“Orem with you, welcoming you here into this gathering. You will be aware there are other ones entering this space and leaving this space, and therefore whatever appropriate time it is in your location, whenever you enter here, the energy within this space welcomes you and you will receive direct communication and energy systems into you, whereupon you will be allowing that to give you impulses, realizations, to accomplish more of what you set out to do, what you brought into your current lifeform space to accomplish.

There is the potential always to gather in more of the energy frequency patterns and this has many different purposes. Initially it could be to balance anything that has become disturbed in your energy field. As you are present here, you are present in your energy field. One way to consider it is that you have expanded your energy field from where your body form is placed, expanding your energy form as a field of consciousness to be here with us receiving this. There are the many different layers and dimensions, of course, and we have referred previously to you the information that as you consciously are present here, there will be other conscious energy aspects of you also present. These may not be visible to your awareness. This is because that is not so important. If you attempted to focus on that, then you are already stepping out of the presence and of you receiving the present flow of energy and information for you. The purpose of describing this to you is for you to focus here and the essential aspect of you in this expanded field of consciousness is all that is necessary for the other aspects to receive.

They may have the understanding that they are receiving energy information not directly from an aspect of them, but from the energy coming through Source creation through this situation here in this space time dimension where this Station of Light exists.

There are multi facets to every appearance that you present yourself as within this dimension. This dimension of this Station expands, flows and moves with the requirements that are known for you as an individual. Consider yourself as the individual receiver for your current life process and therefore, this is what is needed for the civilization where you are focused within. Now expand your consciousness field to embrace an extended civilization that exists already in the evolving states of consciousness. Thereby, you are drawing yourself into an evolved state beyond what you may consider your current situation. We do not intend to say that you are limited. It is simply that there is always expansion available and for you to be moving into the created expansion field of existence known perhaps as higher evolved civilizations. It is simply a reference to different vibrational fields which manifest and which are used to create to manifest different stages to support the expanded field of consciousness.

We understand that many of you are already joyously experiencing happiness, love and laughter, complete alignment with the true source of existence and origin and the true source of support. This confirms to you every time you experience those situations - experiences. There is of course a scientific analysis of that, or description of that. We are not here to involve you in the sciences, but we are here to help you experience the energy field of manifestation. If it was described in the scientific models there would be a framework, which in a sense is limitation and we are always supporting you as you expand beyond framework limitations. We assist you to experience the expanded energetic framework – the energy matrix of consciousness and as you experience that, then you are also aware of the support systems.

Expanded energetic framework. Natural support system

Lani speaking with you. To prepare yourself for this inner journey into different states of consciousness as you come with me, simply take in a natural breath, focusing on the breath and as you let it out, feel you are with me and others gathering in the receiving space of the Station of Light. Focus your awareness into this space.

What will we draw through today for energy and information for the current circumstances you may be experiencing and moving forward?

Simply allow yourself to receive.

We bring your attention again to the support systems for you. It is presented to you frequently in the sessions, as it is needed if you feel you have been separated in any sense from the full support systems. Take this into you as you feel the surrounding supporting energy field that you are brought into and if you are needing support in any way, you will be receiving this.

This brings you into the greater network of communication of all of those of us present supporting you and in the movement of the planetary consciousness system, named Earth, and this movement is a shift into a specific receiving aspect of the flows of energy and information pertaining to the rightful positioning and presence of you all. As you realise this, then do you understand the complexity of your connections with the consciousness of the planetary consciousness. It is a connection. It is alignment, there are adjustments continually happening. Experiencing this as you are, you will be aware of the energy support systems throughout the levels existing of the Earth, what has been created, what has been generated in a natural support system. Many of you are bringing forward the new creations and are witnessing the new creations as a more easily understood and usable way of identifying the energy patterns that are available within the energy field matrix of the planetary system and what it receives in the greater support systems surrounding it. You might say in the particular solar system and beyond that in multi level connections.

Therefore, maintain your alignment, your true connection to the true Source of your creation and you will be receiving this in various aspects of your energy field. Focusing in this way allows you to withdraw from any of the created situations happening on the Earth planet which are not in conformity with the energy systems through the Sol source. You are an integral aspect of this creative consciousness and so you will vibrate with the appropriate aspects that are already existing around you that you simply connect with in the multi layers of your existing pattern.

As you fulfil the needs in some of the levels that you are aware of, this frees your level of patterns to expand further into your expanding energetic field.

Are you aware that in the presentation as we use specific words, you are receiving in different sensory receptors within your energy field? You are adapting to this more and more. You are moving into the natural selective process that is offered in the energy field around you.

Take this into you. Absorb it. Feel it. Feel the interchange of energy fields. We remind you that every time you present yourself in the Station, what you bring in with you is observed, it is assessed and there is a deeper aspect of your consciousness field that understands this and therefore draws into it more of the application of the processes that are needed for you in the various layers of information patterns that you are composed of and that affect all of the processes for the ongoing existence of you. A natural process. In reminding you of this, this is the completeness of this particular session for you and so I withdraw now.

Orem out “

“Lani back again with you and I acknowledge all of that energy. Thank you, Orem.

Now, as we are gathered here, it is a reminder to us to remember the deeper aspects of creation always available – that support system referred to. It does come directly from your original point of existence and it is delivered to you as you receive it in this way through these inner journeys into this Station of Light, into this field of consciousness that exists.

Perhaps you feel the different Beings around you in these presentations. Perhaps it opens up to you another line of inspiration, creativity, information. Whatever is relevant for you to bring into your life pattern will be made known to you, if not in this moment, then in the ongoing days.

Bring it all back into you now, everything you observed and experienced in the gaps between the words, and that silence in the gaps is filled with other information patterns.

This is the end of this session, so take in another natural breath – I love this natural breath that we take in, filled with that evolvment – with the love and light and acceptance of yourself. Bring your awareness fully back into your current location. Love this body form. Love who you are and That you are present in the body form and yet you have access to this expansion of consciousness. I love it!

Now bring your attention to your current location, time, place, the present moment as we measure time here in this space. It is important to bring your consciousness fully into your energy, your body form in every way, enlivening it. Thank you.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Many thanks to all of the creative artists involved in these sessions, Karen Elsworth and Leigh Ross and the internet providers – many in this matrix of consciousness.
