Omega Communications Portal

Clear Pathways. Galactic Councils Transmutation

Lani connecting in this way through the Omega Communications Portal.

Everything. You are everything. You are the sum total of experience, for you and, as we continue these journeys in consciousness, I invite you to be with me. Relax your body. Relax your mind. Be open and curious and use your breath to transit from your daily physical life into the expanded positioning and orientation with the Station of Light. You are always received in this space.

Collectively, we are very strong together as we assemble here, ready to receive the energy and information appropriate today.

“Your presence is always welcomed here. Orem speaking on behalf of the Galactic Federation in this sphere, in this dimension, that we exist as, as part of your consciousness field. Therefore, what you will receive will be appropriate for you. You will identify it easily. You will identify the streams of energy and information you are always exposed to through the circuits which expose you to the rays of sunlight beams and streams through the sun.

Regardless of whether you are indoors or underground, you would still have an awareness that there is the Sol as part of the centre that your planet acknowledges and is part of that gravitational pull and the central galaxy point for you. You, as a Being of Light, also have a gravitational pull toward other people, or they would gravitate toward you, especially when your energy field is clear and strong.

The intention of these sessions is to help you recognize the necessity and the way to be clearly connected to the original point for your existence and of your existence. In whatever reality, whatever dimensional field you are present within, you are receiving the consistent and constant flow of energy and information for you and as you become aware of that and you integrate it within you, then there is an automatic balancing occurring around you, due to that resonance and the harmonic field you emit and which you also resonate with in that higher informational field. This is why it is important for you to continue the orientation shift completely to the pure original source of energy and information – the consciousness field above constructed fields contained of matter and within matter.

Do you see the pattern in your languages you are directed to “things that matter” and yet the emphasis on things that matter are in many ways a distraction from your central orientation point.

While we say the shift has occurred, the consciousness shift, your shift into the expanded field of consciousness has occurred – it is occurring. There is no time limitation on this. You would be simply responding to the impulses to align yourself fully and completely with the orientation shift into the streams of life-force and this is what changes physical matter. Even energetical systems are able to be transmuted into the higher dimensional field of existence. Remember this.

Utilize the transformation process that is contained within that plasmic field. Again, do you sense this energetic field around you as we are communicating with you? As you are here in this field of function and operational groupings, there is the communication level occurring within this energy sphere of the plasmic energy informational field.

This can be utilized as a conversion field for the energy coming through from Source creation into you as this humanoid form having an original intention and construct for the humanoid form to exist in a coherent stream and field within all the dimensions of reality that you have existed in. There is the effective field functioning in you and as you, clearing out distortions and disturbances. This is very strongly around you because of the magnetic resonance that you feel within your energy systems within you as the person, as the being, having an original form and the blueprint for that exists. It is an energetic blueprint which is completely able to be upgraded with the live streams coming through the solar portal. Enrichment. Enlivenment. Existing before your existence within the current body form you have.

Be very clear that the current body form in its original formation was intended to be a very clear vessel for the streams of energy and information.

All of this is known to you within the central processor, the core of you – your particular soul essence. Therefore, as you orient yourself to that, everything that has been disturbing that, from the civilization, is readily dissolved so that the reformation to the original intention is activated. You will beautifully present this into your lifestream.

In presenting this to you in this way, you are experiencing the existence in different formation civilizations, simply where you coexist as one community and you support in all of the functions necessary to support the citizens, the civilization beings. This opens the channels of communication within you each, the sense that you have of perceiving the clear pathways. There are always clear pathways presented to all of you. These will facilitate the clearance of the interfering patterns. This is the orientation. This is the placement of you in the coordinated expression of creation – the intention – the clear energy essence of you.

All of this is unfolding within you as you disregard conditioning that was limiting you and was perhaps steering you into a direction where the pathway was twisted, where the pathway was not moving forward into the first principles of life. Those pathways are always indicated by upliftment of happiness and joy. You know this. You experience this. Allow all of this now to strengthen your energy field.

This is always the purpose in the presentations of drawing you into this energetic sphere for you. Replenishing you. Replenishing the elements that are necessary to maintain the construct of you in its pure blueprint pattern.

This opens you up to the galactic communication levels and the support within those levels and patterns and Beings. It is a natural level that you become accustomed to and you will find that as you move into the communication in those circles, many of you are drawn from time to time into the gatherings of the Councils of Light. That is a very natural aspect of you.

You bring into those groupings, information that you bring forward that you gather simply in your general awareness of what is happening around the planet – you bring all of that to the attention of the Galactic Councils here. Information is processed and as it is processed, observation is strengthened around the network of the Planet Being and information to do with the interfering patterns. Then you realise that you have been placed in your locality in such a way that your clear energy field – your Soul essence – emanates and distributes this clearness and the pattern and this remodulates the vibrational frequencies that many people have been suppressed by. It is a process, you see, and so you need to keep your connection strong and clear at this time.

You will be aware of the energy coming through the Sun – it has been measured and shown to you in visual recordings. All this resonates with the energetic centres within you that resonate with the energy of it. All of this is an aspect of you receiving the pure, clear elements of life. You may feel this in different parts of your energy field and thus within or around your physicality unit.

You are becoming lighter from your clear connection. We are able to help with this, we are placed here to help you with this, helping you to be the clear energetic field. Already of course, those of you here recognize this and you recognize the pattern that you naturally send out wherever you go because it is part of your energy field. Remember you are this cosmic energy field, the energy generally of you is called the plasmic field. It is the activator of the processes within your structure, the body form, the codes.

You will feel this integrating all around you. Perhaps gently making sure that your entire energy field here is aligned, is clear and this we offer to you.

Orem out “

“Thank you, Orem. Lani again speaking and I feel again this was deep and had many layers to the energy field. Take it into you, again bringing it fully back into and around your physicality.

He spoke about the energy field around each one as this plasmic energy field. Perhaps what we see in the coloured lights photographed – the aurora – is showing us what that plasmic field is that exists between the Sun and the Earth and within us. Perhaps it is more than that – and it will be more than that.

Utilize the energy to maintain the clearness of you, even allowing your thought patterns to shift in accordance with your pure connection and they will shift because the consciousness field of you and Earth has shifted.

Enjoy this new aspect that you realize is you and as you. Truly a Being of Light.

Thank you and this ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Focus back within your body form and within the current time.
