Quantum field informing you.
Enliven. Enrich. Family patterns
Supportive communication matrix

Hello, I am Lani again with you, tuning into the higher dimensions that we access in the different state of consciousness and calling you together as a group. Even though you will be listening to this separately, as a group you are connected in an energy communication matrix. We are in our own communication matrix and centre of existence.

Come with me again, after relaxing your body and opening your mind and awareness to receive, and be with me within the receiving area – the gathering space of the Station of Light and its entire energy system. This is how we begin today.

“We greet you in this gathering space. Orem addressing you and I come forward again acknowledging you, acknowledging your essence and the energy field of you that is existing and co-existing with many different dimensional existences around you and within you. As you consider your life pattern as it has been in this current body form, all of the existences, the experiences, of you are with you and this is how the quantum field comes through into you and it enlivenes and illuminates and releases any impedances in the quantum field of you – the flowingness of you. Allow all that from this state of the quantum consciousness that you have realized that you are – and you allow that to be present in every aspect of your life pattern, without judgement of course. It is simply suffusing all aspects of you with the quantum consciousness field.

We have explained the quantum consciousness field is an entire creation, a creative formation, and it is now informing you with the corrected processes. This occurs because as you have accessed correctly the quantum field, aligning yourself with it, bringing all of you up to that frequency pattern that it is, then there is an automatic balancing and correction occurs all around you, all throughout your body lifeform and what was occurring in the civilizations around you, in every second, as you measure time.

You realize how important this is, this process that you are allowing, because the quantum field is part of the – well, in your terms we would use advanced technology, bio-technology because simply, it is not fixed, it is flowing in accordance with the quantum field and what you are resonating with.

So, just as you are aware of what resonance is, from this quantum field connection, there is the resonance within all elements and aspects of what you regard as you, your life, your body, your existence, your thoughts, your emotions.

The quantum field of course, incorporates what we have spoken to you about in previous sessions, of the cosmic plasmic field, which is that field of energy, a supply system, which comes through the solar pattern, the sol gateway, and it is very relevant for you to be aware of this, because it is bringing forth the pattern for you and for the civilization of the planetary consciousness – the aspects to enliven, to enrich, to clear and to balance situations.

We have recalled now to you that the balancing allows the freedom to be uplifted into the enlivening principles of creative life force.

We speak about you as an individual. We speak about you and family patterns in what you call your blood lines and we speak about the consciousness field of all civilizations of the planetary Being and we speak about the galactic Being – the galaxy that you are aware of – and the infinite existences which are becoming more real and revealed to you.

Remember the vital essence componentry of you and its this componentry that is replenished and renewed with the flows of the cosmic plasmic field and all of that is also part of the quantum consciousness field.

This is all that life is in its essence – the essential aspect of you and all of those codes referred to come in through the rays of energy coming through the cosmic field, the plasmic flow, into all of creation.

You are part of this beautiful creation existing of what you call your planetary being. The planetoid that you are on is a living sphere. You are a living sphere.

It is a supportive communication network that exists. The matrix of life down into the finest principle, the finest code and particle – everywhere.

Expanding upon this now, you are aware more frequently of meeting with other Beings also connected in the quantum consciousness field. There is mutual recognition, there is a resonating field of the vibration and then you realize the vibrational point is above – it is from the quantum consciousness field – the conscious intelligence of creation.

Perhaps you are thinking about a connectivity existing through the world with all of your ready communication systems enlivened and all the communication systems that are now present around the planetoid are within the quantum field. Always raise your awareness and focus into the higher field, the original pure intention of life. Science generally has been working to emulate what they know is true and many systems do not continue to exist because they were not formulated from the cosmic principle – the first principle of life. When you are aware of this, you will see that there will be a dismantling of systems that were not resonating with that cosmic consciousness field. You could also be aware of this happening in your locality or in the land mass where you have come into be present.

This is our purpose in bringing you together in these sessions – to awaken you to the principles of the cosmic creative force. When all are aligned with the quantum consciousness field, it is an automatic coming together, as a result of which there is resolving and solving and so there is the opening up and expansion of consciousness to facilitate that type of civilization that you may have dreamt is possible, that you know, that you have already experienced. An entire civilization working together, from a pure point of existence. That means without being tainted or controlled or any form of manipulation and also everything is grown organically.

Systems are grown organically and naturally. It is like an inherent compliance with the cosmic consciousness field – the ultra field.

You are resonating with this. There is self correction that you are aware of. You will also be aware of the central core energy of you – the central life essence – vitally you – you vitally – as the presence of the soul.

Take all this into you. You have the capacity to realize it and to enhance you as perhaps presenting and bringing the quantum field into your location, into your land mass and even if you travel, you are bringing that quantum principle in through you everywhere.

You may already be experiencing, as you travel or walk or move through different elements of creation, of the natural life, you feel a new vibrancy. You will be getting confirmation in many ways. It confirms you being present.

This confirms that you are receiving the energy field, the plasmic flow of the quantum consciousness.

This is bringing you into this in this session today.

I withdraw now.

Orem out “

“Thank you, Orem. Lani again with you and I am aware of many other supporting Beings around us all, around me, though often they do not come forward as an individual, but their presence is with us all and you may be aware of them in some way.

It is simply presenting the energy field, acknowledging you and your cosmic presence within the body form and living the life, expressing it all through you.

It is time now to return to the lifeform, enhancing you in every way, your life fully supported in every way. On your next natural breath in, feel the higher resonating frequency that you are now. Every session raises your frequency and therefore clears any discordant patterns. Breathe it all into you, right down to your feet on the ground and into the energy field of Earth and then when you are ready, orient yourself back into present time as we know it.

Thank you for being here and receiving this and being present in this world that we know with me.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
