You exist in cosmic Light

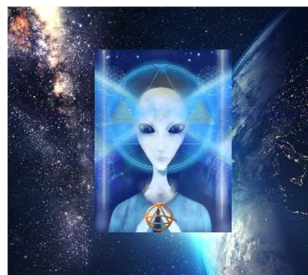

Hello. Lani bringing you into this energy frequency space. As we begin today and shut out the external world, as you move deeper within your soul essence, (if you are listening to this you may be aware of noise in the background). It is major clearing going on around where I am, letting in more Light – more Space.

As we begin today as you take in your next natural breath and let it out, be with me and all of us gathering in the receiving space of the Station of Light.

Each one of us might have a different perspective, a different vision of what we are surrounded in here and even though it is personal to you, the experience of being here and receiving information in the energy field is the prime purpose of being here. So let's begin.

“You are acknowledged here, Beloved. Orem addressing you and as you embrace the energy field here, you are embraced in it. It is an experience that you are creating together with us, so there is blending together, mingling in, the absorption of the entire consciousness field that is presented here.

This consciousness field surrounds you always. Everything surrounds you always. The potential surrounds you always. All of your and your soul's experience surrounds you here. You become more aware of what is relevant to you from this moment as you create the new field of opportunities and those opportunities are the potential that you bring in and you create through that potential that is offered and this is relative to the level of the connection you have in that light field of expanding consciousness.

We may have presented this entire session in these first few moments of communicating with you.

There is the field which can be accessed in various different ways and you will have experienced during your lifetime of accessing the field of energy and information in different ways through different aspects. This is where again we remind you to always focus to the highest point of cosmic intelligence – the true creative life force – and then you tune into what may become apparent to you.

Therefore, you are drawing to you from whatever level you have your focus into.

That is the point, the central point of the understanding of why you are a conscious Being and you are present on Earth. You are manifesting out of the cosmic intelligent field the area of your experience of your life cycle. As you envelop all of that again, it means you have come into alignment with your pure soul essence.

From this we are able to have you move into some of the quantified fields that you have experienced and we speak here about the analogies and the presentation to you of the reality of the crystalline light cities. These are also an aspect that exist within your consciousness field. You may access those and when you do that from the point of view of being curious and not limiting it by various previous thought patterns, you experience a deeper communication link into the reality of those light cities and the quantum intelligent systems that are created in that dimensional frequency of existence.

You might have an idealistic viewpoint of what that is, so again, when you are attuned and consciously connected to the cosmic intelligent field, you will get the situations, the sensing, the illustrations of what is happening in that reality field and also you will have the sense of your existence in that reality.

From this perspective and the linkage that we have helped you to access, you all will be observing an aspect of yourself consciously integrating energetic fields, perhaps correcting fields that are not in harmony and resonating with the cosmic intelligent field. As you do that, be aware that this is what is happening naturally in your Soul presence in the current locality in the civilization where your body form is. It is a similar outworking of the situation. Seeing the clear pattern and in seeing a clear, true pattern, the point of existence, then this automatically has a natural alignment action and it brings all of the creation around you into the resonating pattern, the harmonic link with the cosmic creation field.

You are necessarily doing this. You are naturally doing this. Some of you remember bringing this information into you in the early years of your development in this particular body form. You are bringing this higher cosmic field of the crystalline light intelligent systems into the present moment.

This can have an immediate clearing or alignment effect in your own personal energy field currently and throughout the framework of your body form. There are no boundaries in the presentation of the cosmic frequency field and everything that it is. It is gently and consistently bringing aspects of you into clear alignment with your pure soul presentation and essence.

This may give you the sense of changing your reality, changing how you view certain people, changing the reaction you have with certain people, changing relationships generally with the environment around you and of course the environment includes relationships with individuals, with the living creatures.

You see, it is a magnificent blending together within the consciousness overlaying matrix field of creation. The cosmic matrix field, not to be confused with manmade construction fields that are evident around the planet, more so in some areas than others. You are consciously connecting always to the cosmic matrix, the cosmic frequency patterns of beyond Earth planet itself, Earth's biosphere, and moving throughout all existence of creation.

Momentarily you are accessing elements out of the cosmic creative field that your soul intelligence recognizes is needed for all of your systems, all of the life cycle that you are experiencing. This is the source, the replenishment, the activation of everything that is necessary in your life path.

Absorb this and as we observe you doing this and participating in it, we bring your awareness back to the initial gathering space where we greeted you and it is here where we depart from you until the next gathering when you come into to receive again and share in the energy matrix field of creation.

Orem out “

Thank you, Orem.

This is Lani again, experiencing the layers, the different chords. Did some of this strike a very deep note within you? Did it ring a bell?

Did it strike a musical note and chord? That is what it is all about – the harmonics and the resonating fields and so again, there are multi levels within this presentation all merged as one. It is not able to be defined as this level and that level and that layer – it is one field of consciousness, cosmic intelligence, Orem was speaking about.

So this is you immersed in the Soul cosmic intelligence field and this is what you bring back consciously now into your lifeform, into the life – changed again from this moment!

This is the presentation today for you to continue to receive and enjoy and even as you progress in your existence and perhaps you come back to revisit this session in several months' time, you will recognize the energy and information and the relevance to you at every point of action or reaction or creation.

It is interesting times we are experiencing with all the clearance and other activities being activated.

Thank you for being here.

This ends this session through Omega Communications Portal.

Again as we began, take in a natural breath, being conscious that you are breathing in naturally and as you breathe out, bring your awareness fully back into you and around you. Fully aligned and balanced, clear and energized and enjoy the Soul essence of you. Enjoy You.
