You choose - create – clarity – reality Essential system tools

Lani speaking with you and drawing you into this space, this Station of Light. Come with me and open your awareness and move into that greater field of your own consciousness and draw in what you need to receive at this time.

We begin this way, easily and simply, stepping out of the environment where you are and stepping into the wide field of consciousness in this Station.

“We are with you. We are known as Orem and the collective consciousness of the Beings here, just as you are an aspect of the collective consciousness.

Many of you have been wanting or expecting great revelations or appearances through the skies perhaps, until you realise that you are the central point of consciousness where you are in the present moment as you measure time and space and dimension.

We draw you into the various elements of the dimensions where you would say there is a convergence of various dimensional aspects of realities and as you enter that space, you realise there is one point of creation and you are expressing that point of creation. You are creating the elements necessary for you to continue to exist as you are in the body form and even as we say that, you are consciously recreating the circumstances of your environment, your physical body environment so that you are able to exist here for what may seem a longer period of time as that which is considered with the current life span.

When you move into correctly align with the consciousness field of that supportive cosmic intelligence, then you are absolutely correcting influences that had been compromising your existence.

Now we have cleared that matter up for you, we will bring you into alignment with the collective consciousness from, you might say, the quantum dimensional field of galactic dimensions.

Indeed, these exist around you also. This is part of what we refer you to as the supportive consciousness field all around you. This is the time, as you call time, to connect solidly into the extra dimensional field of the reality.

You have many avenues of support and you tap into the supporting energy field, or words, or frequency patterns delivered by many other individuals or groups. These should all be supporting you in the way that you resonate with the particular frequency that is your unique frequency pattern known as your soul pattern, your soul existence, existing out of the quantum consciousness field in and as and through your elemental body system.

As we continue bringing the energy field around you and you move into that energy field through your curiosity and through your allowance, then as you realise you have a greater capacity to be expressing the quantum intelligence, then you find the ways to do that. Then you realise that there is a shift in the actual physical dimensional field that you recognize as your body form and your location.

Now you are moving into that precise element of creation, the existence of you, and you will feel an emergence out of a - perhaps likened to a cloud - and you have emerged into the clarity of the system of consciousness, of conscious creativeness. The more that you do this and you allow this to be your operating system and thought patterns, then you will see the reduction around the world civilization of many of the misconceptions and the realities that had been distorted.

You necessarily need to maintain the correct configuration and alignment of your soul pattern.

This is your responsibility. This is your choice and as you do this, you have become a significant presenter yourself of the prime source coding of creation, all through you and around you.

If you view your immediate environment, would you see improvement happening? Would you want to see improvement or change in some way? When we speak about your immediate environment and locality, we could be including your immediate environment that is the entire planet form and its consciousness – its livingness. This is where you exist in this current timeframe, in the configuration of all of it and the coming together of the dimensional messages and the information that comes through the solar portal in you, through you and around you.

This presentation in this conjunction that you have entered and you are participating in, is what is required for you. This is the essential elements, the essential tool kit, this is the essential vitality for the systems that are relative to your systemic functions and the main systems throughout the land where you are functioning.

Remain connected into this higher functioning frequency pattern that is consciousness of the reality and every time you hear of some disturbance or discrepancy in the true reality, you simply envelop it in the cosmic field of creation.

You may need to work with this as this unfolds more of your own reality and you become this.

All matter that had become misconfigured or entangled in your energy field is recognized and you thus are able to eliminate it from you. You simply recognize it and see it clearing away, untangled and cleared away from you the essential creative Being here of the quantum intelligent field existence.

This is all around you and supporting you in this field, in this Station, where you are receiving this.

This is the information that you have drawn through to you in this connection.

As you expand into it to a greater depth, you will be consciously bringing in aspects, fragments of earlier sessions that will be relevant for you now. It is all contained in this presentation. We will continue with this with you, as you continue to present yourself into this Station.

We withdraw now,

*Orem out**

Lani speaking again. This seemed to be a very expanded and very full energy field that we stepped into and we received pockets, or packets, or fields of the information through the words – worlds and words! It is simply the coming together in order, the right order, for you.

Draw it into you, around you. Feel that even as you are receiving this in your physical body, physical location, you are still within your field within this Station of Light, within this state of light energy and information. You are fully present in it.

Again, it is the presentation into it and the presentation of you into the current reality – fully present. So, make sure that this is all around you now as you bring your attention and focus back to where you are, as if you have your feet firmly standing on Earth – whether that is grass or sand or earth or rock – we are talking about the same effect where you receive energy and information through the vibration of the planet itself and there is merging of your quantum consciousness field and the soul pattern right through to the soul energy field that is the Earth consciously existing and present. This is where you are stationed.

Now it is time to acknowledge your presence, acknowledge the pure energy systems of you.

Take in a natural breath and as you let it out, find you are fully present again.

This ends this presentation through the Omega Communications Portal and the Station of Light – your station of light – and you are fully present within it.

Thank you. Until we gather again, this ends this session. I feel it has presented some significant relevant information to everyone of us who is receiving this session. It is wonderful.
