Cosmic Intelligent System Vitality Systems

I am Lani with you again, introducing you to the new energy systems of today. Every day there are new energy systems around us. Do you realise that?

So, participating in anything that raises your consciousness to connect to the one Source of energy and information, this changes the energy field within you and around you. These sessions help you to do that, to let go of your current thoughts and circumstances and connect deeply with your soul presence and essence that is of Source energy, creative energy information.

Be with us all within the receiving area of the Station of Light. It is a state of existence and this is where you are presently immersed within that field. Thank you.

“Greetings. I am known as Orem and I am with you in this gathering space.

As I envelop you in the energy field, you respond. Your energy field responds to the expanded field of energy and information. It expands around you. It is an expansion of dimensional presence and intelligence and this is what we refer to as the cosmic intelligent system. It is a field of energy. It is a system in the sense that it assists you to receive all the patterns in the frequency fields around you.

These frequencies we speak about are beyond your normal hearing and yet they are a frequency, or a vibration, that you inherently respond to. It is a natural response. It is a response such as you feel when you are coming home and indeed it restores you in many different ways.

The restoration systems as part of this cosmic intelligent system and presence enables you to harness the facets of the information and these will be relating to queries you have. They will be relating to sensing you have within you of - perhaps some of you want to have that sense of belonging, of being able to participate in a greater overall mission.

All this is naturally part of your existence and presence as you are in your current physical form and lifestyle.

Even receiving this little bit, as you would say, the little bit of energy and information in these few words, has enabled you to draw in more that you respond to and you will be responding to it as well within your physical locality, your location where your entire consciousness is focused in the lifespan.

It is necessary for you to be fully focused in that lifespan and yet, aware that as you are focused within the body form and your presentation of it, what you are focusing is the higher aspect of the cosmic intelligent field.

You are doing this. You are bringing in that field of energy that you would call enlightenment and it is an expansion of your knowingness.

This is a pattern of presentation of your soul into the current body form which has naturally occurred and is occurring in many different realities, so in one aspect, an aspect of your soul is already carrying out specific patterns of existence, or perhaps you might think of those as missions and likewise, there are the enormous number of other beings also presenting that same information pattern that you are doing. It is a continuation of the expansion of the existence of the cosmic intelligence presence.

There is also the ongoing growth and expansion of vitalizing the area of wherever you are present.

Bringing this back to your current presentation in the body form, you are vitalizing the elements around you and within you. Naturally, the focus that we bring to you to focus upon is the vitalization and activation of the presentation codes that are necessary as you immerse within the field of existence known as the planet that you are aware of, where you are.

Maintain your focus within the presentation of you in this planet and also the system of planets around your central sun, having the awareness of what you do harnessing the cosmic intelligent field in you, as you and through you, through your soul's presence, this is also enabling the presentation of cosmic intelligent vitality system elsewhere where it is needed.

The point of this is that you do not fully comprehend where that vitality of the cosmic intelligent system is needed, because you would be viewing it from your thought pattern of what you know, or perhaps what has been presented to you in some form in the current reality of the civilization. How do you know that is fully correct in terms of the cosmic intelligent process? Therefore, maintaining your process of being vitally present is enabling that same intention of the cosmic vitality to be present where it is needed, without you altering it in any way by thought forms that arise from an intelligent system that you may feel has been compromised over different generational civilizations.

Where you are currently accessing information from, directly from the cosmic intelligent systems, is performing a correctional activity, naturally. Of course, this is naturally needed in your current presentation of the lifeform. There are different energy centres, different layers around your current lifeform that will be responding to the balancing, the activation and the renewing vitality systems of the cosmic field.

This is what this presentation is indicating to you in this current time for you.

This is what you have drawn around you because you are ready for the deeper understanding and receptivity of this prime source of intelligence, so it is informing you in many different ways and this is what we came forward to present around you, assisting you.

Orem out

Lani speaking again. Thank you, Orem. This was very interesting.

Again, he has presented a different and expanded viewpoint of what we know and what some of us may have been thinking about.

It is a very interesting time to harness the vital components of the cosmic intelligent field surrounding us.

I am sure the importance of this will become clearer as we adapt more to the vitality systems.

I sense it making correctional adjustments.

So, this was today's session through the Omega Communications Portal. It is time now for you to bring all this back, fully focused as you, the conscious Being in all aspects of you here on the planet this day. So, enjoy this exploration of self of the cosmic presence.

Make sure again, as I always remind you, to bring your focus fully back into you – the core energy essence of you and this extends from above your head right down to beneath your feet. It is this beautiful vitality of your individual energy field. Enlivened.

Now bring your attention back into location and time. Sense the difference in the time or in what is around you. Thank you. We are all in this beautiful field of light together – creating.

I feel there has been a balancing effect in this session with the vitality taken in. Perhaps you feel that too.

This does end this session now – thank you.
