"This assembly has drawn you into it in this moment in this experience, Beloved.

Orem addressing you to facilitate your already expanding field of consciousness to connect in more directly with the energy pattern coming through your true alignment. As you know, we do not address you, or bring your attention into any formation of a hierarchy system, or a deity perhaps, yet we draw your attention to the origin of your first prime existence. This is the equivalent of the way that we all recognize that we all are an evolving consciousness. We have come into your presence to remind you of this and to assist you with it.

You might say that as you came forth from your original existence, you accumulated various degrees of information and some of the information arose from individual experiences. So the thought was introduced into your conscious minds that your journey into different realities of experiences was simply to learn or to grow from various experiences. Indeed, that is one facet of the existence of creation. When you synchronize and you receive energy flows from your original point of existence, you were intended to bring the energy and consciousness of that into every life experience. This is the prime focus because you naturally were drawn into different existences in whatever particular lifeform that was and in whatever planetary station or elsewhere you presented yourself into, then you were bringing in the energy that was needed.

You saw a need for specific energy. You felt the need. You observed. You knew, because it was your purpose to bring light and energy and information into everywhere.

Do you see this is also part of the creative consciousness field that exists everywhere and so you are a carrier, you are the conduit for that? Everything else that has emerged in a form of creation will be supporting you in your purpose, your mission, and in so doing it supports everyone else in your pattern of experience to shift from perhaps focusing on density arising matters and instead, bringing in the light field from your original space, from your original consciousness, into whatever is occurring.

We understand many people feel they are in some sort of fight or resistance, so again the reminder is to withdraw your attention from that and focus on the streams of light field coming in through you and around you.

What you have stepped into in this evolving phase within your vector of experience is an information pattern received in your channels - being channeled to you in the streams of consciousness of the energy field - through the ultra or intra plasmic field. We have referred to the bioplasmic field in other sessions as you are assembled in the gatherings. In this phase, because you have expanded your consciousness field and are open to receive, then the information coming to you is revealing the pattern of this field identified as the bioplasmic field. This is also integrating into your energy field. It is in a sense another pattern that flows through your energy systems within and around your base physical unit that has not been clearly identified because it has existed in a dimensional field outside of the normal measuring systems. When you come across information which will be coming forward to you that there is a deeper existence flowing through the body energy field, then this will be the confirmation to you, if you should need that.

Ultra plasmic energy. Being of Light

I am Lani bringing these sessions through the Omega Communications Portal.

Today, on this significant number day where I am recording this physically and energetically, join with me, take in a natural breath and allow yourself to expand your consciousness field and realise that you are a Being of Light. As a being of light, consciously aware, you easily locate yourself within the receiving area of the Station of Light.

Are you in a state of receiving? Are you tuned into that? Let's begin.

Many of you will be experiencing what we are referring to in this energetic flow through you. It is connected into time portals and therefore it is activating some of the aspects that may have been missing this connection within your energy field or within the physical attributes known as your physical body. In this field referred to, you will be encountering more creations. In particular we refer to other planetary systems being revealed to you and it is that they were always there. It is all in the field of creation. They are often in a dimensional field beyond the consciousness to comprehend and identify in some way – to recognize.

As you continue to take in the light field into you, this in turn clears patterns of your consciousness field expanding you beyond the field of existence of planet Earth, this planetoid and the consciousness of it, so that you do exist in an expanded field of consciousness.

There is the inference here that there could be a counter-reality to this. This is part of why we continue to refer you to your original point of existence which is the pure creative consciousness. It is energy. It is light and we refer you also to your light body. Do you see the connections and do you see the purpose of that reality when you hold that space? It brings into it the presence of higher field intelligence of the intelligence of creation above, beyond, outside of anything else of those streams of pure light which you are receiving.

As you take this into you there could be the reality, or the realization that you understand of different realities being presented around other people you may be observing. Again, you bring your attention back to the higher light field and within that are these supreme councils. This is part of your purpose and presence as you identify a particular need or a pattern that is out of balance. In recognizing it, because you are connected into the higher light field of the cosmic councils, then the appropriate energy will come forward, and you may witness or be aware of that.

In this way you are also working in conformity with the galactic light beings. There is agreement. Do you concur with all of this? Principally it is identifying that prime essence of life which in your terms would be called Light. This is the message delivered to you in this session.

As I withdraw, feel your surrounding field of light infused with the presence of that prime light existence – the field of light – the first principle. You may feel alignment happening around or within you.

We acknowledge you.

Orem out “

“Thank you, Orem, for this information and energy.

Lani speaking again and I am with you in this space where we are surrounded, enfolded, supported in a great field of Light.

In my awareness this is deeper, this is stronger, this is more present than what we have experienced previously as we have gathered together in this space. You each are receiving your individual streams of light from the point of origin.

Perhaps you identify that as a different starfield, a distant galactic field of light. Perhaps it is simply you as this amazing field of light – fully connected.

Absorb all of this into you and now bring it back into your present lifeform, this present body form. Consciously breathe in and as you breathe out, be aware you are bringing all of this fully into your form and around your form, filling all the spaces that have been needing this prime field of life, of light, bringing it right down through all of you in that flow referred to as the ultra plasmic field. You are bringing this all through you into connecting into the earth consciousness – the planetary consciousness field. Perhaps you were designed to do this.

Thank you again for receiving this and for this great interconnected matrix of energy that we are, that we surround this planetary system with. In that, I am also referring to the known planets in our solar system and the ones that are emerging that are being revealed to us and yet you probably have known there was more than was visible in our star field at night.

Enjoy this lovely field of expansion but bring your awareness fully back into your body and into the current time as we measure it in this Earth space time reality and the expanding dimensions of it.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
