Cosmic Origins Quantum Energy Information

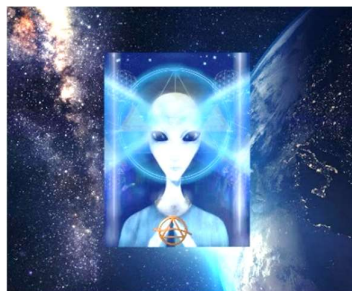

Hello, Lani bringing you these sessions of Light Energy and Information.

Where are you? Are you somewhere where you can be relaxed and open and curious to connect into your soul level – your expanded light body self – and where you can shift easily into the receiving area and state – your receiving state – within the Station of Light?

It is as simple as taking in a lovely breath and let it out and here you are, in this extra dimensional space, ready to begin today.

“Indeed, we come forward greeting you. I am Orem addressing you. You are familiar with my energy. I am familiar with your energy and the information which you bring forward in the assembly here, as collected from the consciousness of the civilization within the Earth sphere at the current level of exploration, of understanding and the current level of what the expansion of awareness is. You are aware of what that is.

We assess initially your individual energy systems present here and we assess initially what you bring forth and even in the small levels of exchange and information offered to you in these sessions, you receive components and packets of information. In the ensuing time period between sessions all that information becomes processed within you and therefore you are allowing that to move out through your energy field into whatever situation you experience or you become aware of. You might become aware of something which is occurring elsewhere in the planetary sphere. Although it is not touching you individually, your awareness comes into receiving what is occurring.

When you are sufficiently connected to the original source pattern there is an inflow of energy offered into whatever situation is in your awareness.

It is a reminder again for you to remember to connect all of your aspects of creation into the original pattern of source energy.

We have often called you to align with your point of origin and that naturally receives all the energy and information necessary for your existence, your pattern, your thoughts, your emotions.

There is an infinite supply within the quantum energy information field, always for you. You have that direct connection. Right from your choosing – and we are speaking about your soul consciousness - choosing to enter the Earth sphere as it is currently, you were aware of some situations, but you were attuned to the infinite consciousness – the energy information systems necessary – and so what happened as you entered the life pattern was that it was like you were receiving a large amount of information and data you were not familiar with.

So, as we say, when you enter into this space with us and you receive, you are decluttering your energy field. The more that you declutter your energy field, the stronger your connection into the source of all creation is evident and you are receiving the information patterns necessary. This will help you in many ways as you initiate it all into your current circumstances of experience.

Now that we have called you into this reconnection and the full awareness of that energy field of your potential, now you are able to access the information that we present as the appearance from cosmic origins to support the overall improvement of the energy structures which are the overlaying energy matrix field that is the expanded consciousness field available for all. It is part of the revealing the true essence of the consciousness of the planet, formed to provide what is needed to also advance and open up the generations of people into realizing cosmic origins and the cosmic intention throughout all creation where conscious life is embodied in the many formations.

Again, this will bring into your awareness the support systems.

The cosmic support systems are available to bring into the true alignment processes without interference. Many of you have been functioning from an interfered pattern around you. When you become aware of this then you are led into the energetic structures or to align with the ones who see those interferences and who then work with your consciousness field, your soul, to clear the interferences.

Already this has happened for many of you in different levels. This is why you would be feeling you are a different person, a different being to what you were decades ago in your life path. In effect, you have been changing your life cycle, the energy of your life cycle and that comes into the coherent pattern of cosmic origin.

All this that we are giving to you through the words is also available in the energy matrix field around this Earth planetoid and the levels of consciousness.

It is just moving through the patterns of consciousness that do not relate to you and your journey and restoring the pattern of the cosmic origin – the overall cosmic energy information centres and services.

This is the energy information for you at this time.

As your awareness is brought back to the present gathering, we say to you to honour yourself, be gentle with yourself and enjoy the expanded field, the expanded energy systems of you.

You are the centre of your creation.

With this reconnection, we leave you at this point

Orem out “

“Thank you, Orem. This is Lani again, and I am aware of the cosmic beings around all of us here.

There is magnificent movement around us – flows touching everyone of us in an individual way, depending on our individual responses, our awareness and what we accept. I feel this system that we have received in this session has taken us further into the depth of the cosmos – what we think of as that.

I trust you are inspired with all this Light Energy and Information in this session.

Bring this all back fully into your energy field and then deeply and fully into your life cycle, from this point where you are existing. Perhaps you will feel enlivened with this. Whatever way you receive it, it is given with love and sincerity.

Now bring your consciousness fully back aware of your presence presenting it into your life pattern now and everything that is around you. Thanks for being here, receiving it and sharing it.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Thank you.

Lani
