Omega Communications Portal

Creations aligned with cosmic intelligent systems. Receivers

Lani presenting this to you through the Omega Communications Portal and so we begin this day as I connect with you, you connect with the energy pattern of this communication space. It always begins with you breathing easily, naturally, and you breathe yourself into the collective gathering in the space we call the gathering space in the Station of Light. It is an aspect of consciousness that you can readily access to communicate in a deeper level, to amplify your receiving and communication levels. This is why we begin in the same pattern week by week and as you continue to experience the expansion of energy and receive it in this space, it amplifies and connects your greater connective abilities to the prime source code – the energy and information that is Source cosmic intelligence system. So, here we are, beginning already. Thank you.

“We are with you as one connected group, Beloved. Orem addressing you as the spokesperson and as we continue overview of you and of the energy systems around the planet, there is put in place and modified and gently replaced, or the movement is in accordance with where the needs are, what we are describing is the overall energy field, to enable you to access beyond any dampening type fields that are placed around the Earth and throughout different layers of your physical communications.

Again, we are with you in this space raising your connections into the clearer light field. We like to use terms you are familiar with and it enlightens your sense of communication so that you do not get weighed down with any of the other irrelevant matters that are occurring throughout the general population.

When you agree to receive and receiving the information directly through your soul communication to soul source, you are enabled to be fully present in a much clearer way. This also enables you to harness different fields of light which are necessary in the maintenance systems around you. These are the maintenance systems of you individually and the maintenance systems for incorporating natural processes for the stability and livingness of all humanoids on the planet – all Beings on the planet. There are present, of course, many different races which you would not identify simply as Earth humans.

What we are saying to you is that your own individual connection through your Soul intelligence and the cosmic intelligence is all that is relevant for you. This makes way for what you would say is the super intelligent systems for Earth and there is the enfolding throughout all of your technical creations the overview presence of the cosmic energy field. So, when we say there are corrective fields and movements, some of it is in relation to what has been revealed to you of the artificial intelligent systems around you.

So, when you raise your connection back to the cosmic field of intelligence which is incorporating evolutionary cycles and processes which exist elsewhere in other dimensional realities, you are bringing this into the Earth pattern and therefore making sure that all creations are attuned and aligned with the cosmic intelligent systems. It is known as funneling the information into the correct receivers. The correct receivers - we are speaking about some of the technicians involved in the work. You see, whatever plans they are creating from, there is the conscious intelligent system of every individual Being and when that Being is connected to the cosmic field, there are corrective energy patterns placed within the creations that are being man-made and uploaded into your atmosphere. You see, rising above any apparent levels you might think as containment or limitation in any way – when you rise back to the original Source of everything, you find that there is a continual human adjustment to the higher field. In many ways even in this session you are receiving a higher field of energy codes – patterns – being revealed to you, offered to you, to be taken into your natural imprinting areas of creation for you. When you remember it is your soul accessing the higher field information, it is all in accordance with that higher level.

You are going to see new constructions. You will be seeing into your own energy pattern. You do this when you connect to all of your existences. We are speaking about all your soul existences accessing intentionally the pure intelligent systems.

Whatever the other realities were that you might have explored in various modalities and techniques to solve problems, we are speaking to you about accessing the original cosmic pattern of creation behind all of it. This has the effect of dissolving and eliminating mis-informed patterns, so all you are receiving is the corrective information patterns for you. All of this is directly focused around you and your individual world. It is you who corrects your individual world and how you view the rest of the planet world from your higher perspective of knowing that the higher field intelligence is present and is available to inspire and perhaps influence the higher field creations.

At this point you may now be aware of many of the different intelligent systems and the presence of the Beings supporting, working in the consciousness network field – the matrix of the light field. This is what you are tapping into, in your connections. It is all available. It is all inherent in your intention and the presence of your soul to correctly align with those inherent patterns. You can now know and see that this goes out to all the ancestral patterns of you and the descendants. It can go to thousands of people if you could number them.

In this moment you are in the moment in time, although it is out of time measurement, but you are in the correct alignment for this correction, for bringing through all the lines of communication and existence through your bloodline system to enhance it all and clear it and draw upon the correct blueprint pattern that was always there. It is always there in the existence of the soul.

Does this answer many of the questions you have been bringing forth in the connection with us in this session? As we viewed you in the gathering, we have drawn through the appropriate energy information patterns for you. You have drawn that through to receive these simple words and the energy presented, some of which you may be having images arise within you.

You can look around you and see many different lifestyles of yourself or family. You could see many different separate environments and life realities and they still exist. You only come across them if it is very necessary for you to do so, remembering that you have the vital energy information naturally within you, within your soul presence. This may have been giving rise to you that you feel you are a different Being. When that occurs it is simply that you are accessing the appropriate level of corrective type energy information, accessing it through that other intelligent system that is an aspect of you and in a sense, it comes through to help you understand your placement or the experiences you are having. This will also allow you to not be confused by some information which is being heavily implanted into the lower controlling mechanistical type fields that you function in, in the livingness around the planet.

We are all about raising your frequency pattern so that you connect naturally back to the original intention for you. This is why this has been presented to you in this way in this gathering.

We withdraw now

Orem out

Lani speaking to you again, thank you Orem for this presentation to us.

While you are still experiencing the shifting energy field around you brought through this session, bring your attention back to how we began this session where we met together in a large gathering space and momentarily place yourself there. Feel yourself there. Perhaps some of you will feel your energy field all around you contains a massive amount of information that you are absorbing and will continue to interpret and absorb.

Now it is time to bring all this around your physicality within your physical form and everything because your physical form has its own body intelligence necessarily receiving this higher energy field so that the soul is working together with it. Your beautiful world of you. I am sure you will go forth aware that you are shining - you are simply this field of light contacting many people around you in your lifestyle.

Now breathe in naturally and as you let it out, feel you are fully connected and grounded in your world, your individual world and body and space and the current time as you measure it. You will be aware as you look around you, you are bringing everything into the new light space that you are. Thanks for being here and tuning into the Omega Communications. This ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Remember to be fully grounded in the space where you are.
