"In this space I greet you and welcome you. Orem addressing you and surrounding you. We come forward in support of you. You may be aware of the many of us who have assembled with you. We are not simply with you in this receiving area – we are with the Beings on Earth and what we surround you with is that frequency, the vibration, that you recognize is a higher level of consciousness and manifestation of existence.

Many of you have been calling out for assistance. The assistance is all around you and it is necessary for you to shift your focus and attention into the sphere of support around you. We call it support. It is the frequency of a higher connected consciousness and in that higher connected consciousness you are receiving the elements and the significant information that is assisting you. In a sense, you have oriented yourself, you have chosen to accept a level of manifestation of existence beyond what other people around you have accepted. You have taken that extra step and you have all been assisted in taking that step and the multiple steps in expansion of consciousness in various ways. What we are bringing to you here is a consolidation of all that you have received which assists you to be present within that quantum field of existence in which of course there are multiple civilizations.

The focus you have will draw you into specific civilizational organizational processes and the organization comes through when you connect with your original purpose and plan. In a sense, you have already chosen the type of existence that you are also bringing in through you and around you.

Do not feel that you are alone or that your particular existence is separate, because as we have said, you are enveloped in a field of support. The field of support is varying because of the number of people who perhaps will be focusing within the bandwidth, the frequency level, that expanded sphere of consciousness. Many of you want to identify the particular frequency that you would measure with instruments or patterns. It is more than that. That is a representation and of course there is a flow and as you step into the flow of the pattern, there are areas opened up, there are areas expanded, so it is similar to standing in an open space, perhaps you might stand in a clearing within bush areas and first of all you hear sounds close to you. Then as you resonate with that sound and your energy field expands, you hear beyond the immediate area, you hear into distant area and so you expand your awareness into that distant area – an expansion of your consciousness, your energy field – and you resonate with the fullness of that. What took you there may have been one particular sound of a vibration and as that ripples out, you expand that vibration into harmonics and so you extend further, you expand further into a vibrational frequency which extends beyond planetoid Earth and it extends beyond the known solar system with the planets that you identify. You are expanding your consciousness field to perceive and participate in a greater field of existence. This is from where you are drawing more support in and through you and into this existence of the consciousness field that your physicality is presently located in.

We are reminding you to keep your attention and focus into the plane of existence that you choose to be within. In a consciousness field your attention and focus can be in that vitalizing, energetic manifested civilization field and at the same time you may be taking physical steps and processes which continue to bring in that expanded and extended field of consciousness into every action you do in the physical plane that you would be aware of around you.

Lani presenting you into this space again for the energy and information coming through today.

You will be so used to entering into this dimensional space that exists known as the Station of Light that when I say take in a natural, conscious breath, you already will be crossing the connecting bridge that you are able immediately to be in the receiving area of the Station of Light.

Let the sense build up around you of your presence in this receiving area. You might say it is a state, space, or an actual room. It will come to you in the most appropriate way because you choose your existence and the framework of your existence. So, coming into this gathering area to prepare yourself to receive another inflow of energy, it is drawn to you in the way you will recognize and readily accept. You are the creator of your life.
