Quantum system. Process of Expansion

Hello. Lani with you again, guiding you into the connection we have in this space. A connection where we simply allow ourselves to shift out of the locality where you are receiving this and you move into the expanded field - the quantum field of energy and information and cosmic intelligence.

So together as a group we enter that space and it is named the Station of Light in simple terms so that we understand it has a higher frequency and it is in a position to allow us to receive that higher frequency as if it is transformed into an energy pattern that we can very easily absorb. This is what it is all about and the energy frequency brings forward Beings or intelligent systems to assist us all and awaken us to our true memories and true self. So, let's begin today this way.

"Indeed, we come forth and assist you to immerse yourself in the energy pattern here.

I am speaking as Orem and I am facilitating this session again for you to reconnect yourself in every way. We have been connecting you, each time you tune into these sessions, into the greater quantum field and we have been calling this the quantum intelligence field. It is a very coherent, creative, energy system.

The system is quantum.

The system is all around you because you are in the quantum field. If you could imagine you are one Being within a vast quantum dimensional existence, then you would see you are in contact with everything that you would be needing in your placement where you have chosen to be or allowed yourself to be. Whatever the circumstances physically are, you are quantumly connected into the vast energy matrix of consciousness.

It is from this field that you draw all your supportive energy systems and there are many of these supportive energy systems in the many different ways that you would need to support your livingness.

As well as this, from the reference point within this Station with us, you are able to observe shifts and changes occurring around the planetary lifeform and within the sphere of its lifeform existence, just as you can observe yourself at times and other people can observe your life energy systems and the field of energy surrounding you.

It is an energetic aware conscious field and it moves and makes adjustments and it receives energy from a higher source pattern, always. That is the process of evolution. It is the process of expansion and thus we bring this to you in this way through words.

Through the words you will be accessing images and a greater depth of the information simply because, remember you are within the centre of your creative consciousness field. It is quantum. It is a continuation of everything that you have ever been and ever will be.

In expanding your conscious field you access deeper realisations and in turn, as part of that, there is the change in frequency patterns.

You may consider your life has been inserted into a pattern of energy field and you have been continuing to sort out those patterns. Some of those patterns of course were family. Some of them were part of the land mass where you are. Some of them were simply the civilization until you unassemble those and untangle those, then you realise the quantumness that you are and you are able to access the clearer energy field.

Bringing this to you in this way, you are experiencing – perhaps you will be experiencing a relaxation of something you have been holding onto quite unnecessarily but unconsciously because of the situations that were surrounding you at different stages in your lifespan.

Simply put – it again is untangling what had been constricting you and you had been holding onto something, to some way, to some belief system perhaps and you realise as you step into this quantumness, all of those limitations are part of what has led you into receiving this aspect of your expanded consciousness field.

It is all about you. From this now Station that you have entered and you are also facilitating an expansion of part of that – that part of which you identify as where you enter – so in this expanded field now you are able to expand a clearness through your consciousness field, part of the quantum consciousness communication field – you can expand that and encompass your life style and your countryside and the entire planet form.

You are encompassing it from the quantum field of creative consciousness from its original pattern and intention and indeed there always was, is, and has been the pattern of creation expanding, expanding, expanding.

You have been expanding your life from your point of awareness at every stage or every experience of your life, seeking improvement in some way and improvement is expansion because you are harnessing concepts that can be easily be put in place because you have the potential to do that. The potential is from your ability to access the quantum supportive field of creation. This is what you are doing in this assembly.

You may be experiencing aspects of you existing in a more enlightened, a more community functioning system, a very clear system of existence and if you are sensing that, allow yourself to be refreshed and refueled with that energy and so you will bring this into where you are currently existing as you in this body lifeform. It is another way of accessing that expanded consciousness field of you. It is always accessible when you choose to access the highest potential of your existence as a Being of quantum intelligence.

This is what you drew in from this field of presentation where you are immersed within the field.

This is what you have and this was our presentation to you.

*Orem out

This is Lani speaking again and as I observed and was aware of the energy being presented, I am with you absorbing it all in the way that we are able to in the assembly here.

I have this lovely vision of us all glowing with the cosmic energy field, with light, and then we go our each individual way wherever we return to within the planet's biosphere or maybe elsewhere. Perhaps some of you have been drawn in from a different planetary lifeform, drawn in through the threads of the quantum intelligent system and it drew you in to be within this session that we have been experiencing.

I acknowledge those of you who have come from a different planetary lifeform and existence. We all share in the cosmic intelligent system.

Now as we individually return to our home base, our home station, whether that is permanent or temporary and, in a way, everything is temporary where we are, then allow yourself to feel the difference that has occurred from you receiving the light, energy and information.

Breathe it into you and be fully consciously present within and around your body lifeform again, and remember the energy you have accessed in this session is applicable to every aspect of you, to everything that you think about as your current life.

This is the way you are changing you. This is your expansion of consciousness with the quantum intelligence field.

Thank you for receiving this and sharing it, in whatever way you do.

This ends this presentation through the Omega Communications Portal. Than you.
