Your Central Soul Source. Galactic Communication

Lani with you again, opening this channel, opening this world-wide connection, opening this multi-dimension connection to us all and you know it is easy to enter the greater dimensions simply by taking in a natural breath and as you let it out, with your intention, you will be drawn with us into this Station of Light.

Here you are already - to receive what you are needing to understand or know, in whatever way is needed for you. So, listen between the words, feel the energy patterns as they come around you and you will be moving forward through the energy patterns.

This is how we begin today.

"Greetings to you – each and every one of you, as you come forward into this space collectively, into the Galactic Federation Beings and all of us together and all of you with us, together we are what you would call the Star Fleet, or the Galactic Fleet, or simply multi-dimensional consciousness combined into a unit here specifically to bring you forth into expanded fields of consciousness.

We have come to assist you in this process. We have come to assist you to move outside philosophies or controlling logical, or mentally focused areas or groups of particular intention and focus. We have come to help you see through what might be minor problematic presentations or minor realities that can totally distract you from the core energy centre of you.

What we are saying is that we each, as individual consciousness embodied in different body forms, we each are the central intelligent systems for ourselves, but in so saying that, it is referring you to the point of information where you are the source of energy and information because you attune yourself to the prime source of energy and information. This is the cosmic field cosmic intelligent systems of you. It is your right – it is your inherent ability, your inherent potential to realise this.

Again, we are saying to you that you are the central galactic source within you because you are, in a sense, a Galactic Being and so you are a galaxy of energy centres.

This is singularly for you and multiple areas of you all connecting into your own central core essence.

Now do you sense the streams of energy coming into you as you realize what you have presented yourself into and how you are productively and creatively functioning in multi dimensions, but in particular the dimension where your body form is focused?

You came into this body form knowing this would be the primary centre for the stabilization of many different systems within you as a conscious body unit and within you as a conscious intelligence unit connected to the cosmic centre of Creation. You might feel this is very complex and indeed it is a complexity of dimensional understanding and knowingness, but the point of focus draws you into the centre of that which is within the centre of you as you identify yourself. Whether you identify yourself as a humanoid Being, or as an essential Light Being, it is the same. The central core energy essence of you is the same.

Realizing this now you will be perceiving the Galactic Beings drawn around you in this presentation. You are drawing them to you in this space out of Earth time reality but realize when you restore all this back into the body form unit, you continuously draw in the Galactic intelligent information and support. It is a reminder for you to remember this and to continuously stabilize yourself within the streams of energy which are always there as your connection from your core energy centre of you to your original core creation.

So, you are connected into that central core system.

You are aware of what is always unfolding around you within the consciousness field of the planetoid you are on and any of the satellite stations that are still connected into the Earth wavelength and resonating as one pattern of conscious creation for this vector of creation, within what you know as your current galaxy, which is expanded through your consciousness.

You are maintaining and creating to maintain the higher field of existing civilizations. We have referred you to the existence of these and as you have expanded your field of clear connections and clear consciousness, and we have been helping you with this, then you become more aware of the new formations happening, perhaps around your location, and you will be expanding and expanding your consciousness field to identify yourself as you resonate with the incoming creations, ready for you.

This term of creations ready for you incorporates multi level existences of living support, for indeed you are maintaining and expanding the consciousness field of this living organism and so you are always supported in that. Free yourself of any limitations that might be apparent around you or within you or that have been perhaps presented to you. In freeing yourself of that, you are clearly being supported in the greater consciousness field of Creation.

This is all necessary for you to incorporate within all levels of your complex presentation around you. Remember also, you brought in these support systems from a different level of creation before you entered into your current body form and so it is a reminder to access those again. We have presented them to you in a different formation in this deliverance around you.

We acknowledge you are very actively engaged in many layers of creation on a daily basis. You might feel you are just creating your day going through routine practices of supporting self or others. Supporting self is the prime focus so that you are always within the reality of a very clear energy system and it is from that where energy flows out to others in many different ways in a very natural flowingness and unfoldment.

We are aware that many of you have a direct communication with the fleet of Beings all in accordance with your processes – those complex processes that are you and before you make any contact with anyone or any Being, you need to stabilize yourself within the core true source of your energy. Your Central Soul Source.

You are doing this now as we have presented these words to you and you will be noticing the difference.

This central core energy initially you need to allow to flow all throughout your systems and around you. Then you are ready to step forward or make contact. It puts you into a very clear focused intention, a very clear field and that clear field then resonates with those Beings you communicate with.

Of course this includes our communication with you in this way. This is now complete for this session.

We withdraw now, those of us known and addressing you as Orem.

Orem out “

“Thank you Orem.

This is Lani again. Again, I have expanded, again you have expanded your field of energy, your consciousness, the enhanced energy matrix around you.

We are going through a continuous clearance of patterns generally referred to as limitation patterns, but maybe it is not even that. Maybe it is just clearing your thoughts, clearing your own internal pathways so that you are always clearly connected to Source energy. That brings it back to the simple pattern of you – Pure.

This seems to be the purpose of these few moments where we have gathered together in this dimensional field.

Now, you need to bring all this back into your living space, into your physicality unit, enhancing it.

Thank you again for being here. Remember, take in a natural breath, focus on that, and bring all of the energy from above your head right through you down to the soles of your feet, tips of your toes and into your entire energy unit and locality.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.

When you are ready as you process what you have been receiving, bring yourself back into being aware of your present locality, date and time. Thank you.

Lani
