What is the remedy?

As always, to begin the inner journey in consciousness, let your body relax and allow yourself to receive. Do this simply by taking in a natural breath. As you let it out, feel that you are with me and many others gathering together and assembling in the receiving state and space known as the Station of Light.

Together we create a beautiful gathering of beings of light. So here you are – the being of light, strong in your individual surroundings and strongly here in your presence. Thank you.

"I am Orem addressing you and with the gathered community of beings here, surrounding you in this energy field again. You may be perceiving this as an area of a higher frequency pattern, perhaps visualizing it as light, being aware of the different state of energy systems here.

Your natural energy system present as you are receiving this in your body of light is also receiving the elements within the light field frequency here. This is another way to help you assimilate the energy which balances many of the systems of your actual biological physical formation and in its assembly and in its functioning. The energy will come in from this higher frequency field pattern which is incorporated in the cosmic blueprint for lifeforms. There may be those of you who are caring for other creatures or other ones who are needing the increase in the vital life force and life frequency pattern and therefore they also will be receiving through your association through your energy field also that is known to those ones who are drawn to you.

In many ways you may spend activities searching for elements that can be applied or ingested into the physical lifeform. The energy systems required must be initiated and activated from this cosmic field frequency for the blueprint for the lifeform. It is in this way that many of the creations have come forth to assist. The creations that have come forth which utilize the frequency patterns of the natural elements surrounding the biosphere of planetoid earth, these are the effective ones because they carry the vibration of the original imprint of creation.

So it is that vital energy that you will be needing to take in with anything that you apply to your biological body system in any way. This was needed for those of you who are considering what is the remedy appropriate for the current circumstances of experience. It always must begin with the connection to the pure cosmic frequency pattern.

This same principle is applied to the wider spectrum of the energy field known all around your planetoid system. This is another way, do not engage in the lower field activities, but rather than that, you engage in the cosmic field frequency of creation that always exists there.

The existence has always been there, but it had been ignored, it had been in simple terms misinterpreted or mis-informed or limited and the information of the cosmic frequency field was not brought forth to the individuals as part of the life support system. This is the natural system of the environment and while there are many technical type people researching this, there are more prominent researchers involved in the manufacture of components which they consider to be effective or financially effective. So again you come back to the first principle of life, the creative life force.

Now that you are filling yourself with this energy field again, and it is easier in this exposure to the clearer pattern to the energy field in gatherings such as this, you are now able to be clearer in your connection with the vibrational frequency of first of all, the particular galaxy you are within. This is the focus of course, because from your existence, from your locality in the biosphere of planet Earth, you are observing around you into the deeper layers of the galactic field consciousness. You will also see that there is brought through the central control intelligent system of creation – the source energy field for this particular galaxy through the solar gateway – this is where the flow of energy is coming in.

You may also observe and be aware that there is the incoming field of the galactic beings likewise connecting with the original source creative frequency patterns and coming in within those beams and streams, the accessways available. The ones who are helping indeed are bringing through powerful streams and beams lightening up areas of people, of the aware beings such as you are, who are connecting into the cosmic frequency pattern and this can of course enable you to link with some of these individual bringers of the systems of light.

This is the reality of what is occurring and what you have connected in with. Keep your focus always, throughout whatever streams of study you might be observing, keep your own focus to your original point of creation and that is the natural point back to the source energy frequency.

You will know that this enables change. Change will occur when more people are accepting that there is a life force, a frequency field, available to all lifeforms. It is the soul / sole connection of an individual through their true essence and vital life source back to the original life source.

Every time you collect data, energy or information that you observe outwardly occurring in different areas right from your location around the entire planet surface and internally also, this is the opportunity when you become aware of such experiences happening – this is the opportunity for you to consciously connect back to the cosmic energy frequency. It is indeed likened to a purification frequency pattern but there are components in that, concepts, that contain the relevant energy patterns that naturally correct, restoring balance and more than that, it is an enlightening energy frequency, and you understand that light is a frequency.

This is what you came in to receive. Perhaps you have stepped outside of a busy activity, involved in various meetings, gatherings or functions or celebrations in any way.

Perhaps it is simply that you have stepped aside from all of that to maintain equilibrium in you and the clear connection to the cosmic frequency pattern for the purposes of your individuality.

You will have been observing that many individuals have been in a state of chaos or have had items entangling them that have distorted and warped the natural frequencies which are the natural regenerative, restorative frequency patterns within the body. This can have occurred through the entire lifetime of the body or, in what you would term, recent years. It is still the fundamental clear cosmic energy pattern that is needed.

This is our presentation to you, reminding you of these factors that are the natural elements of the composition of everything that you consider yourself to be as a biological unit and as a cosmic unit with the life essence, the life force, the life flow, the central soul of you. This is recognized in you, it is recognized as your energy field, thus this presentation is complete for you in this gathering.

We withdraw now,

Orem out “

Thank you, Orem, this is appreciated.

Lani speaking again, still with you in this vast gathering space within this vast station of light. It seems to increase in the energy field of it each time we gather, because we are gathering in as an expanded field of consciousness. That's wonderful.

Gather all this energy field, the light, the energy, the information given in this session, bring it back all into your conscious awareness and deeply into your biological, physicality location, this physical aspect of your life cycle. It is interesting realizing that all the frequency patterns you receive are changing the life cycle of you. That means it could be from the start of your entrance into you when you were being formed and it could be up to the present moment and everything you have experienced, all the different pathways you have travelled and from this moment it incorporates the changes in your vitality systems that you are making which is termed the future.

There has been another great infusion of, can I say corrective energy. It will enhance you in the ways you have been seeking quite naturally. You will have time to absorb and understand and make all this real to you until we next gather in this way.

Do make sure you are physically present, as if you have come back into your body form from above your head, through your body, grounding you through your feet, bringing all this energy information into you and around your energy field.

This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal.
