Dimensional locations. Prime Systems. Refresh

Hello. Lani with you again as I gather you into this space where we connect and we connect out of time and space to the dimension where you easily access the light

Energy Information. Have you been feeling that? Have you been feeling the stronger connection to the quantum light field?

As we continue today, gathering in the Station of Light, what will you draw through as information for you to receive today and for all of us? Be open. Be curious and allow the energy to awaken the senses and to connect you into the cosmic field.

"Greetings beautiful Beings. Orem addressing you and welcoming you indeed and introducing you to a different level – an expanded level, or plane of existence that you might like to think about it as being a different plane of existence. That is, different to the plane of existence that you have been functioning in, in your daily coordinated life.

Entering into this expanded plane of existence, we would have you realise that it is not a level plane – it is an energy field. This energy field we refer to is also connecting you directly into the cosmic intelligent field on a more aware level of your understanding, an expanded state of your awareness, into this energy field.

This is also gathering all the aspects of you into specific alignment frequency patterns which are aligning you directly with the portal of energy and information for you, connecting you to the original point before you chose to come into this aspect of life that we are addressing you as. Remember, all aspects of you are also receiving the energy patterns, because the energy patterns are the frequencies contained, or perhaps described simply as light.

As you come together in this receiving aspect of self, your receptors, your energy grid, is expanded to enliven different aspects that may have been out of tune, not resonating with, the higher intelligent field of you – the essence of you.

This would have had an effect throughout your life span currently of disturbances and maybe of relocating into different aspects that you realise were not in conformity with your true essence. So the intention of this experience today as you receive this, is to align yourself with the specific locations. Locations in this sense can mean dimensional locations of existences in the cosmic intelligent field. Therefore, even if you do not physically move location, you are moving into the frequency pattern – the energetic field location – and this is clearing away extraneous matter that had been registered in your energy field, perhaps accumulated in some way.

This again is a different aspect of clearing, or decluttering, your energy field. You could call this regular maintenance, a regular tune up for you to experience whenever you feel the need, whenever you feel that your energy matrix, your energy field, is not in coherence with the prime source of energy information. Again, this simply is restoring you to the original intention and pattern for the cosmic intelligence as it enters through the Soul into the biological humanoid field intelligence. The combination of those levels brings you naturally into a clear location, a clear space.

This is what is occurring in your life pattern – your life cycle.

You may be experiencing yourself in this present moment in your life cycle and perhaps considering where is your life cycle moving to, or expanding into. This is the point of bringing the energy information into your biological unit and this opens up the pathways within you to the cosmic intelligent field. Therefore, the actions that you put into practice, or motion, in the biological energy field of you will be in accordance with the cosmic intelligent field. It must be synchronized with what is coming through which you are bringing through all through your vital essence into you.

There are new creations already arising in your thought patterns, the impulses to create something of a higher vibration frequency, clearer, more beauty to be expressed through you and into the environment. This is important for you. This is an important way that you are helping the environment of the consciousness field of what you think of as the planet. The consciousness of that is linked with you bringing in more of the cosmic intelligent field into the biological systems that you might refer to as all of the planetoid with all of its systems.

So there is coherence with your biological energy systems in accordance with the soul cosmic intelligent systems and all of this is expanding. The frequency is changing as it incorporates more of the higher energy field. This is where your focus is. This is where the new prime systems and information arise from. They come through naturally into the consciousness fields which are correctly attuned with, connected with, the prime intelligent systems.

We stress this so you realize it within you. For some of you it would be new phrases, new terminology, a new point of reference to align yourself with, a new fountain of knowledge. Many of these terms will naturally come into your thought patterns as you try to define these terms. The energy within them of course will lift you into the frequency pattern where you simply know what it is and all that it is which you are receiving.

You are a natural receiver of this cosmic intelligent light stream.

Action will naturally evolve from this and multitudinal actions of course will arise from this in all the levels of your creation, remembering that you created this pattern of life you are experiencing and you are drawing from the highest state of your connection and the potential.

Embrace this. Embrace this field of existence where you are receiving this with us. Embrace it all. It is a living field of existence. In part, you are living in this field of existence. It is linked with your current biological existence and of course that cosmic existence. We have lifted you into this reality in this presentation as a refresher for you, that restoration level, the recharge systems.

Now that you have taken in this recharge, or you have taken in the vital essence, this you can use in your daily existence, bringing forward resolutions to queries you might have had and resolutions to what you might feel has not been functioning correctly within your energetic systems, the biological systems and the light field.

This is complete for you in this deliverance and now I withdraw.

Orem out “

“Lani speaking again. I appreciate what we have received in this session, Orem, thank you.

As you take all of this in now, this complete package that he presented, it is all necessary for you in what you are experiencing currently on all levels of your energy systems. You might be receiving all sorts of thought patterns that are pushed out around us in our presentations of world activities or local activities. It is a reminder to disconnect in a sense from that so that you connect into the higher field of the energy essence and you bring that in and then that is naturally moving out through you. Enhancing, uplifting, clarifying information for other people. It will be working in very natural ways.

So, it is necessary to bring what you have received in this session fully back into you, merging completely into all of the pathways into your energy matrix field around you.

Again, this has been a wonderful information session to bring through to you and to myself and to everyone connected to us in whatever way. Thanks for being here receiving this.

Now, fully breathe it back into your body and as you breathe out, it allows you to bring in this higher field more firmly and deeply into all the aspects of you that we think is the physical body and the physical life you are living. This is you in this present moment being fully present.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
