Omega Communications Portal

Remodelling. Your Point of Existence

Lani bringing you into the Omega Communications Portal and I do bring you into this dimensional energy space – greater dimensional space than just merely living with the body framework.

Here we are. You are familiar with coming into the expanded field of consciousness that is very natural to you, to all of us.

Be relaxed and curious as to what you will receive in today's session as we link together in the receiving area of the Station of Light. That is, it means you are in the receiving mode – you have switched on your receptors.

So, this is a good way to begin this session today.

“Acknowledged. Orem again surrounding you in this energy sphere, increasing the intensity of the streams of energy which you are receiving. With this increased stream of energy, it becomes clearer to you that you are being infused with a higher level of information and information is informing you in different ways.

You might be seeking information on disturbances around the planetoid. You might be seeking information on disturbances around your locality or your body form. The informational streams which you are adapting to are increasing, in a sense, your inner strength to discern what is a disturbance and what is not in accordance with your life path and that pathway is the trajectory given to you in previous gatherings. Your trajectory - where you began accumulating energy and information to be used in the best and appropriate way for you in the current model that you have. The model we refer to is the civilization model that you have appeared within.

Following on from this, the continuing streams of information coming to you from Source cosmic creation are remodeling the civilization. There are many different fields and stations and stages to do with remodeling. This is where you choose. You might be observing many different attitudes and scenarios of the civilization and in response, you would be resonating with what you are drawn to, especially now that you have strongly connected into the pure point of creation.

This point of creation might be a reminder to you that you initiated your presence within the civilization as it is now. You initiated your presence at the time of your birth and there is a comparison between the energy structures and energy fields as compared with your time of birth and the current time as you perceive it.

This is why we remind you that you are in a continuous stream of creation from your point of origin and the codes that are necessary to help you adjust to the higher frequency pattern so that you do not become locked into otherwise disruptive scenarios. You will relate this to your particular area of circumstance and existence,

Shifting your perception away from this now, you will be aware of the many groups of Beings here who are watchful of the occurrences around the planet. They are watchful over those of you who have a continuous intention of bringing in the enlightened civilizations so that you include yourself in the enlightened citizenship of the expanded field of existence. Therefore, whatever is occurring around you, you are already existing in a higher field of creation and functioning, it could be in quite a different way to how you consider yourself to be physically functioning, contributing in some way to the ongoing creation currently around you in the density fields, that may be in a way that while you carry out certain functions or living support principles, you are working in the conscious citizenship of the evolved civilizations already. Therefore, your energy field contains the imprint of a different type of civilization and bringing that imprint in allows what you call the physical creators to embrace different creations – different ways of doing things.

Everything that you bring into your self as you align with the field of creation of cosmic intelligent source, is helping uplift yourself and those ones you interact with into the clearer field of energy patterns.

Many channels are open – the channels being the communication channels that you have to the Beings, the supporting ones, the observing ones. Observing ones included in that label, are the High Councils who are watchful of the way that civilization is moving and the individuals who are aligning themselves into the higher cosmic fields. These exist around the planet, they exist everywhere throughout the connected matrix of consciousness.

We give this to you, presenting it in a different way to you and this is necessary because of the different perceptions you have and perceptions engage the pathways of thought or realizations. Every time you connect to the higher cosmic field there is a correction within the energetic thought form pathways that are you. There is a combination always as you present yourself into these presentations as you connect more fully in the clearness.

Entering this space with us is like entering a field where there is no encroachment of anything else into the field beyond the focus and the resonating fields with the cosmic creation – the original pattern for life enhancement – for life exploration. It keeps you and the Earth on its trajectory into a clear pathway. Remember, these clear pathways are always present in the energetic field surrounding you as an individual, and so the pathways are many, flowing throughout your energy field and the structure of you.

Is this what you have been waiting to understand?

As you take this into you, there is the, already, shift occurring energetically around you in this space as you are with us and therefore that indicates that all levels of you are ready for the alignment – attunement – harmonization with that conscious cosmic field.

Perhaps you understand that everything that is presented to you as a somewhat disturbance, or whatever you feel uneasy about what perceive, is a reminder to remember your connection into the clear pathways, patterns.

We, as the collective intergalactic field here with you are ready for you to explore deeper communication with us, individually for you. We are ready with you.

Already you have expanded into this greater field and this greater field is focused around you and around the current presentation of planetoid Earth. It is all energy patterns, frequencies, that you are receiving.

We acknowledge you receiving this and this was what was required in this presentation to you.

Orem out “

“Thank you, Orem, again for this expansion, the reminders, the deeper connection into wholeness, into the Source of everything.

As Lani again I am here to help us gather this into us, deeply into our central core – the Point of Existence for you – Your Point of Existence. Is there something significant in that phrase for you?

Now it is time to take in a conscious breath to bring all this back into you, into the intelligent formation of you that we identify as the body and the life pattern. What you have received is making adjustments to that life pattern, because you have brought in greater, clearer energy pathways all throughout you and into the core centre of you.

I celebrate this in you and as you and we are altogether in this new creative modelling of civilization.

I trust this inspires you.

Now it is time to end this session through the Omega Communication Portal. We are here to help you. Thank you and thanks to all the expanded field of Beings who surround us.

Do make sure that you are fully grounded. As you ground it, earth it, into all layers of you, you are creating the change. Thank you.

Lani
