Validation. Actualization

Lani with you in this inner journey through your consciousness into the Station of Light and that dimension where we contact more easily the quantum light beings, perhaps we call them the Galactic commissioned Beings coming around Earth, coming around you to help you.

Begin this session as usual by taking in a conscious breath, relaxing your body as you let it out and allow yourself to shift your focus, by your intention, into the receiving area of the Station of Light. I help you to do this.

I am with you in the receiving area, ready for the energy and information flow to begin.

"Welcoming you and connecting you into this dimension, I am that one known as Orem and initially you do need to be assisted to be anchored and focused into this space. Already, you have stepped forward, in a sense, to be here with us and to draw in the appropriate energy for you.

As you move forward connecting into other spatial dimensions around you that are interacting with you and the consciousness field on planet Earth, then you become more aware of choice. You also will be coming aware more readily and easily of the synchronization patterns occurring around you and around the civilizations that you are aware of currently existing on planet Earth and also the synchronization with the greater energy fields which contain the existence of the completed manifestation for the design, or the plan, that was sent forth for where you are in your presence on the Earth planet and in its presence of consciousness.

We are indicating with these phrases that there is already around you the dimensions that many of you might say we are still working toward that – at some point the human beings on Earth as a race, a civilization will have risen to the point of conscious existence. This is all around you. This always has been. What has been occurring in your experiences is the identification process of what has been apparently limiting you and we say, it is only an appearance and therefore the true existence is always presented to you in many ways, depending on where your focus is, in that dimension.

As you allow this to be understood in your presence here and of course you do understand it here because you are here in an expanded consciousness state, so the more that you receive in this expanded consciousness that is you, then the more readily this will manifest around you. You will be bringing it in through your life essence.

There are, of course, many plans and formations occurring for you to be much more aware of this light field established around you. We give you the moment in this deliverance to expand into that light field of existence.

You will all be aware that we continue to bring your attention into that clear light field so that you assemble and assimilate more of the energy processes and patterns relevant for you as an individual and to be here receiving this confirms to you that you are ready, you are understanding this, you are receiving this. Again, you will be making many choices in your daily patterns as you process what you are receiving and experiencing and activating in the daily process, until you lay yourself down to move into a space where you shed all the remaining resistances and you absorb and integrate the energizing flows to be utilized in the next daily process. It is the flows in and out necessary for you.

As we give this to you, you will be aware again of many different activities that you are participating in, in this space, where you have moved beyond the initial receiving space into various other phases of existence where you are actively participating in group discussions or revelations in your own choosing and in the exact frequency pattern that you identify with and resonate with in this space. There is a continuation presented to you of processes and plans and these relate directly to your presence in the base unit, your physical body form and what you are actively engaging within. There are variations of that, naturally. In every simple daily activity you are gathering information and you are actively engaging the energy field for the activity.

There are moments in your daily processes where you may feel you are levelling out, you are stationary, that is simply because where you are stationed may still be receiving energy patterns and processes that you will be resonating with and if the energy processes and patterns have not come around you that you fully resonate with, this gives you the sensation that nothing has shifted, there is nothing happening. Whereas, when you enter deeply within to the inner essence of you and the stream of consciousness, there is always activity, even in the apparent void there is activity of some aspect of influence. There are many influences around you and again, it is your choice of what you participate in with the influences. These are similar to the energy impulses emitted constantly in various layers, in thought forms, in presentations around you. The reminder again is to maintain your awareness of the higher field of your connection to the original blueprint pattern and this clearly gives you the indications of what you need to engage in your activities or simply to be in the stream of consciousness, until it reveals to you what is needed to be activated or for you to focus your attention into.

In these words you will be aware of harmony and synchronization and connection occurring in your energy field because your energy field, in the expanded state of it, is responding to various elements and elements you are receiving in this deliverance are all aspects coming through Source Creation of the activation and actualization of the pure intention. There are many processes being readjusted back to the original purpose and point of existence for the planet, which you came in to assist with, with all of that actualization. We who surround you are assisting you in that, because you are the perfect vehicle, perfect channel and perfect presence in your holistic physicality from the base point up to the original point of creation of you. This is presented to you in many different ways, but in the presentation you are aware there are different opportunities presented to you and items, particular patterns that you have been considering and so in this point of connection you are receiving the elements that are necessary.

Anything else will not have been drawn into you in this process and each of you is on an individual pattern collecting in what you need. Some of you will be collecting in verification, others will be assimilating and sifting out what is not appropriate for you.

Bringing your attention to the collective within this Station of Light, there are adjustments that we receive which are passed onto you and surrounding us all, within us all, is the collective groups of Beings – the Councils and there are more than one of those present – and their focus and attention will come forward in the appropriate intersections throughout the dimensions. It is all relevant to you. This is about validating you and your presence. You are receiving and activating the relevant processes and information.

Again coming forward to you will be revelations about what is being revealed as different aspects of the layers of various patterns on Earth are opened up to reveal other energy systems that are present working within the energy network – that energy matrix field – throughout all patterns of existence. This may appear to you to be a slow process and that is simply because there are so many layers of consciousness present on Earth that they need to be opened up to understand in a process that is readily accepted in the states of consciousness.

There is the aspect of you present as you continually expand into your full consciousness state where you observe and observing from your higher point of existence – similar to observing from where you are with us in this dimension - you observe the shifts and processFromes happening on Earth but in the observation from your higher point of consciousness, there is energy moving forward and you simply do not need to force this on anything or anyone. What is happening is the flow of clear consciousness is being made available in the energy sphere. You are making this available around your physicality and your base unit and it is also being made available to the entire consciousness field around the planet. As different individuals are ready to receive clearness or upliftment in some way, the energy is available to them. One function you are doing is to provide that energy matrix energy field simply through your presence within the flow, the stream of consciousness and this is the message to you contained in your presence here and you are receiving this by being present in this receiving state. You are enveloped in this. This is the presentation in this session

Orem out “

Thank you, Orem. Lani again present with you. Are you feeling what I am feeling and seeing? Like looking down upon the planet, overlooking it and seeing this flow of energy around it as if it is moving through the exact energy grid, sometimes called the energy grid or the energy matrix field. It is the way that energy flows and every individual has that similar energy field - receiving. I see that energy flowing around the planet and its people. There seems to be an immense number of supporting Beings involved in this.

Now, breathe all this into you, your physical placement, even into your physical structure, and the physical structure where you live, but I am referring to your Essence within and around the structure of the physical form. This is for you to realize, to accept and love who you are, what you have become and where you are, fully present. Bring this into you and bring your awareness into current Earth time and space that we exist in and through. Thank you.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
