Unified energy cosmic matrix of life cosmic intelligent sequences

If you have been receiving these for a long time, I value your presence, or even if this is the first session you have come in to join with us. Lani speaking to you and to start this session take in a natural breath and as you let it out, remember you have an energy body, your soul energy body of light. This is what I link with, with you, from my body of light – that state of consciousness we refer to as the energy body and it is this that moves into the energy space or state described in these sessions as the Station of Light.

Focus your intention of being in this receiving space and state and that is all that is required for you to be here present in this moment.

“You are acknowledged here, greeted and welcomed. I am known as Orem, but more importantly, do you feel that you are within this space, surrounded in an energy field which already is having the effect of bringing you into a state of calmness, a central point of receiving? Very still, very powerful and in this space your energy field is responding to the flows of energy and information which you are accessing in your own way directly through your connection to your point of origin, your pure existence.

This is cosmic intelligence. This is the flow of energy which envelops you and as you maintain your connection to that flow of energy, there is the perpetual regeneration of the aspects within your energy field which train the body to respond to the higher energy field in which level you receive it in, and by that way you are regenerating youthful cells as well as bringing in the potential of your existence.

This is said to you in many different ways. This is the intention to help you reconnect and access the potential that has your creative consciousness field which brings you into the present and brings into your presence information needed for you. Informing you with action and concepts and ideas as you continue moving through your daily existence.

Now we remind you that your daily existence and presence expands well beyond where you have maintained your body form, where you exist in a dwelling space, where you exist in a certain land mass on planet Earth. Your presence exists multi-dimensionally and in many different areas of manifestation as a body form. Therefore, you are able to connect energy and information that may be outside of your conscious mind, what you have learned in this current body form, so you are renewing the sequences within you which continue to accelerate your presence and the presence of a greater unified energy cosmic matrix of life.

You are experiencing venturing into an expanded field of experience. That experience may interact with other lifeforms and Beings. Some of you may be wanting to connect with Beings from other galaxies and some of you may be responding to the link you have with the natural kingdom of the essential elements of creation around you where you live, in the land mass, in the trees, in the waters, in the air. The major focus is drawing on the first principle of life through all of those and the essential elements.

Many people you may be aware of are needing more of the pure essential elements referred to as the cosmic intelligent sequences through the energy flows and to access those, needs a conscious intention to connect. This is where you see that most of the population is completely unaware of that and they might be linking in with different levels of manifestation to create a specific order and therefore suppress the cosmic intelligent systems that you have.

This is essential for you to recognize the vital support systems available. You have drawn this information to you in this time. Therefore, that reflects a specific need to know or to receive some aspect beyond where you have been looking to receive answers and information.

This all arises from your very deep acknowledgement that you are a Cosmic Being in touch with your point of origin and you are receiving this throughout your core energy essence within your structure, with all of the elements and pathways.

This is another reminder to you. In reminding you, you are more clearly accessing it. We observe the busyness you have, or the distractions into actions which are right for your physicality and its systems to continue the functioning of it. Overlaying it is what we remind you of - the cosmic source which you access to manifest a higher state of beingness all around you.

There are aspects of each of you who exist in dimensional existences where, by your thought power and your presence and focus, you manifest directly what is needed into the reality that you recognize as the current reality. That reality is always surrounded by and overlaid by that cosmic field.

Bring this into you. Bring it into balance and enhance and revitalize you. You will recognize this continues from the previous linkage we had together. It is all one. It is all present now and you access the vital streams of information and the encoded packets of energy systems directly into you, by your presence in this energy sphere which makes it easier for you to absorb it all.

This is the element and the core information system for this deliverance to you. Be aware also that as you are receiving this within you and you are filled with this energy field, it does naturally interact with the other people you are in contact with, in whatever way. It is that energy matrix field of consciousness connecting you all. Simply maintain your connection to your pure cosmic consciousness field. This is with you.

I withdraw now

Orem out “

“Lani speaking again, and I am aware we are surrounded in a gathering of Light Beings. I would call these the Star Beings simply because they are so bright that they are like individual suns streaming light field all around us, all around you individually – supporting you.

This feels very important that we each and as a vast collective group who are aware of this, need support and to receive this so that we are anchoring it into all levels of consciousness around this energy information system we call our planet.

It is an interesting way to view it – that already the support of the Star Beings, or you might say other intelligence from other galaxies, are here to support us and to bring us into the higher phase of existence, bringing that into the lifeform we are living presently. Feel this flow throughout you.

Also they assist us to restore all of this back within our individual body forms. Take into you everything you may be aware that you need and also that the higher consciousness state of you knows exactly what you need through your connection to your cosmic source of origin.

Breathe it all into you in every way so that your entire energy field is filled with this amazing light energy, very clear.

At this point I acknowledge and give my thanks to these Beings involved in this session – many of them.

Thank You for receiving this. We will continue with these sessions every time you are ready to receive.

As you take in your next conscious breath and let it out, be aware of where you are receiving this and that moment in time that we measure as Earth time.

Enjoy who you are. Enjoy your existence and enjoy this pure lifestream of light which you have access to and which you are.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
