Omega Communications Portal

Lani bringing this session to you, and I prepare myself by linking with my high evolved self – the quantum consciousness – and I take in a breath which shifts my focus from the external locality where I am into the greater levels of consciousness.

I ask you to do the same and as you take in your next natural conscious breath, present yourself with me into the receiving area of this Station of Light.

Here we are again. It is like the welcome mat is laid down especially for you and you will be greeted individually, although the message might sound applicable for every single person on the planet. Take the energy that you need or may be wanting information about. Take it all into you now, as we begin.

“Welcome here into this gathering again as we continue communicating with you many of the essential energy modules and the energy information to assist you in this moment.

Orem representing our presence here with you and you will find that as you develop your deeper communication with your highest evolved self here, then you become familiar with what you may term many of the centres where specific focus is upon specific areas of population on your living planet, or they might be focused on specific areas in other localities, in other aspects of what you term your galaxy. There are multi views because there are multi dimensions and there are multi-dimensional aspects of you existing in a synchronistic pattern.

We have referred to the energy matrix field, which is called your consciousness field, and this has located you within the area that you resonated with for the particular experience that you are having and the area where you are able to locate the energy systems of the universe – the universal matrix – and draw that into aspects of your consciousness field that will be resonating with that.

Therefore, where you are is important. Where you move to is important, even if that is in close proximity to your usual locality, or whether it is in a different spatial existence. We are having you understand and helping you to understand and to realise the underlying existence that you have in various dimensional patterns.

As this comes into a greater connection with you, in other words, as you connect more correctly and you synchronize as aspects of your energy field with the greater matrix field of consciousness, then you see different patterns functioning and then you are also able to be with various activities from within this Station where focus is upon different aspects.

The focus is simply focusing a higher vibrational field into or around localities and of course that would include the individual energy matrix fields of individual Beings. So, it is simply offering a higher energy field.

You will have observed amongst people you know, or you hear about, where suddenly they have a different viewpoint. There will have been a triggering word or revelation in some way that shifts their perspective. The perspective we refer to is all aligned with the overall energy field matrix, or put in other words, the expanded field of consciousness. This is all that needs to be conveyed to you in this session.

We will, however, help you to view your own particular living experience from an energetic viewpoint and for you to locate areas that you may see are out of phase with the higher field synchronization that you experience here when you elevate your link and you have the intention of linking with the highest point of consciousness.

It is from that viewpoint that you can observe areas that have an energy impact on your present and on your presence in the physical form you have now. Again, it is focusing a higher energy field frequency pattern known as light upon those areas and as you observe that in yourself and through and around your physicality, you will see the effective clearance, or dissolving, of particular patterns. All of those may come back to a certain thought pattern response. We offer you this opportunity to work with the higher energetic field that is your pure consciousness for the purposes of bringing all aspects of you into that higher evolved pattern.

The ongoing effect of this is that you synchronize then with a higher field of existence. This is what we refer to as the cities of light existing in that higher light field dimension.

If you simply have the intention of aligning yourself with that, this draws into you the higher resonating field from your pure state of existence helping you to be in that manifested reality. Then you will see the breaking down of applications of energy systems that have been experienced in most areas of planet Earth Station. Therefore, you are clearing yourself and helping others to be in alignment with a higher field of consciousness which is everything, which is from where all patterns of consciousness have arisen from.

Allow yourself to move into this higher field energy matrix pattern. Multi-dimensional. You will be aware of this in this presentation, and you will feel a resonating effect within your physicality, currently.

We leave you the space to experience this.

“I am AnTur coming forward to address you briefly in this session and I connect with many of the Beings living within the pattern known as the planet and so drawing your attention into this inner world is similar to you drawing your focus and intention away from what is happening above ground and is happening in the external world and it draws you into the inner core energy essence of you.

You are of course assimilating the energies of the physical planet and the lifeforms of it. Your energy patterns resonate with what has been created on the planet in the form of the various kingdoms – we call them those because you understand the animal and vegetable, the plant, the air, the water – and this is sustaining some aspects of the physicality form you have. Then, by your intention to connect in with the energy field matrix, this is the major source of your vitality. That is the vital essence which is within the natural plant kingdom. You are one with this, it is one consciousness.

This is my presentation to you.

Lani again.

Thank you, Beings, for coming forward from the dimensional field of existence and the many aspects that you have that we resonate with.

It is the appropriate time now to again become conscious of your presence in the Station as living energy and take in another conscious breath when you are ready and bring all this energy field into your physical body form, bringing it back into the Earth grid and current Earth time as it is measured.

Again, there has been another shift and so you could have been experiencing off-balance, out of time, unfocused on what you were doing and where you are.

So, as you have now synchronized yourself again with the higher light field into current Earth time, you will feel the sense of strength and alignment again.

Thanks for joining us in this session.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
