Ancestors. Clearing, Freeing Cosmic Origin

Hello. Lani opening this session for you, for us all to gather in the levels of consciousness where we exist as one unit. Already, you see, I am shifting you out of the daily activities you have been engaged with and as you listen and connect into the greater communication network, you will already be aligning yourself with the higher energetic field of energy and information. This is always the pattern. I may present it to you in different words, but it is the pattern of realizing you have an important place within and as your body self, but you need to connect always to the constant soul energizing itself and replenishing itself and replenishing your vitality from the cosmic field of creation.

Joining in these sessions brings you into a space of receptivity and it is in this space that we gather in a receiving state and space of the station of light – existing – observing – alongside planet Earth and indeed other planets.

So, here we are, gathered together ready to receive energy and information in the many ways that you as an individual receive it. Let's continue receiving.

“Communicating with you again, I am known as Orem and of course there are many Beings with me in this field of consciousness existence, in this reality and it is all about assisting you to be here consciously and realizing the extent of your presence.

Your presence as the consciousness field of you is existing always and in a multi-dimensional field that is beyond your measurements of limitation. It is infinite and so as we bring your awareness into recognizing this again and accepting this as you are, then you find you are energetically connected with several groups of Beings or with particular individuals for specific purposes. Always there is an energetic exchange with the coming together, with the presentation and everything that might be involved with that connection. Remember, most importantly it is an energetic connection.

We are aware that you fill your lives with activities and in those activities there may be expressions of joy, there may be expressions of other levels of emotions. The existence that you bring into the moment always contains the joyful expression of creation. Whatever the circumstances are presenting themselves or that you have presented yourself into, remember the presence of the cosmic field of consciousness.

Having brought you into this space and your attention is focused within the reality of this space, there is again the recognition you will be finding of the incorporation in your energy field of multiple generations that you have aspects of collectively through the anatomical situations, the cells, the physical coming together of enzymes and processes – always around that of course is the cosmic field of creation.

Bringing this into your presence brings all those connections into the cosmic vibration again – the frequency pattern that is actively engaged in presenting a pureness and also in this current presentation of you in your life cycle there is the activation and awareness of a greater light field that the cosmic frequency pattern is.

Bringing everything that has been an aspect of you into this moment, it is presenting that into all memory and energetic imprints that are linked in any way with your energetic field in the life cycle as the physical form. You may be experiencing aspects drifting away out of your awareness.

There has been in your current lifespan interest in understanding the patterns of the ancestors. Now you see you have recognition of some of those ancestors and you see you are bringing it all into the present moment of the gathering in of the cosmic light field to be distributed out through all those patterns of existence.

This is what you are doing – energetically, consciously, within the energetic field that you are.

You will understand the importance that we have been presenting you into always to clear the energy imprints around you as an individual and thus you are able to clearly be present, presenting the cosmic field frequency.

This is part of the evolvement not just around you individually and around the collective Beings present on the planet currently, and more than that, it is including all the other lifeforms that have ever been in existence, in a presentation, anywhere, anytime, across dimensions, across realities, throughout existence.

This will be having a consequential unfoldment of you and around you in your locality. It is an ultimate clearing, an upliftment, a freeing up of resources, removing constrictions that had been apparently coming in to seemingly control individuals, populations. In reconnecting always to the cosmic streams and the frequency fields, you are above all the limitations or constrictions and you are always within the evolutionary pattern of enlightening everywhere, everything.

This is you. This is the pattern of you, all the pathways throughout you. The en-lightening – lightening in within you and around you.

There can be accumulation of excesses of information in any way within individuals, and again, excessiveness in any way produces a limitation or a blockage, it is like an interference. So, with you presenting yourself in and completely opening to the streams of cosmic frequency there is automatic clearance occurring in you and around you.

This is enabling clearer communication with patterns of creation. All patterns of creation, whether it is what you would call organic or inorganic or perhaps a substance you might feel has no life force in it – it is nevertheless an aspect of creation and everything is receiving the fields, the streams of vital essence around you and through you.

You could picture this perhaps as you reaching up outside of the field around the planet, perhaps if you felt you were reaching up above and out into the cosmic frequency existence, then you are accessing that light field, energy field, of the cosmic creation. You will feel that flowing in you and through you. You bring yourself closer into connection with those of us who are observing the placement of the planetoid and the placement of people throughout the land mass or the consciousness field of the planet and there is also the implications of that which brings in the automatic adjustment fields and interconnections between you and other intelligent conscious Beings observing you and with you, working with you. Many times you are aware of such connections that we refer to and so these are continuously available to you. They are groups, they are individuals. We generally call them, for your understanding, your support team and they will have many cosmic origins, just as your ancestors have cosmic origins, back to the original impression and impulse of creation.

This is the pureness that is available all time, everywhere around you. Accessing that is what you have come in to experience. This revitalizes you and you are remembering this way of creation.

This we leave with you. You will continue to work with this and we will meet again, continuing this presentation to you.

Orem out “

Thank you, Orem. Lani again, bringing myself back to be present with you and enjoying the gathering.

Bring the enjoyment back, as you continue your lifecycle, the journey of evolution of you. There is a bit to consider, remember and listen to again in this session and I am sure you will.

Bring it all back now to where you are presently receiving this, being fully present in the moment.

As I end this session through the Omega Communications Portal, be aware of the clearness, the strength, the vitality of your energy field and therefore, You. Thank you.

Until we meet up again, enjoy life.

Lani
