Soul Light. Cosmic Light Source

Lani again with you, helping you to prepare yourself again to enter the space known as the receiving area of the Station of Light. Did you remember to take in a natural breath, filling yourself with the remembrance of your true soul light essence?

In a way, that transports you into the field of consciousness where you represent part of yourself and part of your locality and an aspect of your true soul essence into this space where you connect telepathically in a way, or perhaps you might visually see the Beings who come forward in the Station of Light frequency pattern that it offers to us.

So, let's begin.

"You are acknowledged here as you are drawn into the energy system and energy field and your energy field merges into this collective consciousness field existing here.

Presenting this to you, as always, I am Orem coming forward to you and I am surrounded by the Councils of Light who have come forward in their galactic formations, so you may be having the vision of different Beings present here with you. They come in following lines of communication, patterns of transportation fields and the fields are not linear in their composition and presentation. They involve the collective consciousness field and the overlaying matrix which appears as specific pathways.

The journeys of consciousness begin elsewhere. Your journeys of consciousness within your energetic framework and presentation began elsewhere, as you know. You might say that you are star people who have come forward into positioning yourself into the current civilization which is experiencing shifting dimensions. You are aware of this as you observe what is occurring around the planet field itself and the different land spaces where there are groups that you could identify in a certain state of consciousness and then there are other groups who have separated themselves from that, indeed no longer needing to interact with that field of consciousness. This allows the expansion into a different vibratory frequency pattern where the other patterns of existence of civilization do not appear to exist.

This is the emphasis that we remind you to focus within the higher light field of consciousness which is a composition of many experiences, but as you expand deeply into that, you find there is simply one source intelligence of cosmic intelligence within the field of creation - of the creation field, manifesting.

The presentation of this is to remind you of the influences around you which you choose to accept or ignore and as you choose to align yourself with the specific purpose of presenting the light field through you and in you, then the choice is made and that attracts more of the energy field known as consciousness, or fields of light. You are enlightening yourself as you move through experience and identify where you have shifted from. You might identify aspects that you have experienced that simply need to be presented into the same field of light that you are experiencing in this collective frequency pattern of a dimensional existence. Multi-dimensional perhaps you would remember it as and identify as.

Again, using a mixture of your words, your titles, your understanding and yet be open to the expansion of that beyond the typical understanding within the mental framework of existence, the patterns. You know this. You know that a thought pattern is interpreting the sensory perception of images and what you would be sensing is patterns of consciousness in a formation in an expanded dimensional field.

Our focus has continued to be on the clearance of your dimensional field and all that has been experienced and has been interacting in some form with your formation or your presentation with the imagination, with the images coming into the mind and into action. Removing those interactions that are no longer appropriate for your expanded consciousness enables further expansion, further realization and moving into the frequency patterns which may appear to you as a texture, as something that is tangible to be touchable in the form of texture.

This would incorporate other senses you use to identify the field of consciousness.

In this presentation in this moment you are being enveloped in the field of consciousness as it appears as a flow, which is more readily acceptable in your formation of your essence of light here – your body of light presentation. Therefore, if you are experiencing a sense of receiving a very clear pattern within your energy field, this confirms to you what you are receiving. It is the ongoing process of, in a sense, upgrading the energy field which interacts with the processes within the physical formation of you.

The purpose of this is that you are anchoring in, you are bringing in the rebuilding energy patterns of the civilization. In the rebuilding phrase we are using, this represents the cities of light civilizations again very relevant for you to be aware of. So, be aware of what comes into your individual awareness, of what you receive in worldwide connections and localized connections of new concepts to be formed to assist the transition from what had already been fading away and you had been realizing it was not sustaining the new energy that you are receiving. Therefore, the rebuilding and emergence of the energetic structures to be created in full manifestation is what you are preparing yourself to receive. To do that, your entire energy field needs to be cleared so there are no limitations and you are freely moving into the energy field of that which you know exists. In this way you receive more of the support from the energy beings, perhaps you would call them star people, star beings, galactic beings ready to work alongside you in the creation.

There already has been identified by you a clearance and an upward shift - using your terms again of upward – into a higher field of cosmic intelligence. As you observe this and are more aware of it, then your energy field processes what you are receiving and in such a way this moves through your entire formation and this is what we help you to identify as what you call your lineage, all the aspects of ancestral patterns.

In this sense, as you are the prime focus for this expanded light field, this flows through all the ancestral patterns, beyond time. It is an esscentral energy pattern – you are the central aspect of this. You could be visualizing yourself as the light field like a central sun and emanating out from you is a clearing and higher vitality energy imprinted with the pure cosmic intelligence for the purpose of the consciousness appearing in a body form. This is emanating all around you. There is no definition as such between past, present and future. It is simply that you are localized in the presentation of yourself as the central point of cosmic intelligence. The cosmic light source.

Experience this. Feel it being integrated into you, as you simply choose to allow that to be. Continue with this.

This is the presentation to you. I withdraw now.

Orem out “

“Thank you. Orem.

This is Lani again acknowledging you, just as Orem acknowledged us all into this dimensional field - merging of consciousness.

That helps me understand that as we have presented ourselves into this field, we simply incorporate all that cosmic intelligence into us. Gathering it all in. Assimilating it.

We have all known how to do this through this lifetime and in any other presentation where we were, to do the same function of presenting this prime field of consciousness everywhere.

Take this all into you with a conscious breath. Breathe it all into you, right from above your head right down through you to beneath your feet. On your next conscious breath in, bring your awareness back into your life energy body form and feel this fuller expression of the presentation of the cosmic source energy in you, and if it is in you, it is around fully within your consciousness field, emanating around you.

Thanks for receiving this into this way of manifesting the higher light field civilization. Again, a reminder to take in a conscious breath and orient yourself deeply into where you are receiving it, in the current Earth space time as we measure it and know it to be. Consciousness has shifted in these few minutes we have experienced this session.

I now end this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Thank you, everyone.
