Omega Communications Portal

Quantum field you resonate with.
Enhanced Vitality

Hello, Lani with you again to bring you on this journey. You know what to do! Relax your body and breathe naturally in and out.

Focus on your life force- the Soul essence of you – and feel how that expands you. In that expansion it is easy to shift your attention into the dimension of the Station of Light. This may seem almost like a city of light. As you become familiar with it, you feel the expansion of it and what is included in the pattern of its existence.

Bring all your focus into this space – what we call the initial receiving space and so I withdraw to allow the Galactic Beings to communicate with you.

“You are welcomed into this gathering and as you collectively receive the energy system here, then you become more aware of how beautiful you are – that you are an individual presence that is valued, that is precious – and so you have come into this gathering again for refreshment, for something new. Perhaps you are curious as to what more could be added into this expanded field that is you.

Always, when you gather in this space you have brought with you areas of experience that you have become aware of. Your awareness of the experience of the life pattern you are within may differ from where you are located and how you live your life. Everything is a vibration and shows within your energy field, so it is this pattern that we recognize that we can assess what is required. Therefore, each one of you will receive a different frequency pattern for you.

Our intention is always to clear your energy field and thereby allow you to receive the higher energetic transmissions, the frequency pattern that is transmitted to you. Be aware that you are receiving at this time and this may come to you in a different form, depending on how you receive the energy transmissions. The energy transmissions we refer to are beyond the words. They are available to you continuously during your experiences as you measure days or years or significant events.

This is a comparison given to you between what you receive and what we receive and as we receive a higher frequency pattern you are enveloped within it.

This is helping you in many different patterns as you flow through your movements in life.

Our intention continues to be to upgrade your energy systems. Speaking these words to you, the vibration flows through all experiences in matter, in a physical environment of whatever that environment was, wherever you existed not just on the planetoid you name Earth. Bringing your attention to that means that you are experiencing a shift of vibration necessary for wherever you are existing. This is the importance of you.

Continuing, there are various energetic structures that we work with to present this to you. Be aware of this living energy station and the environment here and what is offered. In most cases there is the principle – the cosmic principle - of balance and upliftment to create spheres of existence within all aspects of creation that work in harmony with the frequencies emitted to all aspects of creation. This is a quantum field we refer to.

You are within and you are a quantum field of consciousness. Consciousness goes beyond a framework that you may be aware of within the capacity that you have as it relates to your physicality. We are referring to the quantum field that embraces all creation – expansion – and the quantum field has a comprehensive enhancement that transcends any inharmonious situations. When situations that are not in harmony with the cosmic frequency pattern and they come into the field of the quantum frequency pattern, the system of the quantumness has a balancing effect.

You will be aware of this as many times you become aware of the sensation of being uplifted. Again, we are speaking to you on multi levels of understanding, so it could be a level of your happiness rising and increasing. It could be a level of clarity in some way. It is a multi dimensional aspect of the quantum field of the coherence of the quantum field and this is activating through various codes within the particles that you receive. Quantum particles. Feel this.

This means you are working in the quantum field within and beyond many galaxies that you are aware of that are named – many planetary systems. Each time you expand into the quantum field, the quantum field has the appearance that it is being drawn closer to where you exist. You have a resonance with it and so you are directly bringing in the quantum field that you resonate with.

There are, in effect, you might say safeguards simply because the quantum field of consciousness is beyond interference. It is a pure creative aspect that you receive, that you directly align yourself with. This is the presence of your Soul and so the essence of you, of that Soul essence, activates many of these particles within you that contain the codes. It is all one quantum field.

It is necessary to experience this within what you know as your physicality – your life form – the formation of the cosmic field frequency pattern as it expresses and creates within the energy field of the planet. You are creating. Are you creating from the connection, the correctness, of your Soul essence as it resonates with the quantum consciousness field? You are an active part of that.

Already you will have been feeling this expansion. Continue to feel that. Continue to experience the sense of new vitality, enhanced vitality, bringing it all into your life pattern. Growing and expanding your energy field.

Experiencing this coherence means that you have successfully received what we have presented to you in this session.

I withdraw now.

Orem out “

“So, the very strong presence that Orem brings in and with the collective Galactic Beings withdrawing from us, allowing us as individuals to orient ourselves into the quantum field he was directing our attention to, then this also may have the sense of expanding something new within you and completing a certain journey to allow all this to facilitate the upliftment of you. By that I mean the upliftment into that state of happiness – the natural essence of the Soul expression, expressing the natural Soul.

We have to play with these words to really realize the importance and the presence of you.

Bring this all back into you, as you are within this field receiving all this within the Station of Light, like a vast city of light itself and then when you are ready, bring yourself back, all this expanded field back into you – the core energy essence of the physicality of you.

Feel the enhancement of it, feel the corrections happening as all the misconceptions simply cannot exist in the quantum field of the pureness of creation. We are reminded of this.

Again, when you are ready, take in a natural breath and as you let it out, bring your awareness right down through your body, deeply within your body and around your body, connecting yourself into the present moment as we measure time. Time is relative to the position as we receive the energy rays of the sun – and much more than that. There is a natural rhythm that we are aware of within the placement of us within this Galactic field.

Thank you for receiving this and now I end this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
