The Stream of Consciousness Energy matrix

Lani opening the portal to greet you and begin this session.

As usual, make sure your body is relaxed and comfortable, take in a natural breath and as you let it out, be present in the receiving area of the Station of Light.

It is as simple as that because you know how to do it, you know how to reconnect with different aspects of you and with the quantum light energy patterns.

Here we are – ready to receive.

“Welcome, indeed. I am Orem and I am enveloping you in this space. Your presence is known and acknowledged. Every time you enter this space you are acknowledged. Have you been experiencing that when you come into this space at other listening times you have?”

In this space you are in a state of readiness and readiness incorporates a state of receptivity to allow yourself to again receive through the stream of consciousness the patterns you recognize and identify as moving and shifting in your placement in your physical locality. What you are receiving in the stream of consciousness, as these words are presented to you, is enough of the sequences again which you will receive and in all the layers of your consciousness you will be regulating them in such a way they will be easily assimilated. Therefore, if you feel there is a need of some particular aspect of energy, this is the opportunity for you to collect it in from the stream of consciousness and to receive it and feel that stream flowing through all the layers of what you identify as You.

It is necessary to begin this session this way because you have shifted in some process of realization – that means there has been an expansion into greater fields of quantum light, or it could also mean that you had momentarily, of course, separated yourself from the stream of consciousness coming through Source Creation, through to you through the various channels such as the solar portal. That is the prime pattern that the energy comes through to you into the Earth space consciousness.

It is part of your reality. We often speak about multi realities, but in every reality, in every dimension you exist in, there is a solar portal. This is why it is represented to you and you are reminded of this in every session that we bring you into.

In shifting your perspective of who you are and why you have been drawn into this stream of consciousness presented in this way, you are identifying other layers around you within the dimensional field of locality and also the interacting fields of locality. These are many different fields, but when you connect in with the stream of Source Energy of consciousness, this interacts with all of the other localities – the realities manifested. There is no particular need for you to get caught up into analyzing or consciously projecting yourself into some particular reality. You encompass it all and when you draw especially on the field of potential from your original created space, then it happens automatically and so the different realities move and adjust in your perspective and they align in such a way that there are more opportunities presented because you are receiving the appropriate energy for you as a Being of Light to create with, to use and to infill your space as you exist in the space time continuum with the potential and with the stream of consciousness which is full of the creation for you to bring into actuality in the reality.

You see how the words come together. The phrases bring in the full concept and so you are still expanding and receiving the full concept and beyond that, there is no limit even the phrase “the full concept” is not sufficiently open for the stream of consciousness to continue to flow in you and through you and for you to move within that stream of energy.

Feel it. There can be times or moments in your experiences when you feel you are out of placement – you have been misplaced – simply because your attention may have been drawn into a different step or presentation of what reality is as it comes through other Beings who experience slightly different realities or timelines.

When you consciously connect with the stream of consciousness, you find you reconnect to the placement that you resonate with. It is the pathway, you see, and so you align within the stream. In a similar fashion, you find that creatures in waterways, the streams, the rivers, are within the stream and if they get displaced or knocked out of the stream they can find their way back and there can often be methods that assist that creature to move back into the stream. Does this help you to identify in your reality the stream of consciousness?

As you move further through the stream of consciousness, become aware again of the energy matrix – the grid network – which is part of this stream of consciousness and as you maintain your presence within the stream you will be aware that this energy matrix surrounds you and some of you may have been aware that you are not completely surrounded in this way as the matrix, the energy grid. In this presentation this is being strengthened all around you in the various levels of your consciousness and energy and even, as you say, your physicality.

We have mentioned previously that this energy matrix is being monitored and is receiving attention of the commissioned Beings who are assisting the process of evolution. You are part of that. You are also receiving the adjustment and clear pattern, so as you feel you are connecting into that energy field matrix of course it connects deeply into the energy pattern within you, closely within you in the flows of energy within your energy body form and of course that is simply an energy form manifested as your humanoid body. There are connecting nodes that are deeply within the energetic structure and the connecting nodes referred to connect with the energy matrix field. It is another supporting framework for you to realise is always there and flowing through that are the necessary energy elements required.

As you continue to evolve in this process, you will be aware you exist in a travelling formation, in a constant state of transit and in another term, you could find this energetic grid allows you to transit to other spaces and times when it is appropriate for you to be present activating and presenting everything involved in your individual purpose. This will unfold as you continue to receive and enliven all aspects of you with the stream of consciousness you are within and receiving. This stream of consciousness is not fixed – it travels – and so you are able to transit through different areas as it travels. Realise this. It is not for you to control it. You simply allow yourself to be within that constant state of change, or transition and so the manifestations necessary will come around you.

There is the intention of those of us supporting you that you are fully supported and you continue the existence in the current physicality you have, simply because of the evolution you have achieved and are achieving in this physicality unit. It allows you to express more of the fulness of this stream of consciousness without the necessity of beginning all over again in a different body form. This pattern currently is releasing a series of the energy codes you are receiving within this stream and this will unfold to you. It is not for us to describe it or define it to you. It is for you to receive it and allow it to be within you simply because this is part of your higher field consciousness coming forward into you, expressing as you and through you.

This was the information to be presented to you today helping you to remember and reminding you of this stream of consciousness and the energy matrix of the quantum light field. It shifts you into a deeper attunement and alignment and this is required for you.

As you begin the integration of it all into your presence here in the field of quantum light in the Station of Light, I withdraw now.

Orem out “

Thank you, Orem. Lani again and I appreciate this explanation and energy presented to us all.

Are you adjusting to it already? As my awareness of myself present with you here, I feel I am adjusting to it in many different ways. It is like hearing musical tones, or feeling the vibration of it. You will be receiving it in your unique way,

Bring this all into you now, bringing this beautiful stream of consciousness right back into your physicality. Breathe it into you. Bring it into you from above your head right down through your body to the soles of your feet and into the Earth system and some of you may feel that the Earth system becomes evolved or expanded and feeds back to you some more essential elements that are available through the natural kingdom of the Earth planetary Being.

It is now appropriate for you to take in a conscious breath and as you breathe out, bring your focus and full attention back into the current Earth space time as we know it. Take a few moments to really experience the shift of the energy matrix and the codes being released through you.

Again, this session took us deeply into other states of existence and so it is necessary to bring it all back and bring your attention and focus back into current Earth space time now.

This concludes this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Thank you.

Lani ❤️
