Earth mission Stabilize. Synchronize

Hello and welcome to this space, into this energy field where we access together, or individually, the energy field that is appropriate for every one of us – the energy that is appropriate for you at whatever time or day or year that you enter into the energy field to access the highest point of energy information that you can handle and receive.

Thank you, and so we begin.

“We are with you. Orem addressing you and gathered with you of course are many of those entities, or life forms, or galactic beings – many of these terms you like to use – but we are similar to you. We are intelligent energy forms and we are here simply to assist you to access more of that deeper field of consciousness that is always available to you.

Many of you are able now to appreciate the steps that you have taken to gather in to receive this type of information and of course you have examined deeply the different pathways of the different experiences you have had. In this space with us you are accessing the higher energy field that Earth is receiving in this experience in your reality.

This has occurred frequently in different time cycles, in the timescape of existence, so you are experiencing this perhaps the first time in your time reality of this life cycle and so it is allowing a deep shift within you because it allows the elimination from you of previous cycles and experiences that had simply allowed the out of synchronization to occur within your energy fields.

We continue to make you aware of this so that you automatically synchronize yourself with the cosmic frequency field. This is what is required, always.

When you are synchronized and you resonate with it all, you experience a shift in the reality around you, in the sense that you might observe previous years in your lifetime and you see the different energy that was around you then and what was unnecessary, what had been simply imposed around you.

When you access this cosmic frequency field from source energy, all of that becomes revealed and it also becomes releasable from you, simply when you realise what has been disturbing you and what is available for you to resonate with in the incoming fields of creation.

You are in an interesting period in the cycle of life experience currently. This is why you have been exploring different aspects of your consciousness and you have set your feet upon the pathways of expanding your consciousness field which of course raises your frequency so that you are resonating with the cosmic intelligent field. This you have experienced – your soul has experienced – in multiple life cycles and in variations of what had been received wherever you were stationed. We call it as if you are stationed. You are stationed on Earth in this current lifetime experience to access the cosmic field of energy and align yourself to It and through that energetic portal you are accessing many of the different concepts and the framework of civilizations to stabilize what had been occurring that was creating an unstable environment around many people – a weakening of their constitutional field.

The constitution of individuals is the constitution of the original pattern of creation – of Source – for the humanoid form for the soul to inhabit and to bring in the energy and information to orient the expanding field of existence on the planetoid into conform with the cosmic frequency pattern.

You might say this was the mission. This was how you came to be presented – you, the soul – to be presented into the life experience and of course you gather many experiences in the life cycle. Many of those are useful as you interpret those from the higher consciousness viewpoint of you.

So, even though we have brought your attention to multiple variations and existences of the soul – remember you that is receiving this information is the important one because you are orienting all of this into the reality where you are presently co-existing with other multiple realities in multiple fields of existence.

You see, as you access the true point of origin of you and the intention for your presence, you are in fact establishing variations of the present existence around you and you are doing that because you are accessing the pure intention of cosmic creation – that cosmic energy field – the intelligence of it that works all around the systems of creation. It works all through the systems of your creation, of your lifeform.

You had and still have the power of re-creation for your lifeform. Many of the concepts presented to you in the reality had been you were the victim of genealogy, inherited codes – whereas in fact you are accessing through your connection to the prime source code, that information you are accessing is changing your lifeform to be restored back to the original concept for the healthy human form without any of the overlaying disturbances.

You will be realizing that this affects not just you individually. There is a ripple effect all around the environment that you coexist within and so what you are delivering into the Earth station environment is the presentation of the cosmic intelligent field. Remember this.

We observe the distractions that can occur to in effect, disconnect you from the prime source of existence.

These sessions remind you of the reconnection you must continue with –the prime cosmic intelligence. It is an effect and it is effective as you allow that to be.

You will be observing and experiencing multiple layers within this presentation to you. Absorb it all and allow it to flow through you and reveal more of what we are presenting to you.

This was the presentation to you in this gathering space.

Orem out“

This is Lani speaking again with you and even though I am simply myself addressing you, there is this field that we are surrounded in of these cosmic intelligent beings.

Continue to acknowledge this field that surrounds you always and bring this back around you physically now. Of course physically you are energy patterns and so the field that you are accessing will be shaping the vital systems of you and you will find that many of the patterns that you feel you have a need for in whatever dimension of reality, these will be drawn to you.

This is the powerful presence that you are, so remember this prime cosmic intelligent being that you are – always connected – and your presence is important. Value yourself. Appreciate yourself and now appreciate your presence wherever you are receiving this and bring your attention fully into your surroundings and the current time. Remember always to do that and it brings you correctly alert to everything that is going on around you, even though the core energy system of your soul remains connected to the entire cosmic aspect of soul.

So, until we gather again, this ends this session through the Omega Communications Portal. Thank you.

Lani
