the crystalline frequency pattern and there is the processes present of creation using the entire energy matrix, the light field present with you. Much of the activity of the Beings who come into the Station is all part of this combined presentation and process for Earth and this is overseen, watched over, it is observed by many Galactic observers who come forward again, making their presence known to you in different ways. Often their presence you sense and you connect with them around you as an individual, you feel lightened up, you will feel free, you will feel a release and an opening from the depths of you as your true essence reunites in a conscious way through your energy systems of the humanoid form uniting with that support team that you have. This is part of the experience you have of being free.

With this being brought to you in this way, my presentation of you into all of this is complete at this time and you are restored to your presence in your light form in the receiving area of the Station.

Orem out “

Thank you, Orem and the supporting ones. Lani again with you and there's a lot to take in again in this energy you have been experiencing, so therefore take in a lovely conscious breath and bring all of this back down through your light body into your core energy essence within your physical body form, within this life that you are experiencing and progressing through. In your own time take in another breath and be fully focused back within the body, within this life, within the present moment. This ends this session through Omega Communications Portal. Thank you

Lani ❤️
